Filene's Praises City's Fire Dept.

Newton's efficient firefighters received a fine commendation for their work in a two-alarm fire at Filene's Chestnut Hill store in a letter sent to Fire Chief Frederick A. Perkins, Jr., by Manager Robert F. Mahoney of the store.

"We at Filene's, Chestnut Hill," read the letter, "want to express our appreciation for the fine efficient service we received Dec. 10 from you and your department."

"We were particularly appreciative for the speed in response and the care of our property and for your department's recognition of the importance of making a fast cleanup in order to allow us to get back to our Christmas operation."

Three Hurt in Newton Centre Triple Crash

When the brakes of a truck operated by Philip J. McHugh, Jr., of 98 Colburn street, Westwood, failed, according to police, at a red light at Boylston street and Dudley road, Newton Centre, three persons suffered injuries which sent them to the hospital.

The truck, police said, crashed into two passenger cars.

Maneuver on Sales Tax Issue Puzzles Political Observers

Beacon Hill observers, who are accustomed to fitting the pieces of political puzzle together, have come up with the conclusion that Governor Foster Furcolo gave his assent to the action of a group of Democratic House members who urged him not to sponsor a sales tax bill again in 1958.

The State House onlookers, to whom strange and involved maneuvers are an old story, are convinced that if the Governor didn't actually encourage the move by Democratic legislators, he certainly did not discourage it or make any attempt to stop it.

What does baffle the pundits at the State House is the strategy behind the anti-sales tax move.

These are the facts which the political experts find a bit bewildering.

Store Operating Half Hour After $5000 Fire; Smoke Ejectors Do Trick Nicely

Within half an hour after fire had caused $5000 damage, forced 75 employees and customers to the street and brought injury to one firefighter, business was resumed in most of the area of Barron's Department store at 999 Watertown street, West Newton.

Credit for the quick comeback after a fire which might have immobilized the store for days goes to new smoke ejectors of the fire department. The ejectors can clear 500 cubic feet of air per minute.

Police are seeking two teenage boys, wearing leather jackets, who were seen in the vicinity shortly before the fire was discovered. They appeared to be acting furtively.

Mrs. Janet Zeitman of 15 Wallace street, Newton Highlands, a clerk, discovered the blaze in a storage space in the rear. While an alarm was being sounded, employees sought to hold the flames in check with fire extinguishers but soon after the arrival of the first apparatus the fire had reached a stairwell.

Hospitalized was Firefighter James E. Gallagher, 29, of 6 Lincoln park, West Newton, driver for Assistant Chief John L. Martin. He was taken to Newton-Wellesley Hospital for a finger cut.

At the request of Fire Chief Frederick A. Perkins, Jr., State Police Lieutenants Jeremiah Sullivan and John Meade were assigned to the investigation of the fire and to ascertain its cause.

Captain-Lieutenant Candidates Of Police Dept. All Pass Tests

All four lieutenants of the Newton police department taking examinations for promotion to captain, as well as all nine sergeants who took the Civil Service tests for advancement to the grade of lieutenant have passed.

Results of the examinations which were held on Oct. 26, were announced by the Civil Service Commission. The candidates have two weeks from Dec. 20 to appeal the scores they made in the tests. Then the Civil Service Commission will have until April 26 to establish a list in order of eligibility.

There is one vacancy at present for captain. This was created by the retirement of Captain Daniel Crowley. There is a single lieutenant vacancy open because of the death of Lieutenant John H. Sheridan.

When a lieutenant is promoted...

Whitmore Outlines Plans, Reports on Achievements In His Inaugural Address

An increase in Newton's tax rate is probably inevitable this year, Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., indicated yesterday in an inaugural address which highlighted the ceremonies held in the Aldermanic Chamber at City Hall as he started his third term as the Garden City's chief executive.

The Mayor in his New Year's Day speech reviewed the progress made by his administration during the past two years and discussed some of his problems and his aims in the two years which lie ahead.

He made no forecast as to what the city's 1958 tax rate is likely to be and explained, in answer to questions following his address, that there are too many unknown factors which will play a part in determining it to hazard even a guess.

But he said in effect that if the municipal government is to maintain the city's property up to the accepted standards, the expense involved is certain to be a heavy one.

Launch Probe of Fire At Auburndale Church

An investigation was underway this week to ascertain the cause of a fire of mysterious origin which caused damage estimated at $2500 to the 94-year-old Centenary Methodist Church in Auburndale.

The probe by the State Fire Marshal's office to determine the cause of the blaze was requested by Fire Chief Frederick A. Perkins, Jr.

Religious services as well as Sunday School were held in the church on Sunday, the day following the fire. The only damage to the main part of the church was caused by smoke.

Firefighters were able to confine the blaze to a one-room wing of the church which is used by the Rev. Sydney Adams, pastor, as a study and for the storage of church equipment, garments and music.

When Chief Perkins was unable to find any apparent natural cause for the blaze, he sought the investigation by the State Fire Marshal's office.

Freshmen Aldermen Used Varied Campaign Methods

(This is the second in a series of articles on the seven new members of the Board of Aldermen.)

By PHYLLIS NEWTON

Victor in the biggest upset of the local picture was Joseph G. Bradley who edged out incumbent Adelaide Ball in Ward 1 to become the third Democrat on the Board.

Young and personable, Bradley was a political novice who had never run for public office but waged a careful campaign over a period of a year masterminded by William Fagan of Jackson St., Newton Corner.

A graduate of Our Lady's High School and a life-long resident of his ward, Bradley worked as a meat-cutter for the A & P in Newton and made a great many friends in his own bailiwick.

"Winning was the greatest thrill I ever had," said Bradley, "I had been disturbed for a long time by indifference to local politics and feel that people should take as much interest in their temporal leaders as they do in their spiritual."

The Personal Touch Working on the principle that "no one should run unopposed," Bradley and his backers built up an organization of young people almost a year prior to the election.

They did no mailing but personally distributed a brochure to nearly every house in the ward. This system gave them an opportunity to converse with the residents on many occasions.

Two Visits By Cigar-Stealing Looter Enough!

The Frank I. Roses of 39 Rowena road, Newton Centre, are hoping one man will start the New Year right by resolving to break a very bad habit he seems to have acquired.

Within the holiday period, a burglar twice broke into the Rose home. The first entry was gained by forcing a cellar door; the second through a cellar window.

The burglar's loot consisted of cigars and liquor.

15-Day European Tour for Beacon Plastics Workers

When it struck midnight Dec. 31 in Paris—and of Páree extended its greetings to the year 1958—50 folks from hereabouts joined Parisians in saying "Hello" to the brand new baby.

Most of 50 men and women never expected they'd be in Paris on New Year's Eve. However, lots of things can happen in a 12-month span, especially if you have a boss like Joseph L. Sholkin, head of the Beacon Plastics Company of Newton.

Beacon Plastics had a good year in 1957—in fact an excellent year. And when the Christmas-New Year holidays started drawing nigh on the calendar, Mr. Sholkin began deliberating what he'd give his employees for a bonus.

He's an imaginative man. He's the kind that will shop for days trying to find the just-right gift.

As he pondered the nature of bonus he rejected a lot of ideas. Then the idea struck him out of a clear sky. He decided that travel is always a nice gift. Accordingly, he came up with the idea of giving 50 of his employees and clients a little 15-day trip abroad.

It took a few days to work out the details.

New Dedham Bank to Hold "Open House" Next Friday

Officers and directors of the Dedham Trust Company announced today that Dedham's new independent commercial bank will hold "open house" in its handsomely furnished quarters at 567 High street, in Dedham Square, from 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Friday of next week (Jan. 10).

The bank will be officially open for business on Monday morning, Jan. 13.

Latest officer to be appointed to a full-time position in the new Dedham bank is Donald E. Mayberry, Jr., of Newton, son of Judge Donald E. Mayberry.

Whitmore reported. He said that program got underway slowly in 1955, picked up speed in 1956 and was tremendously accelerated during the past year. This program, he said, is practically completed except for a few streets to be reconstructed and where the installation of improved lighting facilities was delayed for that reason.

The Mayor reviewed the conditions which have been made or are to be made to the city's public school system.

He said that site development has been started on the new $4,000,000 Newton South High School which is scheduled to be ready for occupancy by September, 1960.

Plans have been completed for the replacement of the Rice, Mason School and bids will be opened this month for a six-room addition to the Country-side School, the Mayor declared.

An addition is being made to the Hamilton School, and in the past two years additions were made to the Ward School and Cabot School and the new Meadowbrook Junior High School was erected. He said that several new school additions are contemplated in the next two years.

Studies have been made for the introduction of a new budget form, and a reclassification and salary plan for city employees was put into effect in 1956, the Mayor said. The first full year of operation of the city's purchasing department was 1956, he reported, adding that the centralization of all municipal purchases in one department made possible savings of $50,000 a year for Newton taxpayers.

Mayor Whitmore dwelt at some length in his address on the long-range planning study which has been started and its importance to the future of the city. He said that the development of a permanent long-range plan is vital and revealed that he will recommend that the city's present contract with the planners be extended.

A study of traffic and highway safety problems is nearing completion, Mayor Whitmore told his audience. On the basis of the results of that study new traffic lights are being installed at four locations, and further changes will be made in traffic rules and regulations, he declared.

Because of the necessity for undertaking more important projects, sidewalks in some parts of Newton have been neglected, the Mayor asserted. He went on to recommend a broad and far-reaching program for the improvement of sidewalks in the city and for the installation of curbs on all streets which do not have them at the present time.

He announced that he will continue to appraise the effect of the proposed MTA rapid transit extension into Newton upon the area in which it will be located and the problems resulting from the extension. In order to keep down the city's debt, thought must be given to financing the construction of more streets out of current taxes rather than loans, the Mayor stated.

One of the problems confronting the city is that of assisting its elderly citizens, Mayor Whitmore declared. He said he has appointed a committee to study the problem of helping people of advanced years.

A bipartisan committee of both Democrats and Republicans also has been appointed to study the advisability of substituting a new Election Commission for the Board of Registrars, the Mayor divulged.

Newton has been tackling its parking problem in a vigorous manner, Mayor Whitmore reported. He said new parking areas have been created in Newton Highlands, Nonantum and Auburndale, an addition made to the one in Newtonville, plans have been started for an additional parking area in Nonantum and the parking lot at Commonwealth avenue and Lexington street is to be redesigned and modernized.

A new library in Nonantum will be opened, and an addition to the Newton Highlands library is under construction, the Mayor asserted.

For the third successive inauguration Superior Court Justice Paul G. Kirk of Newton administered the oath of office to Mayor Whitmore, and the Mayor, in turn, swore in the members of the Board of Aldermen and School Committee.

Yesterday also marked the start of service by the increased Aldermanic and School Boards. There are now 23 Aldermen instead of 21 as in the past and eight School Committee members instead of seven.

He has been elected to serve as assistant treasurer.

A team of experienced bank officers and employees previously had been named to serve the new banking institution in a full-time capacity.

They are Gardner A. Whitney, president; Edward W. Robinson, treasurer; Arthur J. Lyons, chief clerk; Stephen A. Gillis, head teller; Elaine D. George, teller; Joan F. Benjamin, bookkeeper; and William J. Kelleher, guard and custodian.

Other officers of the bank are Andrew G. Geishecker, first vice president; Robert P. Greaves, second vice president; and Francis A. Hunt, clerk.

Mr. Mayberry, newly named assistant treasurer, is a graduate of Newton High School, Worcester Academy and Boston University.

Following his graduation from Boston University, he was engaged as a field representative for the General Motors Acceptance Corp., during which time he gained wide credit and loan experience.

Since June, 1955, Mr. Mayberry has been associated with the Pilgrim Trust Co. of Boston. His experience there was varied, including check telling, auditing, assignment accounts and the discount department. He is a member of the Boston Chapter of the American Institute of Banking and the Bank Officers' Association of Boston. He is a member of the U. S. Naval Reserve.

Directors of the new bank represent a complete cross section of the residents in the area the institution will serve.

They are Andrew G. Geishecker, Francis A. Hunt, Robert P. Greaves, Harold J. Carney, Roger B. Conant, Jr., Fred W. Rust, Jr., Dr. Frank W. Musche, James J. Riley, Stephen Paine, Dr. Harrison B. Siegle, Clement J. Monahan, Dr. Henry M. Putnam, Gardner A. Whitney, Dr. John J. Morley, Hugh J. Cannon, Dr. Francis J. Moran, Rocco J. Vitelli, M. Greely Summers, Jr., and Arthur L. Lee.

Vernon B. Hitchins, well known in Dedham civic and town affairs and vice president and trust officer of the Second Bank State Street Trust Co., is consultant to the bank's officers and directors.

Authorization for the opening of the new Dedham bank was granted last Aug. 26 by the State Board of Bank Incorporation which ruled that "public convenience and necessity would be better served" by the establishment of this independent bank in Dedham.

The bank was organized and is to be operated by businessmen, professional people and residents of the area it will serve. They have moved swiftly toward the opening of a bank which will render all types of personalized banking services.

A Boston architectural firm specializing in bank buildings, Thomas M. James & Co., and a leading bank construction firm, the Dwan Construction Co., were engaged to remodel and renovate the quarters which had been under a long-time lease since early in June.

One feature of the "open house" to be held at the bank on Friday of next week will be the serving of tea and crumpets to all visitors by the wives of the directors. They also will act as official hostesses in the conducted tours of the bank.

An announcement will be made in next week's issue of the various banking services which will be inaugurated by the Dedham Trust Co. for the public convenience.

Pease Retires From Sun Oil

Edward J. Pease of 276 Franklin street, Newton, has announced his retirement as a special representative for the Sun Oil Company, after 35 years with that firm.

Pease was New England Public Relations manager for the company and had been with the Massachusetts Oil Information Committee for 18 years, having held the position of State chairman and Speakers' Bureau Head.

During his 35 years with the oil firm he filled positions of salesman, branch salesman, district sales manager, and New England Division sales manager. Pease expects to continue in the public relations field.

Methods--

sions, which they felt was valuable.

They conducted no telephone campaign, but concentrated on the personal touch in the neighborhoods where they thought they could win. Over twenty house parties were held with ten to 25 people attending.

Bradley appeared at the LWV candidate's meeting and before the Civic Association, but did not win their endorsement. He said, however, that he welcomed this chance to speak before interested voters.

Just Squeaked By
Bradley won by a slim 80 votes out of 2332 cast. After staying up until 5:30 a.m. to verify the results, he feels strongly that Newton should gradually install voting machines.

As an alderman, he will work for improved fringe benefits for city employees. "Police and firemen are not adequately paid for the risks their work involves," Bradley stated, "and I am also anxious to see Newton get started on some housing for the aged."

Currently employed as a salesman for the Welch Candy Co., Bradley is the father of four youngsters, including twins born the day he announced his candidacy.

A Closer Shave
In Ward II, tremendous interest was engendered by the battle for an at-large seat between Winslow Auryansen and Alfred Guzzi, a former alderman and city employee. A recount gave Auryansen the job by the slender margin of 49 votes out of some 8000 cast.

Another lifelong Newtonite, Auryansen lives in the house where he was born at 27 Jenison street, Newtonville. With a long record of civic service to offer, he had no formal campaign organization. His wife handed out most of the work, which included a selective mailing to about 750 community leaders throughout the city.

Recount Revealing
He had no objections to the brief speaking time at the League and Civic meetings, but in the latter case felt that some of the endorsements presented extremely knotty problems.

After his experience with the recount, Auryansen pointed out that a good many ballots were voided because voters marked their X on a line or otherwise made their intentions incomprehensible.

"Education is needed," he said, "to teach voters how to do their job correctly. Few enough vote as it is, but to be forced to invalidate the ballots of some who take the trouble is discouraging."

By far the most musical member of the new Board, Auryansen has sung with the celebrated Highland Glee Club since 1937, but plans to give it up as rehearsals and aldermanic meeting fall on the same night.

Made No Effort

William J. Robinson, who rolled up close to 10,000 votes to win the other Ward 2 vacancy, states he was elected without lifting hand or voice in his own behalf. "I didn't ask one person to vote for me" he avers, "and didn't campaign even in my own home."

A Newton native, Robinson has long been active in Republican circles here and is currently president of the Newton Republican Club. He twice managed Lawrence Curtis' Congressional campaign.

Stricken with the flu early in the campaign, he attended no parties, did no mailing, no telephoning, no doorbell ringing, but said that others worked for his nomination and election.

Lots of Friends

Along with other city-wide winners, Melvin Dangel in Ward 3 used the selective mailing approach... letters to key people he knew, asking for support or endorsement.

This technique was found effective in the case of candidates like Dangel who have an impressive city-wide acquaintance through their leadership in PTA Council and other groups.

"We had a campaign manager in each ward," says Dangel, "with Ward 3 receiving particular attention. Some telephoning was done, but mostly by friends and not in any organized way."

No effort was made to plan house parties, but Dangel was invited to and attended about eight of them, meeting anywhere from 12 to 35 people at a time.

Parties Valuable?

There was some doubt in the successful candidates' minds of the value of the house party. Generally the people who go to them are not the people who should go, and are already well-informed and perhaps even committed. Except for the opportunity of recruiting campaign workers, the worth of small house parties was considered dubious.

Dangel, who rolled up 10,100 votes to 5,526 for Nelson M. Silk Jr., felt his background might best qualify him to serve on the public buildings committee of the board, but would be interested in all facets of the Board's operations.

The spray technique of selective mailing was also used successfully by Franklin Flaschner in his first bid for public office. The 36-year old attorney had lived in Oak Hill Park since 1949 (when it was Ward 5), but moved to Waban prior to his bid for the Ward 5 at-large post. He polled 8,757 votes to Newcomb's 7,066.

Enthusiastic Support

Enclosed in the personal letters he wrote to 150 civic leaders he knew was a return post card asking them to indicate whether or not they would endorse him or aid in his campaign. He received a remarkable return of practically all of these cards.

In addition, supporters distributed or mailed 6,000 campaign cards signed by themselves. There was no telephoning or doorbell ringing, but Flaschner appeared at the six house parties to which he was asked, meeting a great many people he already knew, he reports.

Flaschner made out well with the Civic Association, winning a bullet endorsement although there were two vacancies. He has expressed concern over the possibility that Newton's present government has too many at-large aldermen as compared with ward representation.

"The public needs a lot of education on the fact that the entire city votes for at-large candidates, and also better methods for voters all over the city to become acquainted with these people," he commented.

Flaschner feels the pressure of urbanization is the chief problem facing Newton and as a Board member will work for the professional redevelopment and renewal programs intended to maintain the reputation of the Garden City.

(A third article on the victors in the aldermanic race in Ward 8 will appear next week.)

$20-PLUS PER DAY

Whatever the outcome of the current controversy over the so-called hospital "initial service" or "entry fee" charge may be, the decision of the courts isn't going to settle much more than a temporary dispute.

The bald fact of the matter is that the voluntary, non-profit hospital today finds with the passing of every year that more and more difficulties arise to prevent it from making financial ends meet.

The hospitals need more income.

Gifts and endowments; contributions and charges for services all added together don't complete the financial package the voluntary, non-profit hospital must receive if it is to keep its services at a high plane and meet the obligations it must assume.

Years ago hospitals existed on a less lavish scale than they do today. For most people hospitals represented a place to go only in event of severe accidents or in extreme illness. Because of that their mortality rates were high.

Babies were born at home. And the infant mortality rate was high because medicine had not yet learned all it was to know about pre-natal care and childbirth.

Few babies today are born outside of hospitals.

Men and women became patients in hospitals to a far greater degree than in the old days because the hospitals, in their never-ending efforts to keep pace with the tremendous 20th Century developments in the field of medical science, have found that they can administer to illness and disease far more efficiently than a half century ago.

And because hospitals exist men and women today are walking the streets, serving mankind well—many of whom would have succumbed years ago, except for the improved medical care. Today, our life expectancy is years longer than it was less than a score of years ago. The part that the hospital—particularly the non-profit, voluntary hospital—has played in that development is tremendous.

Hospital costs are heavy. Today's nurse, to cite a single example and reason for hospital costs, is as hard-working as her sister of another era. But she brings to the bedside a far better training, a far deeper knowledge of her work.

She cannot and should not be compelled to sacrifice her right to compensation somewhere within reason. Perhaps, many years will go by before that compensation will ever begin to approach the norm she deserves.

One of the developments of medicine in recent years has been the advances made in scientific equipment. And scientific equipment today is costly. To fill its duty to its patient, the hospital must have the equipment.

It is easy to say that $20-plus per day is far too much to pay for hospitalization.

Yet, what hotel could serve its guest three meals a day, attend to his every need from the time he awakes in the morning until he goes to sleep at night and even through those sleeping hours—for $20-plus per day?

The answer is none.

Some folks seem to think that the controversy precipitated by Francis X. Lang of the State Department of Administration and Finance is unfortunate.

In many ways it is.

Yet, if it serves to focus attention on the financial needs of the voluntary, non-profit hospital; if it serves to awaken public opinion and interest in the need for solving those most important problems of finances—it will have served a good purpose.

Political Overtones

In the contingent and apparently its leader was John F. Thompson of Ludlow who has succeeded Michael F. Skerry as Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Thompson is a close personal and political friend of Governor Furcolo. The Governor appointed Skerry as clerk of the Malden district court, not as a reward for Skerry but to clear the way for the elevation of Thompson to the Speakership.

It was Thompson who led the fight for the sales tax on the floor of the House during the last legislative session, and he made so strong a fight for it that he had to achieve a fairly high degree of political inconsistency in order to go on record as requesting the Governor not to advocate a sales tax again this year.

Aside from all that, Thompson is so devoted a supporter of Furcolo that he would not be a party to any action which would cause even the slightest embarrassment for the Governor.

You may be certain that Thompson consulted with the head of his party before he allowed the Democratic House members to go ahead with the adoption of their resolution.

And the fact that Thompson allowed his name to be identified with the appeal to the Governor to abandon the fight for a sales tax was a clear tipoff that the action had Mr. Furcolo's tacit consent and approval.

Had Governor Furcolo been even mildly opposed to the idea, Thompson would have had nothing to do with the movement and would have dissuaded other Furcolo supporters in the House to stand apart from it.

While it seems very plain that the Governor was quite willing to have the Democratic House members go on record as opposing a sales tax, it is not so easy to find the explanation for that attitude.

Was it because he does not want to make another sales tax fight in an election year and that the stand of the House Democrats would give him a reason for dropping it?

Or could it be that he does intend to wage another sales tax battle and is not opposed to letting it be known that he has the courage to go contrary to the majority sentiment in his own party?

It's not easy to provide the answer to those questions, but the first supposition is more logical than the second because the Democratic legislators, having gone on record as urging the Governor not to sponsor a sales tax, would find it a little more difficult to vote for such a tax if he disregards their plea.

Events during the past 12 months have shown that it is rather risky to attempt to forecast what Governor Furcolo will or will not do. He has done the unexpected almost as often as the expected.

Observers at the State House would not be surprised if the Governor were to back away from the sales tax issue, as he looks ahead to the campaign he will wage for reelection; neither, however, would they swoon with astonishment if he were to come out flatly for a sales tax in his budget message two weeks hence.

And the action of the Democratic House members, some of whom voted for a sales tax in 1957, in urging the Governor not to advance the proposition again in 1958, is the subject of very lively political conjecture.

State Senate Seen as Problem For Furcolo in 1958 Session

Governor Furcolo's supporters anticipate that he will have more success in getting his program through the Legislature in 1958 than he did in 1957.

That probably will be true as far as the Democratic-controlled House of Representatives is concerned. It is almost certain that the Governor will have a markedly improved relationship with the Democratic leadership in that body.

During the last legislative session Governor Furcolo worked principally through Representative Thompson, who was then the Democratic floor leader, and often bypassed Speaker Skerry. It was obvious on numerous occasions that a definite coolness existed between Furcolo and Skerry.

In the legislative session now starting the Governor will have his own man in the Speakership. That will be a tremendous advantage. It should assure a much smoother road in the House for Governor Furcolo's pet ideas.

But the Republican-dominated State Senate may prove to be the political graveyard for many more Furcolo bills than was the case in the past year.

Ordinarily, a Democratic Governor has much better success with a Republican Senate during his first year in office than in his second—an election year.

It usually is easier in a so-called off-year to make political trades with two or three opposition party Solons for their votes in return for favors.

In an election year the same Senators are more likely to stay closer to the straight party line and less apt to wander off the reservation. There are occasional exceptions, of course. But as the shadow of the coming election looms bigger, the Solons are not disposed to do anything which would jeopardize their own prospects of achieving renomination and reelection.

So while Governor Furcolo unquestionably has strengthened his working relationship with the House, the Senate is likely to loom as a more troublesome problem in 1958 than it was in 1957.

Group Seeking Pension Curbs Performed Big Political Feat

If one were to try to pick the outstanding political feat of the past year, very serious consideration would have to be given to the accomplishment of a comparatively small group of men and women who obtained nearly 100,000 signatures of registered voters as the first step toward placing the disability pension issue on the ballot in next November's State election.

Republican State Senator Philip A. Graham of Hamilton was the leading force behind that movement. He enrolled the help of a number of sincere people who went out and worked to correct what Graham terms "an abuse in government." In effect, Graham was broadening a fight he had waged in the Legislature for four years.

Their ranks were not large, and they had comparatively little money to spend. But they succeeded in doing a job which many of the professional politicians did not believe possible.

Senator Graham now will force the issue in the Legislature on a bill which would place a ceiling on the income of persons who have retired from the State, city or town government on disability pensions.

If his bill is not enacted into law, he then will utilize the signatures which have been gathered to place the question on the November ballot as a "people's petition."

What Graham's bill would do is provide that the combined pension payments and the earnings of a person retired because of disability could not exceed the maximum salary of the public position from which he retired.

In the event that the total income of such a person exceeded the limit allowed, his pension would be trimmed down.

A law applying that provision to persons retired because of disability in the future was enacted at the last legislative session. Graham now is seeking to broaden the law to cover those already retired.

That may be the subject of one of the most bitter fights waged in the Legislature this year.

Can't Get Apartment

Editor, Newton Graphic

How does one pick the conscience of the people? Here we have a Junior High teacher who is an honor graduate of Newton High School and who wants to marry but who can't find in the whole city of Newton anyone who will rent him an apartment. Who are these good people of Newton who recognize a devoted teacher and yet will not let him live among them. Are we any less segregated in Newton than in Little Rock?

Praises Lang's Stand

Editor, Newton Graphic

Commissioner of Administration Francis X. Lang should be praised and commended for his excellent and truly righteous stand on behalf of all Blue Cross - Blue Shield subscribers.

This admission or initial charge of $15 is unduly called for. It is a burdensome charge to the people who can't afford to pay it.

These same people now find their hospital and medical bills going higher and higher—with ever increasing subscription rates—due to higher and excessive hospital charges for service.

It is now about time that someone in authority took the bull by the horns and cracked down on this monopolistic tendency of some hospitals to charge their patients what ever the traffic will bear. This bright idea to make more money at the expense of the sick, the bed-ridden, the infirm, the poor and the aged, together with those of small financial means, is without a question of doubt, uncalled for, especially to all those who can ill-afford this entrance fee and who find it hard enough to pay their present subscription rates for Blue Cross - Blue Shield.

Undoubtedly, with more excuses they would soon double or triple the present fee with no limits involved, and all at the expense of the sick, poor and unfortunate patients.

So let us put a stop to this practice now, before it's too late.

Let us get it out into the open, into the light of public scrutiny, and then in all justice do something about it.

Sincerely yours,

Edward F. Durkin

Cites Furcolo Reprieve

Editor, Newton Graphic:

I have been interested in reading the discussions in the newspapers about Governor Furcolo's outstanding accomplishment during 1957.

His accomplishment which I would nominate for that honor and distinction would be his commutation of the death sentences imposed on Domenico Bonomi for the murder of his wife and the Lovering killers who shot down a man in his own home.

Under the new standards fixed by Governor Furcolo, a man does not go to the electric chair for murdering his wife or for shooting down another person in cold blood. To my mind that was the really big contribution Governor Furcolo made during 1957 to the well-being of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

The Body Wave is a form of permanent waving used on hair that either has a little natural wave or hair that waves easily. It does not add appreciably to the amount of wave already in the hair, but gives such strength and resiliency to the wave as to make the hair seem naturally wavy and remarkably easy to put up. It is far hair to which the ordinary permanent wave (however soft) gives too much curl. It is not generally advisable for straight hair.

Headlights and Highlights From Newton High School

By JUDY ARNOLD

HIGHLIGHTS . . . The Newton High Legislature, headed by Doc Zolli, is the actual voice of all the students. Through this organization, each pupil has the right to state his opinion. The Legislature initiates and votes upon legislation to be considered by the Associates Council, which heads the entire student government. The members of the Legislature are elected from each home-room: one from each sophomore and junior home-room and two from the senior home-rooms. The officers of the legislature are the officers of the Associates also. These officers are Doc Zolli, president; David Louis, boys' vice-president; Penny Doswell, girls' vice-president; Barbara Bruce, clerk; and Ricky Adams, treasurer.

The legislature representatives are Sally Quinn, Pat Ransom, Al Rosenberg, Sue Rothstein, Sue Sholkin, Sam Senior, Lucille Tedeschi, Elaine Steinhilber, Bruce Swerling, Bethel Bilizekian, Richard Van Dam, Stephanie Van Vloten, Joe Zophin, Margaret Zoter, Judy Arnold, Robert Barter, Joanne Berest, Katy Carleton, Carol Chandler, Tony Summers, Mark Walsh, Judy Winegrad, Barbara Susan, Robert Heckman, Joan Kornfield, Henrietta Lebow, David Kent, Tony Lavelly, Alan Levitan, Diane Costa, Neil Driscoll, Vera Diluzio, Nancy Fenton, Gerry Gittel, Priscilla Galvin, Paula Gorenstein, Matthew Herman, Minna Horovitz, Chris Lee, Liz Lubell, Sue McKee, Bob Marchese, Janice Morrison, David Mofenson, William O'Donnell, Fredlee Podolsky, Donna Richmond, Larry Rittenberg, Paul Rooner, Fred Santucci, Sam Segler, Ronnie Simblist, Margie Slotnick, Sandy Swanson, Richard Todrin, George Wallace, Pam Wilson, Doris Axelrod, Philip Barry, Nancy Blache, Marcia Boyd, Margie Caselman, Edith Cohen, Donna DeMarce, Phyllis Andler, Marty Beckwith, Gloria Berk, Arlene Bialsky, Stephen Butter, Elaine DeMeo, Seta Der Hohannesian, Dorothy Feldman, Joanne Foley, Jimmy Draper, Judy Goldstein, Cathy Gladstone, Anne Holmes, Cathy Harper, Ellen Kahn, Pamela Hoyt, Judy Kleinburg, Phillip Johnson, Jim'y Leonard, Diane Marquis, Priscilla Newell, Dick McCarthy, Peter Myerson, Mike Schreatter, Martha Draper, Alan Copeland, Terry Dangel, Patricia Gath, Vinny Farina, David Fitts, Robert Gatti, Selby Hickey, Judy Magner, Amy McAuliffe, Susan Morris, Ivy Nesson, Elaine Paul, Nancy Preston, Fred Posner, Linda Rubin, Bernard Robinson.

With exclamations of "She sounds like a wonderful girl," and "He seems very all around," the members of the Canadian and Washington Exchanges received the names, hobbies, and interests of their exchange partners. Letters will soon be sent to these partners.

The purpose of the Exchange is to extend the classroom beyond building walls and to integrate school and home activities. It also correlates school and community programs, encourages potential community leaders, and gives the participating pupils an opportunity to apply to community life what they have learned in the home and the school. The Exchange meetings are held each Wednesday afternoon, with additional meetings necessary. Some activities are planned for weekends and school holidays. The climax of the plan, of course, is the week's visit to another community. To prepare for this, the students study about Newton in comparison with the community they are planning to visit, in subjects such as the schools, churches, civic institutions and procedures, recreational facilities, local and regional government, and geographical features.

AFTER-CLASS . . . A Christmas meeting was recently held of all the girls who work in the various building offices as assistants to the secretaries, receptionists and other office workers. During their study periods, these students help with daily attendance, messages, filing, and general office work. Head of this group of girls are Judy Klein, president; Marty Shapiro, vice-president; Harriet Stetson, secretary; and Debby Emerson, treasurer.

Oak Hill Park Assn. Provided Yule Tree

A 10-foot Christmas tree which has brightened the Oak Hill Park Shopping center was purchased and decorated by the Oak Hill Park Association, Inc., through the efforts of store committee chairman, Phil Savage, it was announced by Mrs. Arlene Glickman, publicity chairman.

Liz Lubell, Amy McAuliffe, Joy Buell, Martha Kuhns, Nancy Seitzer, Linda Walsh, Sylvia Keller, and Doris Thurston. The Sophomore Girls' Team consists of Pat Hills, B. Yeo, J. Meyer, B. Proctor, A. Jarrell, D. DeMarco, Sue Bluestein, J. McGuffin, C. Crosby, Jill Schofield, K. Tom, and J. Morrison. These girls were selected as a result of the skill they displayed in intramural basketball games.

The newly formed ski club is without a teacher sponsor as yet. A group of pupils interested in skiing organized themselves and are now planning a tentative trip to Stowe, Vermont, during this coming February vacation. The leaders of the group on the Executive Board are Joel Anderson, Peter Goldstein, Don Springer, Vincent Cerillano, and John Derr, treasurer.

A Cavalry Club ride was planned for an extremely chilly Friday a few weeks ago, with temperatures below freezing. Yet some sturdy members of the group were present at the ride which took place at Pad-dock's Riding Stables. All present agreed it was a successful afternoon and the club is currently planning a ride or a lecture for its January activity. The lecture would be given by a trained riding instructor or some similar person.

Where You Save DOES Make a Difference

1957 — WHAT a year!

1957 was a year in which the Russians tried to worry us into an inferiority complex with a couple of interplanetary yoyo's

The calmer of us hope that we, ourselves, will never reach the moon because we know that it will probably merely open up another area for U. S. foreign relief.

The Russians made us forget that we were first with the atomic bomb, the atomic submarine, and what's really important, the Salk Vaccine, and a way of life for the average citizen about 100 times better than that of the average Russian.

Why, shucks, we had the first savings and loan association in America, 127 years ago, and now have thousands of them, and we don't know that the Russians, as yet, have a single one.

Even if the Russians launch a satellite with a Shetland pony in it in 1958, we are still centuries ahead of them in our practice of individual thrift, self-care and personal freedom and fun.

1957 was also the year in which Watertown Federal Assets passed the $25 million mark. Since assets were $13,109,000 in 1953, this means they have doubled in four years. People are really hustling to save money in New England's fastest growing savings institution.

Sacred Heart Looms Strong Enough to Take CSL Title

Sacred Heart which landed in the second division last year after copping the Catholic Suburban basketball title two years ago is on the rebound. At least that's the word around the circuit these days as the seven clubs of the league get ready for another dash to the wire and glory.

Cause for optimism as the Newton club works out these days are three classy holdovers from last year's "on-the-build" team; the experience gained by last year's youngsters, and general all-around improvement in balance and depth.

The three veterans upon whom Coach Hank Barry is depending to bring another CSL title to Newton are Bob Nangle (6-3); Jim Buckley (6-2) and Jim Fitzpatrick (5-10). Bill Hart (5-10) and Paul Fitzgerald (5-8) who gained a lot of valuable experience last year will probably round out the starting five.

The opponents' problem will be to halt one of the Nangle-Buckley-Fitzpatrick combine. Two members of that trio can be stopped on occasion but the one who isn't blanketed, regardless of identity, can raise hobb with what's left of the defense.

There will be only seven teams in the league as compared to eight a year ago. That's due to the withdrawal for the year at least of St. Joseph's of Lowell.

Picked to fight it out with Sacred Heart for top honors are Bon Bosco Trade and Immaculate of Revere which took the title last year. St. Charles could be a dark horse.

Newton Track Hopes Depend On Replacements for Grads

Newton, present holder of the Metropolitan League crown and a perennial track power among the high schools of the State, looks forward to the season ahead with some misgiving, a lot of hope and a determination to find some badly needed replacement parts.

For the first time in years the Orange faces a season without a full coterie of proven tracksters or at least enough to give the team that well-balanced look. In other words it looks like a building year as far as Coach Ed Boyle is concerned.

Yet, it's far too soon to start betting that the Tigers won't carry off their share of laurels in the season ahead even if they don't keep their titular honors.

Graduation took a pretty deep cut among the veterans who brought the Met League top honors to N.H.S. last season. Accordingly, the coach will be using most of the indoor season gaining an idea of the capabilities of his younger talent and exposing them to as much experience as possible.

He feels that with the newcomers and the veterans left over from last year, the Orange can make a better than respectable showing by the time the outdoor season rolls around.

Among the veterans upon whom he can count will be Gridmen Jim Yancey and Larry Smith. They should be able to amass a nice bag of points in the dashes. Mike Huberman, Vin Cooney and Gerry Aransky may come up with a bit of depth for that department.

Boyle was counting on John Connerney for some top work in the 300 yards, but John will be slowed down for awhile, at least, by a groin pull, souvenir of the football season. While he'll be nursed along slowly, Ernie Raymond has been dropped from the 600-yard division to the 300 and then there's Hal Cohen, who looks as though he can step the distance nicely.

The loss of Raymond from the 600 will put a heavy strain on Scott Brent in this division but Scott is a proven point-getter. Phil Johnson will be moved from the 600 to 1000-yard task. He's a veteran and he's the type who could take to the new distance easily. Bill Shaner, who was considered a miler in his freshman days, will get plenty of 1000-yard work as a sophomore.

The Tigers will be pretty well off in the mile with veterans Fran Woodbridge and Gerry Rose available not only for this year but next year as well. Both are juniors. Marty Beckwith and Dick Hession look like the top of the can for the hurdles.

The relay quartet will probably be drawn eventually from Connerney, Brent, Raymond, Yancey, Smith and Johnson.

In the field events it looks as though there'll be no real trouble among the shotputters. Gary Snerson and Dick Abrams will be bossmen of a starry crew which will include Larry Curtis and Garrett Morrison.

Nor will there be any real cause for grievance when the high jump event is called as long as Marty Beckwith, now a senior, is hale and hearty. For a time Marty was hampered by a leg injury last spring but came through with a stellar record-breaking performance in the Met League showdown.

He'll do 6-3 easily and regularly in practice and don't be surprised if he rounds out his high school track career with a mark around 6-6 or even better. He'll get some point-making help, too, from such sound performers as Jim Yancey and Pete Derow.

Here's the squad:
Richard Abrams, Stephen Anapolle, Gerald Aransky, Martin Beckwith, Scott Brent, Steve Brostoff, Don Claffin, Hal Cohen, Vincent Cooney, John Connerney, Laurence Curtis, Peter Derow, Henry Ferrick, Michael First, Stephen Glunts, Martin Grady, Howard Guber, John Hartnett, Richard Hession, Alan Huberman, Phil Johnson, Gerry Kenney, David Kent, Paul Levenson.

Newton Y Has Courses In Golf, Bridge, Dancing

Instruction in golf, bridge, ballroom and creative dancing are among the courses to be offered this winter and spring at the Newton YMCA at 276 Church street, Newton.

As in other years planners of the YMCA program are attempting to offer classes to suit the needs and wants of its members, although non-members are welcome to enroll in the classes.

Two P.G.A. members will handle the golf sessions. They are John Oteri, instructing pro at the Wayland Country Club and John Powers, assistant instructor at Franklin Park Country Club. As in the past, the John Hoyt Kent rhythm system will be continued.

The course is designed to be beneficial to those who play the game as well as to beginners. The term starts January 13.

Two courses are scheduled for bridge. Bridge I will deal with fundamentals of the game in bidding, responses and strategy. Bridge II is designed for advanced players who want to learn the latest bidding conventions and play of hand. The course will be instructed by the Forrester Maddix, and begins on January 8.

The principles of leading and following are emphasized in the ballroom dancing classes which begin January 7.

Creative dancing classes were organized for those amateurs who want a healthy, yet relaxing and enjoyable recreation. These classes got underway last month, but because of the informality of the course, students may join during the semester.

Observe Birthday of the Zonta International

The Zonta Club of Newton held its regular monthly dinner meeting at the Pillar House in Newton Lower Falls last week. It was an especially enthusiastic get-together, celebrating the birthday of Zonta. It was 38 years ago this month that Zonta was formed by Marion DeForest in Buffalo, N. Y., with the backing of some of her Kiwanis friends.

The guest of honor at the meeting was Miss Cora MacKenzie, past president of Zonta International. The speaker of the evening was Mrs. Marion Merrill, supervisor of Greater Boston and the State of New Hampshire for "Welcome Wagon."

Newton Skaters Top Arlington; Remain in Tie for League Lead

Newton High School's hockey team is now in a two-way tie for the leadership in the Greater Boston League as a result of a 3-0 victory over Arlington at the Boston Arena last Saturday. It was the second consecutive shutout the Tigers have scored.

The Newton skaters are deadlocked with Melrose at the top of the eight-team G.B.I. League, with each aggregation showing a record of two triumphs and one tie.

In its first three games Newton has been the league's high-scoring team. It has racked up 16 goals and has had only three scored against it. Melrose in three games has chalked up seven goals against three for its opponents.

Jim Leonard, Ron O'Loughlin and Dave Craig were outstanding for the Tigers in the 3-0 win over Arlington. Each of the trio had one goal and one assist to show for the clash. They kept the play at the Arlington end of the ice much of the game.

The summary:

After snatching some old coins from a display in the case of the Eagle Stamp and Coin Company at 560 Commonwealth avenue, Newton Centre, two teen-agers made their getaway recently in an ancient sedan.

The coins had a value of about $60. Robert Saltzberg, the proprietor, told police that one of the youthful thieves engaged a clerk in conversation while the other maneuvered to a position to reach inside the case.

Scoring — First: O'Loughlin (Leonard) 2:02. Second: Leonard (Craig) 1:12. Craig (O'Loughlin) 6:40.

In addition to regular delegates, individual churches will send a representation of three laymen in connection with the Council's forthcoming Religious Census and Teaching Mission to be conducted throughout the city during the week of January 30.

The census will be a cooperative and comprehensive effort to locate persons who do not appear on the rolls of any church or synagogue. It will be followed by a ministerial and lay evangelistic program offering the warmth of religious fellowship.

Ernest O. Seyfarth, president of the Council, has announced that Dr. Alva I. Cox of the National Council of Churches will address the meeting in relation to the census project.

The dinner meeting will be open to ministers, delegates, and others interested in the Census and Teaching Mission project.

DR. E. RAY SPEARE

Optional courses in woodworking and other crafts at institutions of higher learning
"to afford relaxation for business and professional men after graduation" are heartily recommended by Dr. E. Ray Speare, of Newton, venerable Boston University figure who became 85 this month.
A member of the board of trustees for more than half a century and for 28 years university treasurer until his recent retirement, the Newton resident still keeps regular office hours at 226 Bay State road on B.U.'s Charles River Campus and does a little woodworking in his elaborately fitted shop in the basement of his home, 61 Montvale road, Newton Centre.
Dr. Speare as graduated from the college of liberal arts in the Class of 1894 when the college was housed in an old building—long since razed—on Somerset street.
He was the first captain of the Boston University football team and for many years was a nationally known tennis and squash racket star. His success as a business man has also been outstanding, and his exploits as a hunter and fisherman are well known on the campus.

Says the philosophical Dr.
Speare: young people, with the exception of those in the "all thumbs" classification, should be taught to do something with their hands.
A man trained in the art of woodworking during his university days, he adds, can make for himself "a valuable hobby that will provide an ideal means of relaxing from the stresses and tensions of business or professional life in later life."
"It is hard to worry about stock prices when you are working with your hands. Far too many men" he retires find themselves with "nothing to do, and their usefulness is cut short."

Girls, says Dr. Speare, often acquire useful skills in the making of ceramics, woodworking and metalwork but they would also benefit by such college courses.
During his student days, Dr.
Speare won brief fame as a journalist. One of his stories on fraternity initiations—a particularly provocative one—was widely circulated by a Boston newspaper. Luckily for him, he chucked the story did not carry his byline.
While attending Boston University, he made $150 a month as a newspaper correspondent
—very good money for the day.
His journalistic career was cut short, however, for he decided to follow the advice of his father after graduation and went into his father's firm as a clerk. The Alden Speare's Sons Co. specialized in oil and mill supplies.

Between the years 1916-39, he served as president and treasurer of the company. Since 1939, he has been chairman of the board. Some of Dr. Speare's other business ventures included the organization of the Exxon Co. of Tonawanda, N. Y., and Thorold in Ontario, Canada.
His association with the "Hollywood Club" at Tupper Lake, New York, in the Adirondacks, where hunting and fishing are good, has always been an important part of his life.
His father was one of the founders of the club and Dr.
Speare succeeded him as president in 1902. / lover of the outdoors, the Newton resident spends part of each year at Tupper Lake.

He has been a life-long member, a generous supporter and on the Board of Trustees of the Newton Centre Methodist Church of which the Rev. Elmo
F. Young is pastor.
During recent months Dr.
Speare has completed a volume entitled "Interesting Happenings in Boston University's History." His other literary endeavors have included "Hollywood Club Memoirs" (1952) and "Verses in French Canadiens" (1957). At the present time, he is working on an autobiography.

He will continue to serve as manager of that division but will also make his broad operating experience available to all other manufacturing divisions in the company.

Tour--

out the details but this is what Mr. Sholkin came up with. On Dec. 26, the members of his party gathered at Logan International Airport and boarded a plane for Madrid. Then they were to go from Spain to Rome and thence to Paris—timing their itinerary so that they would hit Paris in time for New Year's Eve.

After Paris they had their choice of Holland or England.

The European tour was a bonus for long-time employees and a number of honor clients of Beacon Plastics. All expenses were being underwritten for employees with 10 years of service—that is everything but the shopping and the side trips.

For those with six years of service with Beacon, the firm is picking up the tab for 60 per cent of the expenses and for those with five years of service the firm will pay 50 per cent of the expense.

Those who chose to bring their wives along with them were to pay the additional expense themselves.

Included in the list of travelers are factory workers, office personnel and salesmen. The firm employs approximately 180 persons.

Last year the company sponsored a trip to Canada and in the spring there was a vacation. Beacon-sponsored, in Atlantic City.

Mr. Sholkin didn't make the initial trip out of Logan last week "with the gang," he went on ahead to make sure all arrangements were letter-perfect.

New Courses To Be Offered At Newton Junior College

Registration for the second semester evening division at Newton's Public Junior College will be held on Jan. 28, it was announced today by Walter M. Taylor, director.

Taylor said the semester's program includes five new courses, four revised engineering courses and five continuing courses. The schedule of classes also has been revised. Each course will meet only once a week in the semester that begins on February 4 and runs for 16 weeks through the winter and spring.

All classes will run from 6:30 to 9:30 p.m. Each course, with the exception of the review of high school workshop and the Workshop in English, will carry 2½ hours of credit.

The Electronics Engineering and mathematics departments met recently to effect course revisions on the basis of the first semester's work which provide for qualified students entering now without insuperable handicaps. In Engineering Physics, Part II, Electricity and Magnetism, may be studied without the student's having just studied Part I, Mechanics. Dr. Charles D. Merrill, head of the College's Science Department, will instruct the Electricity and Magnetism course Thursday evenings. The Engineering Mathematics course, Math 10, will be coordinated with this course and taught by Jack Shapiro on Tuesday nights. The Electronics Physics course will deal basically with light and some aspects of modern atomic physics in the new arrangement; it will be taught by Dr. David Bohroff of Raytheon, Inc., Tuesday nights.

The new courses spread the six curriculums offered by the college.

The English Department offers "The Literature of Modern Independent Thinking: Rebels and Writing," a new course taught by T. Jerome Cutting. This Tuesday night course includes lectures, discussion, and reading from such "rebels" as Hurley, Nouy, Whitehead, Russell, Ortega, Lewis, Tyrrell, Mumford, and Cummings.

The counterpart course from the classics, "Great Authors and the Modern Man," taught by Julius Vexlar on Thursday nights, will deal with Montaigne, Shakespeare, Moliere, Rousseau, Racine, Goethe, some of the romantic poets of the 19th century, and Robert Frost. Vexlar points out modern parallels and aspects of the human frailties and strengths about which these authors wrote.

The English Workshop is a half-credit course designed to help students, especially those wanting to test their abilities to handle college-level reading and writing, improve their reading habits, speed, and comprehension, writing facility, and general study habits. The course is recommended for those returning to college study and others who feel the need to increase or refresh their abilities to handle books and regain good reading and study habits. Various mechanical devices are used in the course (Thursday nights) for individual and group up-grading.

The Social Sciences department offers on Thursday nights a standard course in American Social Problems, taught by Dr. John S. Gibson of Babson Institute. Dr. Gibson is president of the World Affairs Council, Boston, and has conducted a television program on American foreign relations on Channel 2. He is a graduate of Oberlin, Western Reserve, and Columbia.

The Business and Psychology departments of the College combine to offer "Industrial and Business Psychology" to be taught by Director Taylor who taught the course last year and Dr. Merrill who instructs in psychology in the College. The course, Tuesday evenings, includes discussions lead by representatives of management, labor, and government services. The Business Department also offers its practical course in Income Tax Procedures, Federal and State on Thursday nights. This course attracts many non-degree-candidates because it deals practically with problems of taxable gains and losses, property, ownership, reporting income from stocks, bonds, and rents.

The Conversational Spanish course, continuing on Tuesday evenings under Franklin E. Davis of the College and High School Spanish departments, will also accept beginning Spanish students who have a little background in speaking Spanish.

The Mathematics department will offer on Tuesday nights a continuation of the non-credit course, Review of High School Mathematics, with Lawrence E. Bartnik of Weston, head of the mathematics department at Natick High School as instructor. The second half of this course completes intermediate algebra, the geometries, logarithms and trigonometry, preparatory to Math 10 in the College. On Saturday mornings, 8:30 to 11:00, Math 20 will continue under J. Raymond Silva and move from

Fitzpatrick to Serve as Acting GOP Club Head

James K. Fitzpatrick, 243 Park street, Newton, has been named acting president of the Newton Republican Club by its board of directors.

Fitzpatrick has been serving as administrative vice president. He will fill a vacancy caused by the resignation of William J. Robinson, former president, recently elected to the Board of Aldermen.

He has been active for years in civic and political circles. He was a member of the Ward 7 Republican Committee and was a delegate to the Republican State Convention in 1954. He is also a former vice president and director of the Newton Chamber of Commerce and is presently a board member of Newton Family Service Bureau.

He served with the Navy Hospital Corps during World War II. He is a member of the State and Federal bars.

Pass Civil Service Firefighter's Exam

Two Newton men passed a civil service examination to qualify for appointment as firefighters in the city's fire department. It was announced this week at the State House. They are James St. C. Walsh of 25 Melbourne avenue, a veteran, and Richard L. Perkins of 137 Edinboro street, a veteran.

TELEVIEWING THE NEWS

By LEE LOUMOS

Even though the new western "Maverick" has cut both Ed Sullivan and Steve Allen down to size in their battle for the top of the Sunday night ratings, television is about to poke fun at the very situation it's wrapped up in. NBC has a comedy titled "The Battle for Wednesday Night" set for the Kraft Theatre timeslot January 1. Jack Oakie, Rudy Vallee, Earl Holliman and Virginia Gibson have the leading roles in the play concerning two competing programs.

Michael O'Shea and his pretty wife, Virginia Mayo, have been handed the star roles in a new Hal Roach, Jr. series, "McGarry and His Mouse." It's a whodunit series based on the McGarry stories that have been written by Matt Taylor for This Week magazine during the past 17 years. This will be the first time in 14 years that the O'Sheas have appeared together.

Jon Hall, busy shooting underwater scenes for his "Malolo of the South Pacific" series, doesn't want to come back to Hollywood. He'd rather stay in the South Pacific and make endless adventure films for television. We'd like to start a new TV adventure for you by installing one of the superior new SYLVANIA TV models in your home . . . and then keep your eyes and ears delighted right on through 1958 by the dependable service organization that backs up every sale we make. It will be possible for new students with the proper background in trigonometry and college to enroll in the Thursday night course on A-C Electric Circuits under Seymour Cohen of Raytheon, Inc. This course has been revised and its text changed in order to begin with a study of basic network theorems before advancing into eight aspects of alternating currents—to advance to variable response systems, resonant circuits, and filters.

First classes are in the first week of February. Registration may be performed in advance. Inquiries may be directed to the Registrar, Newton Junior College, Washington Park at Walnut street, Newtonville, or telephone to DE 23542.

Herter Enters Race For Governor

Mayor Says Suburbs Must Have Real Voice in Mass Transportation Planning

Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., declared it is absolutely essential that suburban communities which have the most direct and important stake in the question of adequate mass transportation be given representation on any board designed to study and formulate plans for meeting the problem.

The Mayor's statement followed an inaugural proposal by Governor Furolo that such a board be created. Furolo urged that the board include the heads of several State departments, the Massachusetts Turnpike Authority, the MDC and the MTA along with five appointees of the Governor.

"I am not familiar with the details of the Governor's proposal for a Metropolitan Board of mass transportation," said Mayor Whitmore, "particularly as to its full purposes, authority and membership."

"However, any serious attempt to determine the comprehensive and co-ordinated transportation needs of the Metropolitan area is not only desirable but necessary. If we are to bring order out of the present chaos in this most important field of public service, I would hope that the proposed board would include full representation from the communities around Boston as well as Boston itself."

"Further, I would hope that the plans of individual agencies, public and private, would be subordinated to one complete and integrated plan which would serve to promote the interests and the welfare of the people of the entire Metropolitan area."

"Only in this way can planning and policy decisions translate the real and desperate needs of our traveling public into sensible and constructive action."

Church, Playhouse, Beauty Shop, Targets of Burglars

If the last days of '57 and the first of '58 offer any criterion of things to come, burglars operating in Newton in this brand new year, won't be too choosy about the locale of their mis-doings. Nor will they be over-troubled by compunctions of conscience.

Consider their selection of places to rob during a comparatively few days recently. It included—a church; a children's playhouse; a beauty parlor.

Consider also their loot. It included—a container for donations to the Shadowbrook Mission Fund; a container for donations to Archbishop Cushing's Charity Fund; three piggy banks.

The church entered by one or more of the burglarious-minded was St. John's Episcopal, Newtonville. There the church office was ransacked. Whether anything of monetary value was obtained was not certain.

The donation containers for Shadowbrook and the Archbishop's fund were taken in a burglary at the Echo Bridge Cafe, 10, Chestnut street, Newton Upper Falls.

The beauty shop didn't get robbed. Apparently the burg-

4 NHS Boys Spend Shivery Night on Mt. Washington

Four Newton High School boys, who found Mt. Washington can be beautiful, challenging and treacherous, caused some winter vacation concern for their safety when they failed to scale the Northeast's highest mountain in a single day.

However, just as authorities were about to launch a series of searching parties to track them down on the rugged slopes, the boys emerged. They were cold. They were wet. And they were hungry.

Otherwise ready to chalk it all up to some valuable experience in the game of man vs. nature were Daniel D. Murphy, 17, of 14 Llewellyn road, West Newton; Joseph McWilliams, 17, of 136 Cherry street, West Newton; Francis Greeley, 19, of 43 Taft avenue, West Newton; and Frederick Doctoroff, 18, of 1392 Beacon street, Newton Centre.

With their parents' permission, the boys had attempted to go all the way to the top of the 6288-foot mountain on Sunday, Dec. 29. They figured that by some right smart hiking they could make it in a day. Two of

POLITICAL OVERTONES

By JAMES G. COLBERT

Political Picture Changed By Herter's Announcement

Dynamic, colorful Executive Councillor Christian A. Herter, Jr., has created a completely new political picture in Massachusetts by moving suddenly and swiftly into the gubernatorial race.

Political experts have been assuming until now that the fight for the Republican nomination for Governor would be a two-man clash between Attorney General George Fingold and GOP State Committee Chairman Charles Gibbons.

Councillor Herter changed that overnight by his announcement of his candidacy.

The experts now will sit back and await developments before further judgment.

There is no question but that Councillor Herter would be a potent adversary against Governor Furolo in the November election if he gains his party's nomination.

7 Newton Police Aid in Arrest of Ex-Convict Pair

Seven Newton police officers gave Brookline police a big hand in bringing about the capture of two State prison paroloes, suspected of a series of South Brookline burglaries. Two shots were fired by police before the pair were brought into custody.

Captain Clinton Heitman and Detective Justin McCarthy spotted an unoccupied car parked on Woodland road near the Brookline-Newton line and the search got under way when a check showed the machine, bearing Rhode Island registration plates, was owned by Fred Martineau of Pawtucket, R.I., one of the paroloes. Captain Heitman radioed for assistance in making a check of the area.

The Newton officers sent to the area were under direction of Sergeant John W. Foley. Patrolman Richard J. Duffy of the Newton police sighted Martineau partially hidden by the stump of a tree in the dump near the Hammond Pond Parkway. When he threatened to shoot, Martineau surrendered.

A short distance away, Brookline Detective Joseph V. Walsh spotted Milton Powers, 30, of Boston, also a Massachusetts State prison paroloe. After Walsh fired two warning shots, Powers surrendered.

Building Here Off $300,000 For Year 1957

Value of new construction planned for Newton dropped from the 1956 total when returns for December showed a sharp decline.

While the overall figure for the past year still enabled the city to maintain a high place among the cities and towns of the State in the construction of new residential units, total project-value for '57 was $314,488 below '56.

The 1957 totals showed 706 building permits in all classifications with a total estimated value of $7,621,733 as compared with 752 permits for '56, with a value of $7,976,221.

Health Officer To Get $12,000

The Board of Aldermen in its first meeting of the year voted to set the annual salary of the newly-created post of public health officer at $12,000.

The board referred to its finance committee a recommendation of Mayor Howard Whitmore Jr., that acting health officer Dr. Henry L. Godfrey be continued temporarily as assistant health officer.

Dr. Harry Phillips will assume his duties as health officer on Feb. 1, and the aldermen appropriated the cash for his salary for the remainder of the year on the $12,000 basis.

The meeting appropriated $100,000 for snow removal.

Blue-Eyed Baby Girl Is Newton's "First for '58"

Susan Mary Resley, a lovely little bundle of blue-eyed baby girl, is Newton's most famous new citizen. Susan Mary is The Graphic's "First Baby" for 1958, born at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital at 8:30 a.m. on New Year's Day.

With the charming statistics of 6 pounds 1½ ounces, and 19 inches long at birth, the pretty little lady is the queen of the Resley household and the first child to bless the marriage of Walter J. Resley and the former Pauline A. Geary.

The Resleys reside at 49 Hawthorne street, Newton; they were married August 25, 1956. The proud father is an engineer's assistant at Raytheon. The attending physician was Dr. Joseph D. Ferron. Sharing in the joy of the arrival of the New Year baby are the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry F. Geary, Sr., of 28 Emerson street, Newton, and Mrs. Clara Resley, of 926 East Fourth street, Russell, Kansas.

Newton merchants in co-operation with The Graphic annually prepare a royal welcome for the first baby of the New Year. Gifts which will be awarded to little Miss Resley for being Newton's first baby of 1958 will include:

A dozen diapers from the Kozy Korner Kid Stuff; a $5 gift certificate redeemable for cleaning, etc., at the Queen Cleaners; a sacque set from Small Fry, Inc.; a $5 gift certificate towards the purchase of "The Baby's Needs," redeemable at the Newton Centre Market; a sterling silver baby feeding spoon from Conrod and Ryan, Jewelers; one case of baby's favorite food from the Waban Super Market; a year's subscription to The Newton Graphic; one Lucille's Hair style for mother from Lucille's; a Nylon Tricot Bed Jacket, also for Mother, from the Maternity House Inc.; an evening's entertainment for "Mom and Dad" at the West Newton Theatre; sweaters for mother and child from Greenfield's; an automatic savings bank for baby's personal account, from the West Newton Savings Bank; a pair of theatre tickets for Mom and Dad from Paramount Theatre; a baby spoon from Peterson's, Jewelers; and a case of nationally advertised baby food from the Star Market Co.

Dog Leash Advocates May Ask 24-Hour Rein on Fido

The Newton PTA Council will be urged tonight not only to take up the fight for the leashing of dogs which was lost last year but to back even more stringent regulations than those sought in 1957.

Mrs. Charles Robinson, the PTA's legislative chairman, said her committee will ask the PTA Council to consider not alone a part-time leash rule (leashing while school sessions are in progress) but a full-time ban on a 24-hour basis against permitting dogs to run loose.

Newton Councillor Starts Drive for GOP Nomination

Governor's Councillor Christian A. Herter, Jr., of Newton today announced that he will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor at the GOP pre-primary State convention to be held at Worcester in June.

His statement was immediately hailed by many Republicans who expressed the conviction that Councillor Herter, who represented Newton in the Massachusetts House of Representatives for three years, would be an extremely strong standard-bearer against Governor Foster Furolo in next November's election.

If Herter is nominated as his party's candidate for Governor, it would mean that the State would see a gubernatorial battle between two Newton residents.

CHRISTIAN A. HERTER, JR.

Herter resides with his wife and three children at 481 Hammond street. Furolo moved his family to Newton shortly after he assumed office last year, although it is understood his legal residence is still in Longmeadow.

Councillor Herter is 39 years old. He is a graduate of Harvard College and the Harvard Law School. He attained high scholastic honors at Harvard and achieved membership in Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholastic society.

He is a combat and decorated veteran of World War II. He entered the army a private and came out of the service with the rank of major and with sev-

Parked and Abandoned Cars Hamper Plowing Operations

Newton's snow-plowing forces got an early start in meeting the force of Tuesday night's storm, and as a result streets in the Garden City were in much better condition yesterday than in many surrounding communities.

However, Superintendent of Streets Frank A. Perkins reported that plowing operations were hampered by parked and abandoned automobiles.

Perkins declared that some streets were clogged by cars to such an extent that it was impossible to plow them.

He urged motorists to get their cars off the streets in future storms this winter.

Tieups developed on many streets Tuesday night when motorists, driving without either chains or snow tires, were unable to climb even moderate grades which were glazed by the wet snow.

In some instances cars skidded sideways, creating log-jams and slowing the progress of cars which did have snow tires or chains.

Some sections of Newton were

Heaney Seeks Legislative 'Break' on Unearned Income

Two measures designed to give a "break" to the men and women obliged to live on fixed incomes derived from annuities, interest and dividends — technically described by the State as "unearned income" — have been filed by Representative Arthur G. Heaney of Newton.

One bill, co-sponsored by Representative Frank Giles of Methuen, Republican floor leader, advocates legislation which would extend the $2000 exemption allowed on earned income to "unearned income."

The second bill would eliminate a provision of the current law under which anyone receiving $5000 or more from all sources is denied any exemption at all from the so-called "unearned income."

Describing the reasoning which prompted him to file the bills, Representative Heaney said:

"One of the most troublesome features of our complex system of taxation is the treatment given

Three Appointees At N.-W. Hospital Begin New Duties

Dr. Joseph Hanelin, radiologist on the staff at the Massachusetts General Hospital for the last 10 years and an instructor in radiology at Harvard Medical School, has taken over his new duties as Chief of the Department of Radiology at the Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

He replaces Dr. Charles Leibman, who had retired. Dr. Leibman is to spend his time in Florida and in northern New Hampshire.

Appointed to serve with Dr. Hanelin as associate radiologists are Dr. William J. Brown Jr., 155 Grove street, Wellesley Hills and Dr. Rudolph Junda of Pine Ridge road, Waban.

The retirement of Dr. Leibman took place Dec. 31. Dr. Hanelin actually assumed his new duties earlier in the month in order to become familiar with the hospital procedure and personnel. He will continue on the Massachusetts General Hospital staff as a clinical associate for purposes of teaching and study.

A diplomate of the American Board of Radiology since 1947,

Dr. Hanelin is also a member of the American Roentgen Ray Society, the New England Roentgen Ray Society, the American Medical Association, the Massachusetts Medical Society and the Middlesex West Medical Society. Dr. Hanelin has written a number of scientific papers in his field and is co-author of a text on the subject of radiology.

Married to the former Dorothy Grossbart, they have three children and live at 27 West Central street in Natick.

Dr. Brown, associate radiologist, is a graduate of Cornell University (A.B.) and the State University of Iowa (M.D.). He served as intern at the Wesley Memorial Hospital in Chicago, the Municipal Contagious Disease Hospital, the Children's Hospital in Buffalo and the Children's Memorial Hospital in Chicago.

Herter-

eral decorations for valor, including the Croix de Guerre and the Bronze Star Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster. He was wounded in action and holds the Purple Heart.

Herter is regarded as one of the outstanding young public leaders in either political party in Massachusetts.

He served three years in the House of Representatives and is now serving his second year in the Executive Council.

For two years he served as General Counsel for the Foreign Operations Administration and for one year was administrative assistant to the Vice President of the United States. In private life he is a practicing attorney in Boston.

He is the oldest son of ex-Governor and present Under Secretary of State Christian A. Herter.

In announcing his candidacy Herter declared that under Governor Furcolo the economic climate in Massachusetts has been deteriorating and employment opportunities declining.

His statement said: "I am a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor."

"I am a candidate because I believe that my native state cannot survive another term dominated by the motives and fantasies of Foster Furcolo. He has been a Governor who never has been able to grasp the extent of his responsibility for the prosperity upon which jobs in Massachusetts and secure home and family life depend.

"Like many other citizens, I had hoped that the Governor in his Annual Message to the Legislature might indicate that after a year in office he had gained some understanding of the responsibilities of that office. As I listened to him, and later read his speech, I realized that it was a fraud upon the people.

"On the one hand he tipped his hat to austerity; on the other he proposed new expenditures to cost millions.

"With one breath he talked about a deplorable financial future; and with the other, made proposals to guarantee such a future.

"In common with most of our citizens, I find myself no longer able to accept this situation. The apparent lack of knowledge by Foster Furcolo of where we are and where we are going, I am sure, distresses everyone. I am moved to run by my further conviction—one widely shared—that Foster Furcolo's indecision and ineptitude have caused him to bungle even the most simple of his administrative problems—except for finding jobs for his political associates.

"In genuine modesty I offer myself as a candidate who believes that our most pressing need is to recognize the obligation of our State government to keep the economy of our Commonwealth strong and to help it become stronger.

"In this respect I am at an opposite pole from Governor Furcolo. I want to help create jobs for people and not for politicians.

"As Governor I would not be content to be confronted almost daily by word of newly-closed factory doors. I would want to see a political climate under which productive industry would grow and prosper and employment opportunities for our people increase. Under such a program we would not have 120,000 jobless people (as the most recent figures show), but full employment.

"In short, my purpose is to restore Massachusetts to a competitive place in a competitive family of States so that our citizens may know greater prosperity and security. I know the problem must be attacked where its origins lie—in expensive and inefficient government."

Brookline police claim that they found $129 on Martineau and believe it had been taken in a burglary at the home of Alexander Marble, 132 Laurel road, Brookline. A dozen Brookline and Newton police cruisers participated in the round up.

The search lasted nearly 2½ hours before the capture was made. Officer Duffy of Newton suffered cuts of the face and hands while working through the tangled underbrush.

them had some experience in that sort of thing. All are pretty rugged boys.

They had gone to New Hampshire in the Murphy boy's car. They parked the machine at the base station near the Cog Railroad and got off to an early start. After all, Mt. Washington is only a little more than a mile up and the same distance back. Straight walking that is. The boys figured they'd be back in Newton by Monday at the latest.

It was nice and sunny at the base. A beautiful day. When the sun went down and darkness closed in, the boys weren't back at the base. They weren't at the summit either. It was cold. The wind was blowing.

When the New Hampshire State police found the Murphy boy's car unclaimed they got in touch with Newton police and they, in turn, contacted his mother, Mrs. Viola Murphy.

New Hampshire troopers were getting ready to start up the mountain and track down the quartet when they came out under their own power.

When darkness had come to them, they decided to put aside all thoughts of either reaching the mountain top or making the descent to the base. They found a hikers' cabin at Lake of the Clouds. It had no steam heat, no roaring fireplace, no electric blankets and no automatic air-conditioning system. In fact, the only blanket they could find was the blanket of snow on the floor.

That offered a bed for the night, and for it the boys were grateful.

At sun-up they didn't need any alarm clocks to awaken them. They could do with a lot of sleep but under a little different auspices. Accordingly, they bade a fond farewell to the cabin and reached the base just in time to keep the State troopers from a lot of unnecessary work.

Headlights and Highlights From Newton High School

By JUDY ARNOLD

Beeuwkes, Bethel Bilizekian, Sandi Douglas, Patty Gordon, Julian Prince, Kenny Rower, and Clint Shaw were the seven seniors announced as the semi-finalists from Newton High in the National Merit Scholarship Contest. They will be given a three hour board examination on January 11.

After the Classical, Technical, and Vocational High Schools of Newton High were combined, a constitutional convention was held to make the basis for the school government. This government is called the Associates and each student in Newton High is a member. The Associates' Council heads the Associates government. Aside from passing the measures voted on by the legislature, the council directs the work of the administrative boards, votes on requests for club charters, appoints election officials, and exercises general control over student affairs. The newly elected senior representatives to this organization are Danny Armet and Alan Warsaw. Also members of the council are Nancy McDonald and Terry Segal, representing the sophomore class; Judy Dean and Jerry Lamkin representing the junior class; and all the officers of the legislature.

THE OUTDOOR TYPE . . .
The Indoor Track Team, in its first meet, beat Brookline by a score of 43-2. According to Mr. Boyle, the teacher-sponsor of this activity, the leading contenders in each field are as follows: Dash: Jimmy Yancey, Vincent Cooney and Larry Smith; 300 Yard: John Connerney, Mike Huberman, Hal Cohen, and Gerald Aransky; 600 Yard: Phil Johnson, Jerry Kenney and Ernie Raymond; 1000 Yards: Scott Brent, John Shaner, and David Kent; one mile: Frances Woodbridge and Gerry Rose; high-jump: Marty Beckwith, captain, Peter Derow, Jimmy Yancey, and Donald Claffin; hurdles: Marty Beckwith and Richard Hession; shot-put: Richard Abrahams, Gary Snerson, Eddie Needell, Larry Curtis and Garrett Morrison. Thus far, the relay team consists of Larry Smith, Scott Brent, Ernie Raymond, and Phil Johnson. It is expected that Jimmy Yancey, Manny Connerney and Mike Huberman will also run with the team. The boys are presently reporting for practice each afternoon.

THE MARQUEE . . .
Arousing a great deal of talk at this time is the annual Drama Festival which is to be presented on February 14, at 8:15 p.m. in the Newton High School Auditorium. The three one-act plays to be presented this season are "Medea," "The Solid Gold Cadillac," and "Green Pastures." Tickets will be sold through the English teachers, as in previous years. The tryouts, which were held during the end of December and the first week of January, were open to all students. Student directors will be chosen from the runners-up to the main parts. The first tryouts in 1949 brought twelve people. This year over 300 students turned out.

The plays are judged by people in college and high-school dramatics, competent in their field. To insure impartiality, all judges are from schools other than Newton High. One play is selected by these judges to enter the State Preliminary Drama Festival. There are five of these preliminary contests throughout Massachusetts, with approximately fifty or sixty high schools competing. Newton High has never received a rating of less than excellent in this competition.

Some plays are chosen to continue into the state finals, which are held in the John Hancock Hall in Boston. From this performance, two plays are selected to go to the New England Festival which will be held in Montpelier, Vt., this year. Newton High went to the New England Festival the year before last with its interpretation of "The Corn Is Green." And we have been represented in that Festival twice in the last six years.

MERRYMAKER . . .
This Saturday night, the gym of Newton High will ring with the sounds of students enjoying themselves at the Junior Prom. A large success last year, the chairman of this year's dance says that "Centurama" promises to be received even better. With final plans under way, all committees have been very busy with last minute meetings and plans.

produced excellent talent from the members of the sophomore class. Interpretations of skits and monologues were given by Leone Netzorg, Joan Popper, Jo-Ann Abrahams, Donna Richmond, Jane Sutherland, Sue Goidsmith, Kerston Ferre, Martha Tepper and Marcia Bailey.

At the last meeting of the Latin Club, entertainment was provided in a very educational form by talks given and slides shown by Julie and Pam Bergmark, who lived in Turkey for five years; and Dave Phillips, whose first twelve years were spent in South Africa.

en to those who live on so-called unearned income, such as annuities, interest and dividends. It seems to be a popular misconception that these people are all rich and can well afford to pay an effective tax rate of 7.38%.

"Until recently no personal exemptions at all were allowed against such income.

"However, Republicans in the Legislature fought for and won some relief in the form of exemptions in certain cases up to $1500.

"While this was a step in the right direction, the laws relating to such taxation are still most discriminatory in nature. For example, a person aged 65 receiving $5000 or more of income from all sources, taxable and non-taxable, still gets no exemption at all, presumably on the theory that such a person must have an estate of about $100,000, therefore can hardly expect much sympathy.

"But if the same person received $4999.99 he or she would be entitled to a $1500 exemption and would pay about $110 less tax.

"Income from all sources", as shown on page 3 of the tax return, is the fly in the ointment. It includes not only ordinary and usual income, but also extraordinary income of a one-shot nature. If a retired person has to liquidate an investment in order to get funds on which to live, any capital gain on the transaction must be included as income here.

"One of my clients, an elderly lady, has a normal yearly income from interest and dividends of under $3000, and owns would extend the same exemption to unearned income as that presently allowed against earned income, namely $2000.

"My other bill would eliminate the section under which anyone receiving $5000 or more from all sources is denied any exemption at all on so-called unearned income.

"It is time we realized a dollar will buy only the same amount whether it comes from wages or any other source and a serious attempt should be made to end discrimination in our methods of taxation."

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT:

● STROKES

Speech Area

Q. Is there any difference between a stroke and apoplexy? A. No. The term "stroke" is a popular term for "apoplexy" or "apoplectic stroke."

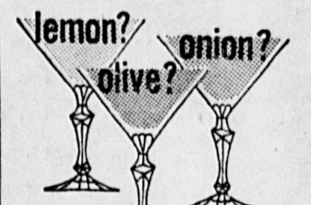

Q. Are strokes always due to brain hemorrhage or bleeding? A. No. A stroke results when the blood supply to some part of the brain suddenly stops. This can occur when a brain blood vessel ruptures or when a brain blood channel becomes blocked.

Q. What area of the brain is affected when a person has trouble talking following a stroke? A. The brain area necessary for speech is shown as a shaded area in the above drawing.

Material in MEDICAL MIRROR is based on various scientific publications and does not necessarily reflect the opinion of all doctors. The diagnosis and treatment of disease requires the skill and knowledge which only a physician can apply by personally attending the patient.

Poor Commuter Service Hurts Newton Seriously Says C of C

All residents of Newton interested in obtaining additional commuter service between Newton and Boston were urged this week to contact the Chamber of Commerce.

If the response warrants, Executive Director Justin T. Horan of the Chamber declared his organization will contact the proper authorities and request additional early morning train service.

The proposed extension of the MTA into Newton over the Highland Branch railroad is still in the planning stage, Mr. Horan pointed out. Additional commuter service is sorely needed now.

The Chamber said that a number of Newton business concerns have complained that the lack of early morning rapid transportation to Newton is preventing Boston industrial firms from expanding their interest into Newton.

He urged businessmen and householders who are interested in procuring additional commuter service to contact the Chamber as soon as possible.

Call Issued For CD Instructors

Leigh Packer, director of Civil Defense in Newton, has announced a drive to recruit instructors. They will be used to teach volunteers the part they will play in the eight emergency field hospitals assigned to the city by state officials.

The Civil Defense chief stated that the vitally needed instructors are being sought from nursing schools and hospitals in Newton and in the greater Boston area.

Only registered nurses, doctors and interns are eligible to teach the 19-week course, for which compensation will be given. Each class is scheduled to meet one night a week for two hours. Information may be obtained by calling DEcatur 2-2470 or DEcatur 2-3330.

Cars Hampering Snow Plows To Be Towed Away

A warning to Newton automobile owners that their cars will be towed away if they hamper the removal of snow and ice, was issued today by Street Commissioner Frank A. Perkins.

"I wish to remind Newton citizens that the law relative to parked cars which interfere with the snow and ice removal from highways or driveways, when marked on sidewalks, will necessarily have to be enforced," Perkins declared.

"The cost of towing away such vehicles will be assessed against the owners," Perkins asserted.

Junior Theatre Plans Active Play Schedule

The Formal Theatre Department of the schools is rehearsing two casts of Tom Sawyer and two casts of The Little Princess, which will be presented in Workshop fashion for parents and friends this month, while the Junior High Class is working on a cutting from The Vagabond King.

The Newton Junior Theatre is under the direction of Norma Morse Currier and Florence Williams.

It Says "Greatness"...in Any Language!

Wherever highways exist and motor cars are known, the name "Cadillac" signifies but one thing—the unmistakable leader in its field.

For the motor car that has borne that distinguished name for the past fifty-five years has been so well designed and crafted that it has become a synonym for everything good and desirable in a product.

And never have these virtues been more evident than they are in the Cadillac car for 1958.

A single, sweeping glance at the new "car of cars", for example, reveals a grace and majesty and elegance never before attainable in modern automotive design.

A brief journey at the wheel provides irrefutable proof of the forward strides that have been made in Cadillac performance and in Fleetwood coachcrafting.

And a study of the facts about Cadillac economy and dependability indicates a soundness of investment beyond anything in Cadillac's brilliant past.

If you haven't as yet inspected and driven a 1958 Cadillac, you should do so very soon.

Whatever your favorite among Cadillac's wide selection of models, which includes the distinguished Eldorado Brougham, you will find it a rare masterpiece in everything a Cadillac can be.

Science and Laws

Alongside Page One stories reporting some far less sanguine news on the morning of Jan. 1, 1958, was a report from Dr. John H. Cauley, head of the Boston Health Department.

Dr. Cauley had something to report, too. He announced that when the stroke of midnight had closed out the year 1957, a 12-month period had been completed in the city of Boston without the loss of a single mother in childbirth.

No doubt, some folk who glanced at the headline over Dr. Cauley's announcement, passed on to seemingly more exciting or even more lugubrious news.

Yet, in many ways, Dr. Cauley's announcement was the most exciting thing in the papers that morning. Only a few decades back it would have been astounding news.

At a time when Americans generally are wondering if we have really ceded the world lead in the field of science to Russians who can build Sputniks, such an announcement has its re-assuring notes.

As late as the 1920's, year-end statistics reduced to figures the number of mothers who had given their lives in childbirth. The number was shockingly high. Medical men were well acquainted with the death rate among those "who go down into the Valley of Death."

They were convinced that some day that sacrifice of lives would be overcome. Yet, few ventured to predict when childbirth could be made reasonably safe for mothers.

Men in the field of politics deplored the continuing high death rate at a time when medical science appeared to be making such tremendous strides. Moves were openly contemplated to do something about it by passing laws.

Among those who viewed the statistics with a deploring attitude was Dr. Frederick L. Good of Boston City Hospital. He was convinced that medical men themselves held the right answer. But he was just as convinced that in the field of any science the mere passage of laws cannot bring about automatic progress.

For years Boston City Hospital had been establishing an outstanding record in the matter of maternal death rates. Dr. Good foresaw such a year of accomplishment as Dr. Cauley was able to announce.

Dr. Good founded the New England Gynecological Society.

Members of that society shared with him the conviction that a high maternal death rate in childbirth was not necessary. Members of the society travelled all over New England preaching to medical societies and groups the advances which had been made at Boston City Hospital.

The men who had been considering the drafting of laws on State and Federal levels were impressed. They put aside their announced intentions of drafting laws.

Year-by-year the course pointed out by Dr. Good attracted more and more medical men. Today the maternal death rate has been reduced to a minimum considered impossible of attainment only a short time back.

That accomplishment is one of many which can be listed by medical science during this amazing 20th Century. Many of those accomplishments were achieved by American scientists.

Whatever else we may do, at this uncertain period in our history, we will be making a devastating mistake if we abandon confidence in the ability of American scientists to meet the problems they confront.

And the mistake will be further aggravated if we convince ourselves that we can oblige those scientists to produce miracles—merely through the passage of hastily drawn laws.

Political Overtones

He is an extremely attractive candidate. He is an excellent speaker and makes a striking appearance on the campaign stump.

The son of the former Governor and present Under Secretary of State has served his political apprenticeship in the Massachusetts House of Representatives and the Executive Council. He was general counsel for the highly important Foreign Operations Administration and administrative assistant to the Vice President of the United States.

His war record was outstanding. He went into the army a private and came out a major, was wounded in action and decorated for bravery.

He was an honor student at Harvard and achieved membership in Phi Beta Kappa, the honorary scholastic society, and graduated from Harvard Law School.

His target now, of course, is the Republican pre-primary convention at Worcester in June, for unless he can gain the endorsement of that conclave he will not have the opportunity to test his strength with Governor Furcolo in November.

For Republicans across the State, Councillor Christian A. Herter, Jr., has suddenly presented an extremely interesting situation.

See Breach Widening Between Gov. Furcolo and Sen. Powers

Even though there is tight-lipped silence on both sides, there is little doubt but that the breach between Governor Furcolo and Democratic State Senate Leader John E. Powers has been widened by the demotion of Representative John T. Tynan of South Boston from a position of prominence and influence in the Massachusetts House of Representatives.

Powers is on old pro in politics with long experience

Midwinter Meeting of United Church Women Tomorrow

A social and informational Midwinter meeting will open the 1958 season of the United Church Women of Newton at the Lincoln Park Baptist Church, West Newton, tomorrow (Friday) afternoon. Later this month and throughout February, many of them will meet for deepened spiritual experience in a series of Prayer Groups to be held at the Second Church, West Newton.

For the Midwinter Meeting tomorrow, Mrs. George Brookhiser, of the Church of the Good Shepherd, State District Director of the North Boston District, has arranged a panel of Presidents who will discuss the varied activities and accomplishments of United Church Women in several nearby communities. Mrs. E. Tyler Parkhurst of the Newton Centre Methodist Church, a former president of the Newton United Church Women, will be moderator for the panel which will include Mrs. George Sweet, Belmont; Mrs. Perley Roby, Medford; Mrs. John Barres, Watertown; and Mrs. Albert Smith, Waltham. Their discussion will be of special interest to 24 churches now members of the United Church Women of Newton, as well as to the guests invited from the non-member churches. A coffee hour will open the meeting at 1:45 p.m., with Mrs. Albert Cameron, Mrs. Frederat masking his inward feelings, and it is highly improbable that there will be any public expression of bitterness or rancor on his part toward the Governor.

But Powers also is staunch in his loyalties to his friends. He takes their blows as his, particularly when he feels they are being made targets because of their allegiance to him, and regardless of what he may say out in the open he doesn't forgive or forget quickly.

Tynan not only is Powers' friend; he comes pretty close to being the political protege of the Democratic Senate leader.

There may have been some personal differences between Speaker John F. Thompson and Representative Tynan when they served together in the House as Democratic floor leader and whip respectively.

It seems rather plain, however, that Tynan's demotion was aimed more at Powers than at Tynan. It has all the earmarks of an act of political vengeance, and it could prove to be extremely ill-advised, for Powers will be one of the key figures in this session of the Legislature.

The operation of cutting Tynan down, of dropping him from the position of Democratic whip and ousting him from the powerful House rules committee, was executed with Governor Furcolo's consent and possibly on his orders.

Representative Thompson, who was maneuvered into the Speakership by Furcolo at the cost of a clerkship for former Speaker Michael F. Skerry, would not take any step which would embarrass the Governor; nor would he make any major move without consulting the head of his party.

Whether the idea of humiliating Tynan and shifting him to the inconsequential power and light committee originated with Furcolo or with Thompson is a matter of some conjecture on Beacon Hill.

One school of thought is that Furcolo issued the order and Thompson carried it out. The second theory is that it was Thompson's idea and that he consulted with the Governor and obtained the latter's approval.

No one at the State House believes that the double-barreled rebuke to Tynan and Powers was administered without the wholehearted approval and consent of Governor Furcolo. Certainly, Powers and Tynan have been in politics long enough to know that the action had the Governor's assent.

The significance behind the move is that Representative Charles J. Artesani of Brighton is scheduled for a judicial appointment. In the normal course of events Tynan would have succeeded Artesani as the Democratic floor leader.

Now Tynan has been pushed down pretty nearly to the foot of the political class, and when Artesani steps out Representative Cornelius F. Kiernan of Lowell will become the Democratic floor leader.

It isn't any consequence to the voters of Massachusetts, except possibly for those of South Boston and Lowell, whether Tynan or Kiernan is the Democratic whip or which of the two serves on the powerful House rules committee.

What is of major importance, however, is that Governor Furcolo started his second year in office — an election year — on a note of bitterness within his own political party — bitterness which he himself created.

When Tynan came out publicly against the sales tax last year, he proffered his resignation as Democratic whip to Speaker Skerry since he had taken a stand opposite to that of the head of his party.

Skerry, who also was opposed to the sales tax, declined to accept the resignation and declared in effect that each legislator had a right to make up his own mind on the issue.

Tynan, however, isn't being given the heave-ho merely because he spoke and voted against the sales tax. At least, it wouldn't seem that was the reason because Kiernan also was against the sales tax, although not as vociferously as Tynan or Powers.

For what most observers on Beacon Hill can't understand is why Governor Furcolo, who nine months from now probably will be fighting for his political life, isn't undertaking to close the breaches in his own party instead of adding bitterness to the feuds which already exist.

Representative Tynan will not be able to control much more than his own vote during the legislative session until a single member of the State Senate. It will be very much ahead. Powers, however, will be the most interesting to watch his working relationship with Furcolo.

The statement made by Powers concerning Governor Furcolo's annual message didn't exactly reflect any unrestrained enthusiasm. Said the Senator:

"The Governor's annual message contains a frank presentation of problems of advancement in the various fields of our economy. In the main they pinpoint a Democratic philosophy approach to the possible solution."

"The Democratic party has advocated the adoption and extension of many of the recommendations in the past and will continue to support this type of legislation in the future."

Any resemblance between that statement and the ones Powers issued a few years ago in commenting on similar addresses by former Governor Paul A. Dever is strictly coincidental.

Thanks Graphic

Dear Sir:

The United Fund was a new concept in Greater Boston this year and required a good deal of interpretation. The coverage the Fund received in the Newton Graphic helped provide this needed interpretation.

The reports in your paper of the continued progress of the Drive, and of the local residents active in the campaign, helped spark the interest and support that was evident in Newton.

Thank you for your efforts throughout the entire year and especially during this campaign.

Sincerely yours,
O. Kelley Anderson,

National Shrine

Editor Newton Graphic

Dear Sir:

It is most incomprehensible, why there should be any doubt, or any debate on the subject of preserving the home of Dr. Samuel F. Smith on Centre street. This house is not a place of merely local interest. It is, and should be a National Shrine.

All citizens of Newton that feel themselves really Americans should be promoters for preservation. The land on which this house stands, adjoining, as it does, a public playground, in between, makes it all the easier, not to rezone this place for entirely commercial uses. We have already had too much re-zoning, for such, and quite a lack of interest in beautifying, what used to be called the "Garden City." Ere long we will lose that well-named title.

It seems the present generation "knows not Joseph." True, America was composed in Maine, was first sung in public in Park Street Church, Boston, now also an historic shrine. Is Newton to become the graveyard? It seems like a perverted National pride.

C. E. Simmonds.

Answers Alderman

Editor The Newton Graphic

Dear Sir:

The anonymous alderman whom you quoted as saying that the League of Women Voters was "definitely Democratic-dominated and a wing of the ADA" couldn't have been more wrong if he'd tried. The League is definitely non-partisan and does an extremely valuable job of throwing light on current important issues without ever supporting individual candidates or groups of candidates. The membership and officers of the League, as far as can be guessed in this land of the secret ballot, probably encompass all varieties of political views.

From the ADA point of view, the anonymous alderman's ignorance was exceeded only by his flattery. What a wing for a bird to have!

Sincerely yours,

(Mrs. James Fenn)

During recent years many new medical treatments have been perfected. Some of the diseases that have plagued mankind for ages have been conquered.

There are still more to be overcome, but in due time they, too, will be mastered. So many research physicians, scientists and chemists are devoting their lives to this work that truly no disease will eventually be impossible to cure.

We are glad that it is our privilege to share in this important work by supplying the medicines that fight disease.

Tigers Face Rindge and Jumpin' John Thomas in Saturday Meet

Newton tracksters, who were looking on as John Thomas of Rindge Technical High soared to what was probably a national indoor scholastic record of 6 feet 6 1/2 inches in the high jump last week, will get another look at Jumpin' John Saturday.

The Orangemen take on the 24-man Rindge squad Saturday with an eye toward dissolving a first place in the Met League. Division 1. After last Saturday's doings which saw Rindge taking the measure of Medford, and the local high school squad defeating Somerville 57-20, Rindge and Newton appear to be co-favorites for the indoor crown.

While boasting some very talented performers besides John Thomas, Rindge is spread pretty thin and must collect a lion's share of first places to hold its own in dual meets.

Against Somerville, Martin Beckwith was a double winner for the Tigers, taking the high jump at 5 feet, 11 inches, and the hurdles in 6.6 seconds. Larry Smith, Jim Yancey and Vin Cooney ran one-two-three in the 50-yard dash.

Actually Newton needed a bit of good fortune to come up to the Rindge meet tied for first place.

The good luck was forthcoming in the opening meet against Brookline.

Coach Ed Boyle's defending Met League champs took that one 43-34. The disqualification of Don Hootstein in the final event of the card — the relay — meant the difference.

Don was found guilty by the judges of an infraction as the batons were passed on the final lap.

Importance Of Following Master To Be Discussed

The vital importance of following the example of the Master, Christ Jesus, in our thoughts and actions will be emphasized Sunday at Christian Science services.

Keynoting the Lesson-Sermon entitled "Sacrament" is the Golden Text from I Corinthians (5:8): "Let us keep the feast, not with old leaven, neither with the leaven of malice and wickedness; but with the unleavened bread of sincerity and truth."

Selections to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include the following (37:22-25): "It is possible, —yea, it is the duty and privilege of every child, man, and woman, —to follow in some degree the example of the Master by the demonstration of Truth and Life, of health and holiness."

From the Bible will be read the following (Mark 16:15): "And he said unto them, Go, ye into all the world, and preach the gospel to every creature."

Dave Louis Spurt In 4th Period Gives Tigers Win

With Davis Louis supplying the example by dropping six fast points into the basket in the final period of play, Newton High stood off a determined Watertown threat to win its second straight Suburban Basketball League game—50-48.

The teams fought it out tooth and nail right up to the last stanza, opening the fourth period tied at 37 points apiece.

After four minutes of play in the finale the score stood 43-41.

Then Dave cut loose to give the Tigers a 49-43 lead. Watertown, with the advantage of its home gym and pleading balcony of home fans, battled right down to the final whistle, but when Fred Glover missed a lay-up with 30 seconds to go there was no chance for an overtime.

Louis led the point-makers of both clubs with 29.

School Session On January 12

The first session of the School of Home Missions sponsored by The First Baptist Church in Newton will be held in the church sanctuary at Beacon and Centre streets, Newton Centre, on Sunday evening, January 12, at 6:15. The Rev. E. Spencer Parsons, executive secretary of the Baptist Student Foundation and an outstanding leader in Christian work with college students, will lead a discussion on the theme, "Christ, the Church, and Race."

The evening's session will open with "A House for Marvin," a gripping one-act play about the struggle within a church congregation over the question of whether their elderly Negro janitor shall be allowed to buy a home in a "white" neighborhood near the church.

All sessions will be open to the public.

2 Goals Ruled Out as Tigers Lose to Melrose

Melrose dropped Newton's Tigers to a second place tie in the GBI hockey race with a 3-1 win at the Arena which might well have ended in a first-place deadlock with a little better protection for young Snooks Kelley in the Orange net and a little luck all around.

Jim Leonard scored Newton's only marker. It appeared that he had collected a second score in the first period with a drive from 12 feet out but the puck hit the centre post and caromed out. For some inexplicable reason no goal was allowed.

It was "no dice" in the second period, too, when Dave Blomberg gained control of a high pass and drove one home from near the boards 40 feet out.

The goal was also disallowed. They said Dave had taken a swipe at the puck with his glove.

Jim Meehan was the big gun for the title-holders, coming up with a pair of scores but Newton's Snooks Kelley, given a bit more assistance from his supporting cast, might well have been close to a shutout.

The summary:
Melrose High (3): Goal, Crosby; Defense, Trail, Gilbert; Forwards, Meehan, DiNardi, Kelley, Bingham, White, Fletcher.

Newton High (1): Goal, Kelley; Defense, Craig, Blomberg, Gosh; Forwards, Thompson, O'Loughlin, Leonard, Tormey, Keenan, Downing.

Goals: Meehan 2, DiNardi, Leonard. Assists, DiNardi 2, Kelley, O'Loughlin.

Dance Lessons Started at "Y"

The second semester of the Newton YMCA adult classes got under way this week with several new classes.

On Tuesday, a 10-week course in Ballroom Dancing was inaugurated under the expert instruction of Barbara and Bill Riley who also conduct the classes at the Huntington avenue branch YMCA.

On Wednesday night Forrest Maddix conducted a second class in beginning contract bridge. Mr. Maddix is also adding two new offerings: One, a course in advanced bridge playing which started Wednesday night and two, a special beginning bridge class for mothers on Thursday mornings at 10 a.m. There will be a baby-sitting service available for this morning class. All the bridge classes are of ten-weeks duration.

On Monday, January 13, this season's golf instruction will start with the following schedule of eight (8) hourly classes: 10 a.m., 11 a.m., 5:30 p.m., 6:30 p.m., 7:30 p.m. and 8:30 p.m.

John Oteri, instructing pro at the Wayland Country Club, will again be the head instructor and the John Hoyt Kent swing system will be continued to teach beginners and help improve the game of those who have been playing.

All of these classes are limited in the number of students in order that instructors can give individual attention.

Advanced written registration in courses is necessary so for further information call the adult division office of the Newton YMCA at BI 4-6050.

Newton C. of C. Dinner Meeting

An important, special reorganization dinner meeting of the Newton Chapter of Commerce will be held next Tuesday (Jan. 14), at 7 p.m. at the Commonwealth Country Club.

The Board of Directors has urged a large attendance and President Dwight Colburn in a letter to members declared,

"It is vital that you be present; if you cannot come, kindly delegate a representative of your firm as near to the 'top of the ladder' as possible—because he is representing you."

"Changing times bring changing methods in a Chamber of Commerce as in other areas of business life. As we have a brief, tight, personalized program planned, the Board of Directors has scheduled this first meeting for attendance only by members in the first of the four membership billing groups (January, April, July, October). Subsequent meetings will be held for the other billing groups."

Hold Card Party

Dr. Joshua Loth Liebman Chapter, Bnai Brith, of Newton, held a card party Tuesday evening (Jan. 7) at the Meadowbrook Junior high school. All games of cards, as well as Bingo, Scrabble, and Mah Jong were available.

Church Council Plans City-Wide Census Here

Plans were completed in a meeting at the Second Congregational Church in West Newton, this week for a city-wide religious census to be made by the Newton Council of Churches, starting Feb. 6.

The meeting was briefed by Dr. Alva I. Cox of the National Council of Churches, who described procedures as they have been worked out in various sections of the country. The nearest Greater Boston Community to have made such a census was Wakefield.

Householders during the survey will be asked the religious preferences of their families. President Ernest O. Seyforth of the Newton Council of Churches explains that the census is but one part of a census and teaching mission, "designed to seek out those with no definite local church affiliation, ascertaining their denominational preference and through lay evangelistic program of fellowship cultivation, enlist their participation in the life of a local church."

Results of the survey, he said, would be kept strictly confidential. Cards on each individual will be turned over to whatever church might follow up on them but no one else. Dr. Cox will return to Newton, Jan. 30 and stay until the census is completed.

The census taker will first ask a prospect whether he belongs to a church and, if so, what church. If he does not belong to any church he will then be asked questions which would indicate to what church he tends toward affiliation.

Census takers—there will be between 1500 and 2000—will then return to their churches or temples where boxes marked with the name of each church in the city will be lined up on a table.

The census-takers will distribute the cards into boxes for each church and these boxes will be given to the churches designated.

From these cards the churches will select local prospective members in the city. If the prospective family is a young couple, members of the church couples club will invite them to a meeting. If the family has young children, efforts will be made to bring them to Sunday school.

Twenty-three local churches and temples will participate.

Annual Police Listing Is Off to Excellent Start

Early progress in the exacting task of listing all residents of Newton 20 years and over by a squad of 12 police officers under direction of Captain Charles E. Walker indicates a possibility that the task may be completed in less than the usual six or seven weeks.

Officers making up the poll listing crew are Sergeant William J. Bell, Patrolmen James J. Kiley, Charles E. Duffey, Francis M. DeVito, John J. Coffey, Raymond J. Thibault, George J. Longbottom, Richard J. Nugent, Robert F. Mahoney, Eugene E. Paoletti, James J. McCarthy and Manley J. Kiley.

Captain Walker requests that the required information be made ready for the officer when he calls. The listing is being done by precincts, starting with Ward 1, Precinct 1 and will continue until the entire city is canvassed.

Residents who will be away from home are urged to fill in the cards which will be left in their mail boxes by the officers and mail them to the clerk's office at City Hall.

In addition to the usual data required by law, the officers are required to obtain the number of pre-school children in each household. They will also make a tab on the pet dogs in the city.

The following information is required: Name and address; citizenship; date of birth; veteran; occupation; residence on Jan. 1, 1957. All persons living at any given address on Jan. 1, 1958, must be listed even though they have died or moved since that date.

ACS Honors Six Newton Students

Six Newton students were among 25 outstanding chemistry majors in New England colleges who were honored at the annual Student Night program sponsored by the American Chemical Society.

Chosen to represent their schools at the program were: Dorothy Budz, 15 Traverse street, Newton (Emmanuel); Elaine Kerns, 45 Waban Hill road, Chestnut Hill (Emmanuel); Betty Lane, 14 Saxon drive, Newton Highlands (Framingham State Teachers College); David B. Mortenson, 41 Commonwealth avenue, Newton (Massachusetts College of Pharmacy); and Richard L. O'Laughlin, 14 Malvern terrace, Auburndale (Massachusetts College of Pharmacy).

Hear Talk on "How Moma Got Papa"

In accents reminiscent of Scandinavia, Mrs. Thyra Ferre Bjorn, now a resident of Longmeadow, Mass., spoke to members and friends of the Woman's Association at their annual guest evening in the Newton Highlands Congregational Church Parish Hall Tuesday.

Mrs. Bjorn, a most charming and interesting personality, is the wife of an American business man (also a native of Sweden), and a sister of Dr. Nils Ferre, who is Abbott Professor of Christian Theology at the Andover Newton Theological School in Newton Centre.

She was born in a small town in Sweden, where her father was a pastor. As a child she dreamed of becoming an author, and as she wrote verses and stories and worked in newspaper offices, later advancing to stories and articles published in this country, the dream became a reality. Her best-seller, "Papa's Wife," published in 1955, began as a family story to be passed down to her two daughters and grandchildren. Her second book, "Papa's Daughter," will be published in April of 1958.

Her talk, "How Papa Got Papa" centered around her parents and a family of ten in which inevitable crises are met with zest and good-will, the story of which provided many a hearty laugh. She appeared in her gay native Swedish costume.

Guzzi Says Committee Aldermen Don't Know What Goes On in City

Two Newton city workers charged at a legislative committee at the State House that some local Aldermen spend their days at work in Boston and are not always aware of Newton problems.

The employees, Alfred R. Guzzi and Henry F. Purcell, appeared before the committee in opposition to a bill which would let Newton voters decide whether Aldermen in the city should be barred from holding a city job while in office.

"I say and I think this bill is primarily aimed at me," Guzzi declared.

Guzzi is president of the foremen's and supervisors' unit and head of the City Hall Associates. He said he was the first city employee elected to the Newton Aldermanic board in 1934 when he was a school janitor. He said the city solicitor ruled he could hold the school post while serving on the board of Aldermen.

"I don't think they want me or anyone of my type," he told the legislative committee on cities. "Some Aldermen," he said, "take the train and go to Boston and they don't know what is going on. I think it is a very good thing that a city employee can be elected to office. City employees know what is going on. They know the different sections of the city."

Faces Charge Of Increasing Money Orders

Ralph W. Porter of 169 Hunnewell avenue, Newton, was held in $2500 in Federal District Court at Boston by Commissioner Francis H. Farrell on a charging of raising money orders.

Porter told the commissioner that he had been forced to raise postal money orders for at least a year because he could not find work after completing a State prison sentence.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Arlyne F. Hassett informed the court that Porter's scheme was to purchase $1 money orders and raise them to $91 or $97. She said he cashed the orders in Cambridge and elsewhere in Greater Boston by signing his own name to them.

Miss Hassett said the total — CHARGE —

Taxpayers Assn. Says Under-$50 Rate Is Possible

Shall Newton consider $50 the imaginary line at which to stop in the fixing of its 1958 tax rate? Or should the city step right past the $50 mark disregarding the psychological value of a ready-made halting place?

In the opinion of the Newton Taxpayers' Association, the city can hold the '58 rate below $50, if its residents really wish to do so. On the other hand, the Association points out there might be some telling arguments in favor of travelling past the $50 mark.

In its January Bulletin the Association cites both sides of the argument and presents in detail the reasons which might be given for and against.

The Association feels that by operating the city departments at their present service levels, holding the surplus account to an amount long recommended as adequate by the association, and, if necessary by curtailing one or more of the less urgent city activities, a 75-cent tax rate boost now appears to be all the new tax needed, it estimated.

The Bulletin points out that opponents of a tax rate increase maintain that the $50 tax rate makes a fine psychological barrier; a good stopping place.

Pressure Mounting for New Ordinance to Prohibit Dogs From Running Loose in City

Pressure for the adoption of a full-time leash law to restrict the activities of Newton dogs is mounting in all sections of the city.

Delegates to the Newton PTA Council voted 14-1 at their last meeting to urge the Board of Aldermen to enact such an ordinance.

The PTA Council now is advocating a more far-reaching measure than was sought last year, when the Aldermen refused to adopt a statute which would have banned the city's canines from playgrounds and school yards and buildings.

The restriction now proposed would be city-wide in scope. If adopted, it would mean that Fido would cease to trot Newton streets at will in the future and would do all his sightseeing away from his home back yard on the end of a leash.

A very large number of persons in all sections of Newton have declared their support of the PTA proposal and have indicated their intention of rallying behind it.

They assert that the ordinance — COUNCIL —

Prizes And Culinary Treats To Highlight 1958 Cooking School

One of the annually sponsored local events with definite appeal to the distaff side, the gala Newton Graphic-Boston Gas Company Cooking School will be held on Thursday, January 23, at the Masonic Building, 460 Newtonville Avenue, starting at 1 o'clock. Classes will start at 1:45 p. m.

Instruction in time-saving meals and the preparation of foods of particular eye and taste appeal will be features of the event. The talented Jeanne Ambuter will be mistress of ceremonies.

In charge of the novel cooking school is Miss Susan Mack, head of the Home Service Department of Boston Gas, and her staff of experts, who are no strangers to women of this area. They talk to some 80,000 women each year, and in the last year alone passed out more than 100,000 excitingly different recipes to women all over New England who requested them.

Miss Mack's panel of experts are constantly experimenting with new recipes and food stuffs. As part of their program they are in constant touch with the — SCHOOL —

Seeks Doctor Who Saved Her Life in Storm

Mrs. Eve Kane Weiss of 822 Commonwealth avenue, Newton Centre, is looking for a young doctor. She wished to say "Thank You" to him.

Mrs. Weiss is convinced she would not be alive today if it were not for the young doctor. She was hurled from her car during a snowstorm in Connecticut last month. She lay helpless in the snow, victim of a fractured pelvis.

"When I came to," she relates, "this young doctor was by my side. If he hadn't spotted me I'm sure I would either have been run over by another car or have been frozen to death."

"Jaycee Week" By Junior Chamber To Start Sunday

The week of Jan. 19-Jan. 25 will be observed as Jaycee Week by members of the Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce Albert C. Horton, president, announced this week.

Jaycee Week is held annually beginning with the third Sunday in January in observance of the founding of the United States Junior Chamber of Commerce on Oct. 13, 1915. Each year, local Jaycee chapters use this week as an opportunity to more fully inform the public and new members of the aims and ideals of the organization, leadership training through community service.

The Newton Jaycees have incorporated three tenets of their Jaycee Creed in scheduling some of their activities to be carried on during this week. Believing that: "Faith in God gives meaning and purpose to human life," all members of the local chapter have pledged attendance at their own church of worship on Sunday; believing that: "Government should be of laws rather than of men," the membership of the Newton Jaycees will attend the meeting of the Newton Board of Al-

POLITICAL OVERTONES

By JAMES G. COLBERT

Herter Shapes Up As Strong Contender for Governorship

Back in the spring of 1950 a group of young Republicans waited upon Christian A. Herter, Jr., and urged that he enter the race for the GOP nomination for Governor.

They told Herter that while he probably would be defeated, he was still the strongest candidate the GOP could put up against the then Governor Paul A. Dever and that he might pull the House of Representatives back into the Republican column.

The unusual aspect of the representations made to the younger Herter was that although he was regarded as one of the outstanding political prospects in the Republican party he had not run for public office up to that time, but had been active in his father's campaign.

Herter was willing to make any sacrifice within his power for the GOP in its time of need, and he gave long and careful consideration to the proposals and requests that he enter the gubernatorial race.

Young Mother Of Two Gets Nod As Stand-In For Star

A young Newtonville mother, winner of a number of beauty contests, has been chosen to serve as a stand-in for movie star Rhonda Fleming in the filming of the Boston scenes of "Home Before Dark."

She is 24-year-old Mrs. Monroe Carder of 313 Cabot street, who was selected for the role from a bevy of 300 Greater Boston beauties.

A second Newton girl—Phyllis Liverman of Newton Centre—will be one of the stand-ins for Jean Simmons in the same picture.

Not One Case of Polio In Newton During 1957

Not a single case of polio was reported in Newton during 1957.

Compared with the city's record of 100 cases during the height of the epidemic here a few years ago, the remarkable showing attests the effectiveness of the Salk vaccine, medical men pointed out.

In citing the clean-record report, Dr. Henry W. Godfrey, acting director of Public Health, once again urged those under 40, who have not had Salk vaccine injections to obtain them at once.

Free Salk vaccine may be obtained from the State Department of Public Health until March 1 for persons up to 40. After that date free vaccine will be available only for pregnant women and infants. There is still time to obtain the fuller series of three anti-polio shots before the next polio season, Dr. Godfrey points out.

The comparison of communicable diseases in Newton between the years of 1956 and 1957 is shown in the following chart:

Chicken Pox	661	411

Finds Intruder in Home On Return from Church

When James R. Campbell of 206 Church street, Newton, returned home from church last Sunday, he was astonished to find an uninvited visitor in his living room.

The intruder, Paul Thompson, alias George Williams, aged 53, of 198 West Springfield street, Boston, claimed he had been looking for a friend who lived at another number on Church street.

When Williams left the Campbell home, Campbell immediately called Newton police headquarters, reported the incident, and described the man he had found in his living room.

Patrolmen James Rogers and Francis M. Barry arrested Williams on Adams street a short time later.

Chief Perkins Opens His Mail With A Smile

Hardly a week goes by without someone attesting the efficiency and superb know-how of the Newton Fire department. This week Fire Chief Frederick A. Perkins, Jr., received two letters of commendation for his department's work. One, from Alderman Theodore D. Mann reads as follows: "Please accept my deepest and most warm-felt appreciation at the speed and efficiency with which your department responded to what could have been probably a most tragic fire on Tinson Path, Oakhill Park. "It is certainly a great comfort to know that the safety of our homes and loved ones are in such competent hands." A second from Archibald

Cystic Fibrosis Drive Underway During January

A march for Cystic Fibrosis was conducted in Oak Hill Park and other areas of Newton last Sunday by a group of women organized here to help raise funds to fight the dread disease. These women headed by Mrs. Carol Schiff, of 166 Wiswell Road, Newton Centre, have formed a Newton Branch of Cystic Fibrosis. The month of January has been designated as "Fund Raising Month" and all donations will be gratefully received. This local group, none of whom have afflicted children, except one, formed the local branch in October of last year and are dedicated to raising money for research in the campaign against the malady.

Cystic Fibrosis affects both the lungs and the pancreas of stricken children who live on the brink of a recurrent lung infection which may prove fatal. The Boston Children's Medical Center is one of ten Cystic Fibrosis research centers in the country. At Children's Hospital, Dr. Harry Shwachman, of Newton Centre, and his staff labor tirelessly to find a cure or control the disease.

3 Rugged Lads Have Night Out In Igloo

Three doughty young Newton lads, each 13 years old, faced up to Old Man Winter in rugged pioneer - or rather eskimo style - this week, and while the experience was chalked up as "fun" it only emphasized the allure of a comfortably heated house and Mom's home-cooked meals.

Kenneth Gleason and Sam Clark, both of Garden Road, and John Simpson, of 650 Center street, erected a huge "igloo" in the Simpson yard and proceeded to spend Monday night "icing out" in the structure.

Large enough to stand erect in, the igloo was provided with illumination from electric batteries. The boys stayed in the igloo from 8:30 p.m. Monday until 7 a.m. Tuesday, when Mrs. Simpson called them to prepare for school at Bigelow Junior High. They used sleeping bags during the night.

They had prepared their igloo rations the night before but Mom Simpson's steaming breakfast and a comfortably heated house offered an exciting prospect for the pioneer trio.

The boys were somewhat numbed when they emerged after the "night out" and were unanimous that the stunt didn't offer any immediate prospects of a repeat performance.

since they are requesting would not be detrimental to dogs and quote leading experts on dogs as maintaining that the canines for their own good should not be allowed to run loose in a city such as Newton.

The 141 vote for a full-time leash law was taken at a meeting of the PTA Council held in the old Pierce School. It was cast on a motion by Joshua Guberman of Newton Centre.

Mrs. Charles Robinson, chairman of the PTA Council's legislative committee and a fervent advocate of something less than total freedom of movement for Newton's dog population, was one of the speakers at the meeting.

She told the delegates that the defeat last year of a measure, which would have curbed the activities of dogs in the vicinity of schools and playgrounds, was due in part, at least, to the belief that laws already on the books are adequate to meet the situation. That has proved to be an erroneous assumption, Mrs. Robinson added.

It's an impression the Council will seek to overcome this year. The Council doesn't believe that the present laws are adequate at all. They point out that, as now written, the law deals only with vicious dogs.

And Council members believe that playful, romping dogs, dogs that slobber over with affection and dogs on mischief are a nuisance and danger to school children.

President Hugh Tomb of the Underwood School PTA was the sole dissenter in the 141 vote. He said that while he had not consulted with board members of his school on the subject, he felt sufficient effort had not been made by individual dog owners to curb their pets during school hours. Mr. Tomb is the father of three children, aged 5, 7 and 9, and the owner of one dog.

Prescott Brown, an observer at the meeting, sought and was granted permission to speak. "The dogs are with us," said Mr. Brown, "why not teach children how to get along with dogs? The answer lies in the education of the children."

Representatives of the city's letter carriers were not on hand. Nor did anyone turn up to offer official approval of a full-time canine leash law in behalf of Newton's feline population.

The meeting, a regular session, heard reports of the various school PTA delegates on the votes of the board members in each school PTA.

The vote broke down like this: Cabot School district — 20 for full time law; 9 for part-time; 1 opposed to leashes. Hyde School — 20 for full time leash; 25 for part-time; 5 opposed to leash-restraint.

Meadowbrook Junior — Unanimous vote for restraint of some kind; no specific recommendation.

Spaulding School — Unanimous vote that something be done; will support part or full-time law.

Davis School — Unanimous vote in favor of restraint; majority favor full-time law.

Cliff School — 3-1 sentiment for some kind of restraining law.

Horace Mann School — No problem; no vote.

Pierce School — in favor of some sort of restraint.

Bigelow School — Will back part or full-time leash law.

Mason School — Eight in favor of part-time law; seven opposed to leashes, with belief expressed city officials ought to address themselves to further study of whole matter.

Girl Scouts To Challenge Leaders at Annual Meeting

Newton Girl Scouts will challenge their adult leaders in a unique program scheduled to highlight the 10th Annual Meeting of the Newton Girl Scout Council Monday, January 27, it was announced today by Miss Adelaide Ball, chairman.

The dinner meeting, which will be held at the High School of the Church of Our Lady, Washington Street, Newton, will provide Senior Scouts the opportunity to demonstrate the "self-help" they learn in their troops, as they serve as hostesses and waitresses as well as participants in the panel discussion, "Problems Confronting Scouting Today."

Urging all members of the Council, both men and women, to attend, Miss Ball pointed out that by doing this they will "extend the hand of encouragement to our hard-working Newton Girl Scouts and their dedicated adult mentors."

Panel members will examine Girl Scouting's vital role and problems in today's demanding world.

Reservations for dinner, at $1.50 per plate, must be received by the Council office, 6 Hartford St., Newton Highlands, by January 21. Registration will take place at 6:15 p.m. and dinner at 6:30. Those unable to be present for dinner are invited to attend the balance of the evening's program, beginning at eight o'clock.

The business meeting will consist of a neighborhood roll call, report of the Membership Nominating Committee, adult service awards and color ceremony, in addition to the panel. Senior Scout Troops 8 and 11 will serve as waitresses, Troop 115 as hostesses, and Troop 15 will conduct the color ceremony.

Members of Miss Ball's committee are: Mrs. Thomas J. Lepore, Mrs. Samuel Handler, Mrs. Thomas S. Derr, Mrs. Stanley T. Johnson, Mrs. Russell Broad, Mrs. Carl H. Alvord, Miss Ursula Hayden, and Mrs. John Litwack.

Scout members of the panel will be: Betty Andersen, moderator; Barbara Williams, Rosemary Shannon, Joanne Shinnick, Barbara Hayes, and Carole Berberain. Adult participants are: Mrs. Stanley T. Johnson, moderator; Mrs. Joseph S. Kaufman, Mrs. Harry Shain, Mrs. Louis S. Grace.

"Newton Scouts comprise a proud and vigorous chapter of the Girl Scout organization," Miss Ball stated. "In Scouting our girls develop today the resourcefulness and trustworthiness which will make them the responsible citizens of our democracy tomorrow."

"Let us give them our support, and better acquaint ourselves with their aims and problems."

Charge-

amount involved may be over $50,000 but Porter doesn't know and kept no records. She claimed the Newton man admitted raising from 400 to 500 postal money orders.

Porter waived hearing of a complaint.

"What did you do with all that money?" Commissioner Farrell asked.

"I used it to buy radio and phonographic equipment for the shop," was the answer. Hasset worked in a Cambridge radio and phonograph shop.

When issued, the money orders bore an imprint, "not over two dollars." Authorities allege Porter removed the imprint with a chemical and substituted one reading, "not over $100."

8 New Traffic Rules Made Effective After State Okay

The new rules are as follows: Left turns are banned for vehicles going west on Washington street onto Washington street at West Newton Sq.

Spends Holidays Here

Miss Susan Waine, a junior at House in the Pines, Norton, was at home for the Christmas vacation. She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Hans Waine, of 51 Hampshire St., West Newton.

Alderman-

Support for the measure was voiced by Newton City Solicitor Matt B. Jones. He represented Newton Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., sponsor of the bill, which was first advocated by the Board of Aldermen.

Jones said he didn't consider it "proper" for a city employee sitting on the Aldermanic board have to vote on matters affecting his own salary.

Jones admitted that the bill, in effect, would stop a city employee from running for the board unless he had an independent income to tide him over while serving without salary as Alderman.

Earle Wood, chairman of the Aldermanic finance board, said a majority of the 21-member unpaid board last year approved the bill, with only a single dissenting vote.

He said the present provision allowing city employees to run for office while holding their city jobs causes a conflict of interest "that could be to the detriment of the city."

"How can a department head supervise employees in his department if he knows they are going to be sitting over him when he comes in for appropriations?" Wood asked.

Rep. George E. Rawson of Newton described the bill as a "home rule" measure to let Newton voters decide on the matter. Rawson said the only way Newton could change its charter is to get sanction from the legislature to put the issue on the ballot in the November election.

Opposition to the bill was voiced by Henry F. Purcell, who said he represented 500 Newton workers. He said they feel the bill attempts to "rate them as second-rate citizens. We have had Aldermen holding down two city positions before and I don't think the city was any worse for it," he asserted.

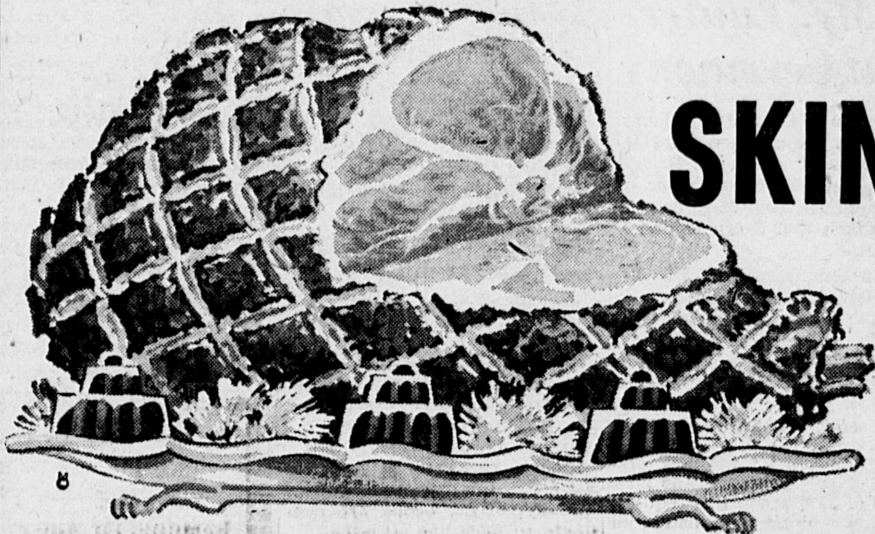

"Many Aldermen in Newton now go from home to train and from train to home and they don't know what's going on until meeting nights," Purcell declared.

Survival Is Not Enough

Compared even to the so-called "normal" years which preceded the discovery of the Salk vaccine, the incidence of polio in Massachusetts last year was practically negligible.

There is reason to believe today that all the nationwide expressions of gratitude which hailed original announcement of the discovery were based on a sound foundation.

The Salk vaccine has given us control of one of the most dread diseases man knows.

Its discovery must be ranked as one of the most tremendous advances made by medical science — one of the top achievements of this 20th Century which has given man the satisfaction of winning many achievements.

We are now embarked on another March of Dimes.

This is the 20th anniversary of the original March. During the month of January dimes and dollars will be sought in every city and town and every village and hamlet in the State.

Is it necessary in this post-Salk era?

The answer is an emphatic "Yes." It is very necessary. It was the March of Dimes that instigated the massive vaccination program of the past two years which has lifted the threat of polio paralysis from millions of lives.

And before that it was the March of Dimes which made possible the discovery of the Salk vaccine.

The March of Dimes has won the right to an endorsement from a grateful America.

But something more than an endorsement and a thank you is implied in the current March of Dimes.

Fact of the matter is that it is needed—badly needed. For paralytic polio has left in its wake a heartbreaking toll of human disability. There are 4123 residents of Massachusetts who suffered from its ravages. Some are still entombed in iron lungs; many are imprisoned in wheel chairs. Still more face a lifetime doomed to futility.

Are they to be abandoned?

The tragedy of abandonment is unthinkable. Many of those still disabled need not live a useless life. Many can be released from the hospitals, freed from the iron lungs, lifted from wheel chairs.

Many can be taught to walk again, use their arms and hands, to rejoin their families, to recover their capabilities for gainful occupation.

That is what the March of Dimes still has to do. This is the meaning of the 1958 theme — "Survival is not enough."

Can the March of Dimes perform the new, the bigger, more humanitarian job that still remains unfinished? It is up to you to give the answer with your contribution.

Polio finished? Not until the last victim has been given the ultimate benefits of human ingenuity, the richest fruit of scientific knowledge. Not until tens of thousands of young Americans are given their chance to become once again whole human beings, realizing the full potential that remains within them.

That is the final meaning of Survival Is Not Enough. This is the kind of human sympathy, human fellowship, human care you give when you contribute to the 1958 March of Dimes.

Political Overtones

In the end, after consulting some of the top party leaders, Herter decided he could not accomplish anything for his political party by standing for the Governorship and instead sought and achieved election to the State Legislature, starting a bright career of his own.

Two years later, a group of Republican leaders waited upon Herter's father, then one of the foremost members of Congress, and persuaded him to give up his seat on Capitol Hill and launch an uphill fight against Paul A. Dever — a battle that was to end in a spectacular victory.

After the senior Herter's election the younger Herter found that the father-son situation, with one in the Governorship and the other in the House of Representatives, came pretty close to being untenable.

Whatever the then Representative Herter did or said was considered to reflect the position of his father.

At the end of the 1953 legislative session, Herter resigned from his position in the House and went Washington, largely because he felt that was the best thing to do from his father's standpoint.

In Washington, where he was able to stand on his own feet and his own ability, he quickly gained respect and prestige in his own right. He served for one year as administrative assistant to the Vice President and for two years as general counsel for the important Foreign Operations Administration.

In 1956, when he learned his father was planning to retire from the Governorship, he came back to Massachusetts and made a spectacular run for the Executive Council. In some sections of his Councilor district he polled a bigger vote than did President Eisenhower who was sweeping the State and the nation in his bid for a second term.

Now, approximately eight years after the time that a group of young Republicans sought to draft him as a gubernatorial candidate, Herter has set his sights on the Governorship.

He is striking out for the office his father held for four years because he has been convinced that he would be the strongest contender the Republican party in Massachusetts can match against Governor Furolo.

There is no question but that Herter would be a very attractive candidate if he gains the right to run as the GOP gubernatorial standard-bearer.

Survival IS NOT ENOUGH Join THE MARCH OF DIMES

He has the vigor and enthusiasm of youth. He looks younger than he is. He will observe his 40th birthday next week.

He is a liberal Republican who has made an excellent record in the public offices he has held.

He graduated with honors from Harvard College, where he attained membership in Phi Beta Kappa, and was one of the top men in his class at the Harvard Law School.

His war record was outstanding. He was in the thick of the fighting in the European theatre of operations in World War II, was wounded in action and decorated for valor. He enlisted in the army as a private and was discharged a major.

Add to those assets the fact that he has color, is a fine speaker, makes a good appearance on the stump, and has a name that is known across Massachusetts, and you have most of the requisites needed in a candidate for high public office.

All that doesn't necessarily mean that Herter will be the Republican nominee for Governor next November.

He was the first GOP gubernatorial candidate to declare his intentions, and his announcement came as a tremendous surprise in political circles.

But Attorney General George Fingold and former Speaker Charles Gibbons have been campaigning for months without the formality of any announcement.

It is reasonable to assume that they had some delegates lined up even before Herter decided to make the run for the Governorship and that they have a head start on the Executive Council. Whether he can overtake them at the pre-primary Republican State convention in June is something time alone will tell.

This year will be the first in more than two decades in which the Republican party in Massachusetts will have a real convention battle for gubernatorial endorsement.

There was, of course, a knock-down primary for the GOP nomination for Governor back in 1950. But since the convention system was restored in 1852 the selection of the gubernatorial standard-bearer has been decided upon before the delegates even were called to order.

Under Secretary of State Herter was officially unopposed for the nomination in 1952, although some of Sumner G. Whittier's followers insisted on placing his name in nomination and voting for him. Whittier actually was a candidate for Lieutenant Governor at the time.

In 1954 Herter was renominated by acclamation, and Whittier gained the nomination in similar manner in 1956.

This year, however, the convention delegates really will have a major fight to settle.

It is generally assumed that the Republicans will resolve their battles at their June convention and that there will be no conflict carried over into the September primary.

Attorney General Fingold has been nominated three times at party conventions but was never challenged in subsequent primary, although Republican leaders had to invoke stern party discipline when one unsuccessful convention contender talked of opposing Fingold in the 1952 primary.

Herter and Gibbons are also both the stamp of Republicans who would be likely to abide by the decision of a convention, whether it was for or against them.

It's possible, of course, that the convention delegates themselves might insist that the candidates stand or fall on the decision of the conclave and reject any contender who refused to do so, but it's improbable any such action would be necessary.

What most Republican leaders will endeavor to do in the coming weeks will be to reach a decision as to whether Herter, Fingold or Gibbons would be the strongest candidate against Governor Furolo next November.

While it is commonly assumed that Furolo has lost substantial strength during the year he has been in office, some factors may be militating in his favor when he stands for reelection next autumn.

There are some indications that a Democratic tide may be running throughout the nation as a result of public dissatisfaction with the Eisenhower administration over the fact that the United States so far, at least, has not kept abreast with Soviet Russia in the race for the control of outer space.

Whether that feeling will still exist nine months from now or whether it would make any impact upon a gubernatorial election, if it does, are questions it is difficult to answer.

One thing which is certain is that Bay State Republicans will want to move into the 1958 election war with the strongest standard-bearer they can get at the head of their State ticket.

Some GOP leaders predict that Herter, Gibbons and Fingold will all wind up on their State slate. They believe that one of the three following combinations might be picked by the convention:

1. Herter for Governor, Gibbons for Lieutenant Governor and Fingold for Attorney General.
2. Gibbons for Governor, Herter for Lieutenant Governor and Fingold for Attorney General.
3. Fingold for Governor, Gibbons for Lieutenant Governor and Herter for Attorney General.

Whatever may be the case, recent developments have shaped up some interesting decisions for Bay State Republicans.

Zealous Campaigning Marked Ward 8 Aldermanic Contest

By PHYLLIS NEWTON

(This is the third and final article on the backgrounds and campaign techniques of new members of the Board of Aldermen)

The Ward 8 race, with its many ramifications and its intense campaigning by virtually all the candidates, is a story in itself.

Rumor has it that a Brandeis professor has asked for permission to write a thesis on the significance of the hard-fought battles in Newton's new eighth ward, where the aldermanic and school board contests served as a revealing political microcosm.

Topping the ticket in a field of five for ward alderman was Theodore Mann of 49 Marvin Lane who polled 976 votes. Fewer than 5000 votes were involved, and each separate one was fought for by the three top contenders who waged campaigns worthy of a gubernatorial contest.

Mann, a friendly and aggressive 35-year-old insurance agent, reports that he cut his teeth on politics. His father, was the "last Republican elected to the general court from Boston's Ward 14".

Popular In Park

Long civic-minded, Mann has been active in the community affairs of Oak Hill Park, and is currently serving as president of the Roxbury Kiwanis Club.

Mann styles himself a broken-ticket Republican. He did not have the nod from the official party organization in his ward; nor was he endorsed by the Civic Association, but he landed on top anyway.

Official choice of the Republican brass was Jack Roberts, a capable and personable civic leader in Oak Hill who also had the Civic Association endorsement. He ran second with 880 votes.

High Calibre Men

Stanley Rudman, an able attorney with an intensely loyal following, came in third with 498 votes. Both of these men campaigned long and diligently. Both were clear thinkers and good speakers and appeared to have a good deal to offer the city, but only one job was open.

Fourth in the five-way contest was Paul Blank, who garnered 124 votes, and Melvin Ravech, who withdrew prior to the actual voting, polled 80 votes.

Mann, victor by 96 votes, has lived in Oak Hill Park for seven years. He grew up in Dorchester and Brookline and took a pre-legal course at B.U. and B.C. nights before entering the Coast Guard. In 1956 he founded his own general insurance agency which he continues to operate in Boston.

His campaign was started in May, 1957, when the new ward lines became a certainty, a full seven months before election day! He and his campaign manager held a meeting of fifteen interested people, at which a schedule was mapped out and the entire Oak Hill area divided into districts. Each had a captain responsible for enlisting workers and calling on the voters.

Into High Gear

As the time for filing papers drew near, Mann had enlisted 80 volunteers in Oak Hill Park (the veterans' housing area where his main strength lay), and 150 workers in the ward as a whole.

This personal organization was apparently the key to his success. Not that the other candidates did not have any, but either that his was larger or more personal did the trick.

Four large houseparties were held as a means of getting further acquainted. Mann feels their chief benefit is in interesting people in the local political picture and possibly to enlist additional workers.

Overlooked Nothing

His organization undertook two separate mailings, one general and ward-wide and another more selective. Car stickers were used and an energetic telephone campaign was conducted.

By 6 a.m. election day, Mann reports he had received over 20 phone calls from supporters volunteering to give up a day's work and campaign in whatever ways were needed. By his actual count, 45 people worked for his cause on election day.

He himself spent six hours outside the Countryside School shaking hands. He considered this his weakest area and felt a last-minute push would be in order. It may have been responsible for some of the 90-odd votes that put him over the top.

Schools Must Excel

Newton could do with some improvements, the new alderman feels, in the areas of civil defense and recreation for teenagers. He also favors the installation of voting machines a few at a time.

In answer to a question at the L.V.V. candidates' meeting, Mann said Newton should continue to strive for perfection in its schools and if this meant paying top salaries and raising the tax rate, he would go along with it.

The battle for the alderman-at-large posts in Ward 8 was not quite so intensely fought. Incumbent and board chairman

$688,589 Was Low Bid Quoted on New Mason-Rice School

Only $6000 separated the three lowest bidders for the contract to construct the replacement for the Mason and Rice Schools in Newton Centre. A total of 20 bidders participated.

The competition and the fact that contractors are not busy at this time of the year helped to give the city a favorable position.

The Purchasing Department reported the opening of bids for the nine sub-contracts of an addition to the Countryside School, Newton Highlands.

Lowest bidder for the contract to construct the 20-classroom Mason-Rice was Tocci Brothers Company, of 38 Colonial avenue, Newtonville, at $688,589. The next two lowest bidders were the Wexler Construction Company of 118 Needham street, Newton Highlands, $693,963, and the N.D.C. Construction Company, 124 Shawmut avenue, Boston, $694,500. The highest of the 20 bids was $808,000.

Purchasing Agent Thomas J. Forde listed the following low bids for sub contracts for the Countryside School addition:

Waterproofing, Patrick Ross Company, $3640; roofing and sheet metal, Federal Sheet Metal and Roofing Company, $4981; steel windows and metal

"It's June in January"

...at least we wish it was, so this week I shopped for the brightest, gayest ideas in the stores... First prize for being utterly feminine and light hearted goes to a pair of pink eye glass frames at the Newton Centre Opticians... They had a soft mother of pearl look, and were set with clusters of aurora borealis stones that glitter with a thousand hues... They would be a sensation on that cruise or at a cocktail party... Perfect for any evening or dressy affair...

Here is a clever idea that will be a winner with a bride-to-be and her family... Most brides have very definite ideas on planning a home... and whether it is to be conventional, ultra modern or following the trend to early American design... it is so much easier for relatives and friends to select a gift if they are sure about her decorative scheme... If she visits the Allet Gift Shop in Newtonville, they will be happy to keep her name on file, to make suggestions of gifts that will be sure to please... Some families like to have the girl select her patterns in china and silver and any member of the family who wishes can give her place settings or companion pieces... It makes it so much nicer to give a gift you know will thrill them.

Talk about being thrilled... I am so excited... A friend of mine gave me two Hummel pictures from the calendar and I am going to have them framed... There must be lots of lovely pictures from last year's calendars and greeting cards that would be beautiful if framed... I can hardly wait to have an opportunity to bring them to the Sumner Frame Shop.

There is a delightful collection of antique jewelry and novelties at the House of Aron... You will be fascinated by the old perfume atomizers, cut glass dishes, and boudoir sets... One interesting item has a musical cap for a decanter that chimes "How dry I am" as it is tipped to pour...

Didn't it do your heart good to see the Toro Snow Thrower go to work after that storm... Why it tossed those drifts aside without any effort, and no sprained back and aching muscles as an aftermath either. Don't tell me that you didn't get down to Clapper's to see this fabulous answer to snow and all outdoor chores... The power is in the handle, and if you buy one now you will be prepared for the next snow storm and come spring, it will only take you minutes to convert it into a lawn mower or sprayer.

Adding variety to the menu is a sure way to perk up jaded spirits and appetites... Have you learned the secret of famous chefs... Ask one... He will tell you that for extra taste treats cook with pure olive oil... and when you buy olive oil... by it at Capriccio's where you can buy the best imported oils, by the gallon... If you are not acquainted with this family market... look for them on rte. 9 or call on the phone... They will be happy to take your order and deliver it for you... I am sure you will appreciate their service in this weather...

We went to the Blue Hills Ski Slope to watch the youngsters last Sunday and it looked like so much fun... I can easily see why the proper clothing is so important to them... If you have ski enthusiasts at your house, remind them that the Newton Sports Center has everything they will need in Franconia Ski Wear, and the thermo underwear... that keeps them warm without being bulky... Of course the hockey players will be glad to know that they have skates and equip-

Congregational Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Newton Highlands Congregational Church will be held tomorrow (Friday) at 7:45 p.m. in Founders Hall. A social hour will follow the meeting, with refreshments being served by the Executive Board of the Woman's Association, Mrs. Frank I. Black, president.

A special service of dedication will be held for all officers and committee members of the church at the regular service at 10:45 a.m. this Sunday.

ment for them also... Nothing is guaranteed to give you a lift like a visit to Anthony's Beauty Salon... Relax in the modern atmosphere... feel refreshed with the amazing new dryers... and get a new look, with a hair style designed just for you.

Say... have you heard the exciting news about the shop that is opening on Langley Rd... Shhhhhh... don't tell a soul... but I heard that there is a beautiful slim "new you" in the future...

Something to think about... Good luck has a strange habit of happening to those who work hard for it...

With Newton's valuations at 10 to 15 per cent higher than those of surrounding communities it should be able to hold, and the city just got an unexpected extra $170,000 from the State, it asserted.

The Bulletin points out that 1958 is a logical time to hold the tax line, because land use and capital improvement needs are now under study.

Other sources of income should be found, the Bulletin points out, suggesting a charge for the use of sewers, which would enable the city to get new revenue from properties now or wholly exempt from the real estate tax.

The Bulletin suggests holding off on expenditures for education to see whether outside financial aid will be available before 1959, and suggests that the city consider curtailing other services, such as cutting or eliminating street acceptance.

On the other hand, the Bulletin points out, that a $50 limit on the tax rate is not unrealistic in itself and that it is unrealistic to stand still on programs now being developed.

The Bulletin said that Newton people have the capacity to pay for good services and will pay for what they want.

dermen on Monday, January 20, and believing that: "Service to humanity is the best work of life," the members have scheduled a program of assistance with the Newton Boys' Club. Members of the Jaycees in charge of these activities are John Stevens, Giles Mosher, and Samuel Clapper. Also, a social program has been scheduled during the week for the members and their wives who are members of the Newton Jayettes, Mrs. Edward V. Garland, Jr., president.

President Horton has also stated, "that where Jaycees gain leadership training by taking part in the affairs of their community, Junior Chamber also offers what is lacking in most fields, that is the opportunity to make mistakes and to profit by same."

With such projects as Junior Golf and Junior Tennis, the safe driving program called Teen-Age Road-co, the essay program Voice of Democracy, the Christmas Shopping Tour and others, all members have an opportunity to lend their efforts towards making Newton a community where young men may serve by active participation. Whereas the Newton Jaycees are taking an active part in the community life, we ask all young men who are interested in these fields of endeavor to join with the officers and 50 members of the Newton Junior Chamber of Commerce during our Jaycee Week activities. Vice President, John Stevens, 95 Spiers Road, Newton Centre, has been appointed Jaycee Week membership chairman and will discuss with all interested young men between the ages of 21 and 35 the various programs conducted by the Jaycees and how membership in this group may be obtained. President Horton concluded.

The following activities for Jaycee Week have been arranged: Sunday—Church Services; Monday—Board of Aldermen Meeting; Tuesday—Orientation Meeting; Wednesday—Service to Humanity Night; Thursday—Bowling Group Social; Friday—Tobogganing Party, Newton Centre.

Auburndale Club Shows Fine Old Antique Items

'Mayor of Thompsonville' Leaves Most of His Estate for Chapel

Terms of the will of Florangelo Gasbarri, affectionately known for many years as the "Mayor of Thompsonville," provide that almost his entire estate shall be used to build a chapel to St. Antonio di Padua on his property on Boylston st., Newton Centre.

In the will filed for probate in Middlesex Court, the late marketman and philanthropist, asked for the establishment of a trust fund for the purpose of erecting a church, chapel or shrine on the property.

Appraisal of the value of the estate has not been completed. Mr. Gasbarri owned two business blocks. One was on Langley road at Jackson street. The other is represented by the Boylston street parcel, where he made his home for years.

His will names as trustee James F. Stanton of 12 Piety Corner road, Waltham, William F. Wragg of 159 Jackson st., Newton, and Lionel T. Cohen of 39 Vaughn avenue, Newton Highlands.

The discretion of the trustees will govern the type of the proposed construction and the time of its erection.

If the trustees are unable to obtain the consent of the Archdiocese of Boston for the construction of a chapel, they are directed to spend up to $4,000 to purchase a bronze statue of St. Antonio di Padua and present it to Sacred Heart Church, Newton Centre, in memory of the deceased and his late wife, Domenica.

The will then directs that the remainder of the estate be used to pay hospital bills at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Brighton, for any poor, destitute or needy person from the city of Newton.

The trustees are to decide who fits this category.

Mr. Gasbarri had no children and his nearest relatives are nephews, none of whom are named beneficiaries.

Specific bequests in the will are $200 each to St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Newton Lodge of Elks and Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

Mr. Gasbarri died recently at the age of 88. He made his home at 342 Boylston street, Newton Centre.

He was a trustee of the Newton Centre Savings Bank for more than 30 years and also a director of the Newton South Cooperative Bank.

Born in Italy, he made his home in Newton for 50 years. He was noted for his philanthropic work.

Newton Defeated By Waltham 69-51

Newton High School's basketball team bowed to Waltham 69 to 51 as Steve Ballas, who is a pygmy, as basketball players go, tallied 23 points for the Watchmakers and missed tying an all-time Waltham record by only a single basket.

The win enabled Waltham to tie Newton for fourth place in the Suburban League standings.

In the game played at Shapiro Athletic Centre, the five-foot, seven-inch Waltham forward collected 20 points or better for the fifth time in Waltham's seven starts. His average to date is 20.2 points per game. He has a total of 142 for the season.

Waltham actually stowed the game away in the second quarter when some very "hot hands" enabled the boys to run in 22 points to Newton's 13. The Tigers were pretty much out of the ball game through the second half.

Bob Calvert had 16 points to top the Tiger scoring, but he didn't get too much help from the supporting cast.

Newton's Junior Varsity had more luck in downing its Waltham counterpart 60-54.

Tigers Forced to Accept 1-1 Tie With Stoneham at Arena

Newton High School's ice men were obliged to settle for 1-1 tie with Stoneham as Melrose was administering 3-1 defeat to Belmont at the Boston Arena.

The night's result enabled Melrose to pick up a little "breathing room" in its GBI lead while Newton and Cambridge Latin were pushed a notch deeper into their second place tie.

Newton was forced to come from behind to eke out the tie with Stoneham. Stoneham scored in the first period on a pass-out from behind the Newton net which caromed off a Tiger skate and found its way into the net for a tally.

Newton's score came when the second period was only 15 seconds old, when Pete Thompson let go with a nicely directed 30 foot shot from 30 feet out.

Neither team was able to score after that. Stoneham enjoyed some sterling net-minding on the part of Ken Cataldo, whose brilliant saves included one in which he actually used his head as a means for deflecting a well-placed shot.

First Open House of Season at Jackson Homestead Sunday

The first Open House of the 1958 season will be held this Sunday (Jan. 19) by the Jackson Homestead and all are invited to bring their friends and relatives to this historic old home at 527 Washington st., Newton.

There will be hostesses, and Girl Scouts in hoop skirt dresses, to welcome all. Punch and cookies will be served and a fine new exhibit will be shown to add to the enjoyment of all.

The exhibit features an unusual variety of antiques, Miss Lillian A. Smith, president of the Boston China Students' Club has loaned her priceless Chinese Snuff Bottles. There will be Patch Boxes of Battersea enamel, tortoise shell, and silver. Colorful Coats of Arms of Newton families will brighten the walls.

The Exhibit Room will contain a fascinating display of 18th Century Powder Horns, many with scrimshaw, owned by Prescott Richardson of Auburndale, along with guns, bayonets and knives having more intrigue and history in their steel than a set of Dumas Novels. There is a Japanese Marchlock of 1610; a Belgian Liege of 1861 smuggled to Confederates; a French Chasse-Pot of the Austro-Prussian War; a pair of Fratelli-Graziani firing wooden bullets, and used by the "Boy Scouts" of Italy under the Fascist regime; a Revolutionary Flintlock; a Trench Knife of World War I; and a Belgian 2-millimeter pin-fire pistol weighing one-quarter ounce, whose bullet feels like a mosquito bite and is equally harmless. This is only the beginning!

Educational Garden Club Meets Monday

The Educational Garden Club of West Newton will meet Monday, January 20, at 1 p.m., at the home of Mrs. Albert M. Kreider, 24 Lindbergh ave., West Newton. Co-hostesses will be Mrs. William H. Hostesses on Miss Loraine Cotting's committee are Mrs. Frederick Sayford Bacon, Mrs. C. Burton, Mrs. Duncan Cotting, Mrs. Donald L. Gibbs, Mrs. Albert Hegnauer, Mrs. Samuel Nesson, and Mrs. Howard Whitmore, Jr.

Hearing On Fare Increase Next Tuesday

A hearing will be held before the Department of Public Utilities next Tuesday (Jan. 21) in Room 166, State House, Boston, at 10 a.m., on the petition of the New York Central Railroad for a 71½ percent increase per ride on all commutation tickets. Rep. George E. Rawson (R-Newton) states that he intends to oppose this petition and hopes that a large number of Newton residents will join him at this hearing in registering their opposition. He feels the granting of the petition would be a serious blow to the best interests of Newton.

Medical Mirror

• "Normal" Development. Q. How can you be sure that a baby is developing in a normal manner?

A. Judging the developmental progress of a child is a matter for a physician. The trick is in knowing what is meant by "normal." The word is often used but hard to pin down. Many people tend to consider "normal" as suggesting "desirable." Parents can spare themselves much worry and concern by taking children to a doctor for regular checkups. You can help by keeping a simple record of the child's early progress. If trouble develops in later years it may be very necessary to know such seemingly unimportant things as the age at which the youngster sat alone, reached for objects, or started "building" houses with blocks. "Baby books" usually give an outline of what to look for and provide space for making special notations as the child grows and develops.

Material in MEDICAL MIRROR is based on various scientific publications and does not necessarily reflect the opinion of all doctors. The diagnosis and treatment of disease requires the skill and knowledge which only a physician can apply by personally attending the patient.

THE OUT-DOOR TYPE . . .

Several boys have the opportunity to work in the field of sports if they are interested in business procedures, but are not athletically inclined. These students, called managers, handle the athletic equipment at every game and practice session. This relieves the coaches of many minor duties. These boys go on trips with the team, and are present at all home games.

Sophomore managers who received an award for their work this year are Robert Boden, Jeffrey Cohen, Paul Gladstone, Sidney Holden, Steve Lewenberg, Bill Lewis, Robert Perry, Joseph Schneider, Wendall Sell, and Francis Testa. The Junior Varsity managers are Mike Chessman, Dick Constant, Howie Levine, Steve Rubin, and John Shields. Managing the Varsity Football team were Reineer Beeuwkes, James Draper, Joseph Irwin, and Arthur Savage.

THE MARQUEE . . . Exclamations of surprise and delight, as well as expressions of sorrow, greeted the drama festival cast list. These students had survived the final try-outs. The list, posted on the Building Three bulletin board, consisted of as many sophomores as juniors and seniors put together. This was a very unusual circumstance and confirms the drama teachers' opinion that the sophomores of Newton High have an amazing amount of talent in the field of dramatics. Those students chosen for the cast of "Green Pastures" were Howie Gidez, Maisha Bailey, Joe Schneider, Judy Malone, Jeffrey Cohen, Terry Dan, Judy Arnold, Kristine Fer-

HIGHLIGHTS . . . Great was the joy of many Newton High students when they awoke on Wednesday of last week to find that school had been called off for the day. Except for a cancellation of many extra-curricular activities, such as legislative and Drama Festival rehearsals, the first snowstorm of the year brought a great deal of joy to Newton teenagers.

Each week two students are selected to represent Newton High at the Monday luncheon and business meeting of the Rotary Club. The meetings, at Brae Burn Country Club, are held by the business men of the city. On Monday, January 6, Bob Kantar and Doc Zollie were chosen to represent Newton High. Both students agreed that it was a very profitable afternoon.

The Rotary Club also established a Loan Fund in 1924 to assist young men in preparing for their life work. Each applicant is judged on his past achievement, his citizenship, and future promise. The Trustees of the Loan Fund extend the privileges of the Fund to college students and to those taking graduate work. Each recipient of a loan takes out a life insurance policy which protects the loan and insures its repayment through the reserve build up.

The student directors for the plays were chosen from the runners-up to the actual cast, and they will assist the drama teachers in all possible ways, such as making sure drama rehearsals begin on time, taking attendance, etc.

MERRYMAKER . . . Newton High's Dance Band, a group very popular with the high school students, as proven by the repeated requests for their entertainment at school functions, provided the dancing music at last Saturday's Junior Prom, held in the high school gym. The members of this group are Alan Maycock, Steve Wexler, Chip Browning, Burt Alexander, Joe Falkson, Sandra Gibbs, Joel Myerson, and Arthur Polansky in the sax section; Chuck Stuart, Curt Gilroy, Jimmy Levine, George Crevozhay, and Stan Shafran playing the trumpets; Brad Huff, Joan Lewis, Brian Loche, and Jim Campbell on the trumpet; Frank Maurer and Don Robinson in the string bass portion; Dave Formalarie and Pete Boudrot strumming the guitars; Dick Gordon, the pianist; Jon Cannon and Norm White at the drums; and Guy Anderson, band assistant.

Heading the Junior Prom ticket committee that sold tickets to nearly three hundred couples for the gala event were Marcia Kerr and Chris Lee, Elie Brown, Carol Stellar, Amy Stellar, Fran Rosen, Judy Arnold, Bob Kates, Barbara Adolph, Toni Kadetsky, Diane Lefkovich, and Judy Dean devoted their S-Blocks last week to selling tickets in the various home-rooms.

Planning a trip to the State House on Friday, March 14, is Ken Winston, a senior at Newton High. Ken was the student selected to represent the high school at Massachusetts Student Government Day.

Taxpayers Urge Merit Rating For City's Teachers

A recommendation that greater emphasis be placed on merit in determining the salaries of Newton school teachers was made to the School Committee this week by the Newton Taxpayers' Association.

Five different proposals were made by the Taxpayers' Association to the School Board concerning the preparation of its budget for the academic year starting in September.

Executive Director Lorenz F. Muther, Jr., said the purpose of the recommendations are threefold:

"To continue to compensate the average teacher adequately and competitively.

"To give the proven and exceptional teachers more incentive and reward while in the Newton school system.

"To replace with more flexibility a policy which presently requires you to ask the taxpayer to pay professional employees at substantial individual rates irrespective of either the relative quality of their professional work within the school system or the relative economic demand for their services."

The recommendations made by the association to the School Board were as follows:

"1. That starting salaries be kept competitive and, if that requires a raise at the bottom of the scale, to maintain the present step rate intervals with the exception of the last step.

"2. That alternatively, if

OUR READERS SAY

Leashing Needed
Editor, Newton Graphic:
As a lover of dogs and an owner of two English Cockeris, I have read with approval of the efforts of the P.T.A. to put through a law for full-time leashing of dogs.

The most loveable house pet can, for some unknown reason, turn on a child or adult. We recently had that experience with a 15 month prize winning dog who tried to attack a child even though we had him on a leash. He hadn't been well so we decided it would be safer to put him to sleep.

That dogs are a menace around school yards is reason enough to enforce such a law but running dogs become tramps and destroy property. They are also a menace on the highway. I'll wager a number of members of the Aldermanic Board have narrowly missed a serious accident because of a dog.

I could go on and on for I have always felt strongly about the situation.

I'm sure if the P.T.A. members of various schools canvassed their neighborhoods they would find true dog lovers their most enthusiastic backers.

Most sincere wishes for a successful fight.

Elizabeth M. Norton
(Mrs. George P.)

Editor, Newton Graphic.
Thank you for bringing to the public's attention news and editorial material regarding the problem of dogs in Newton. It is a serious matter when week after week it can be reported in our papers that children and adults are bitten or attacked by dogs allowed to wander at large. This is a civilized city, and why big animals should be permitted to roam at will and cause accidents and distress is very puzzling indeed.

Besides these major attacks, there are numerous other instances of uncontrolled dogs constituting a gross nuisance and menace to the public; the friendly jumpers on your chest, particularly unpleasant if you are but five years and the dog is a mammoth Boxer; the school rompers; the car chasers; the howlers; the chasers of smaller animals; the snufflers in food stores; and the strange packs which come lolling through your own yards so you cannot safely leave a carriage or small child out, nor step unguarded less you have a nuss to clean.

I consider this to be a matter of such importance that I took your July 18, 1957 account of the Board of Alderman meeting to the polls in November and took the discussion and vote of each alderman on dog leashing into consideration before voting for his election, regardless of his record on other matters.

It is certainly to be hoped that the efforts of the P.T.A. Council will be successful in bringing about the leashing of canine pets, since some owners cannot be relied upon to give consideration to the rights and protection of others, particularly the small children; so that we shall be able once again to regard dogs as loving pets and not as general nuisances.

Janet B. Wright

Dogs on Leash
Editor, Newton Graphic:
I am very nappy to see your paper giving the "dog leash" fight front page printing. The importance in this matter cannot be underestimated.

The child you are trying to protect may be your own.

My son was attacked by a dog recently while school was in session and on school grounds.

I strongly urge enforcing the leash law. Much thanks to Mrs. Samuel Horowitz and Mrs. Charles Robinson.

Mrs. Edward Kushner, 58 Jane road, Newton

Mr. Carter was born in Newark, N. J., and at the tender age of twelve was leading his own band. In the early 1940's he was associated with Glen Gray and the great Casa Loma Orchestra. From there he moved on to join Jimmy Dorsey as pianist and arranger, and was one of the three voices in the Soft Winds Trio.

Currently he has his own group at the Darbury Room in Boston.

An album called Louie's Love Songs, a collection of satirical pieces with both lyrics and music composed by Mr. Carter, has been released by Golden Crest Records.

Happiness And Longevity Is Sunday Subject

How spiritual understanding of God, divine Life, increases happiness and longevity will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday.

The Golden Text is from Psalms (27:1): "The Lord is my light and my salvation; whom shall I fear? The Lord is the strength of my life; of whom shall I be afraid?"

Richard H. Lee Will Head City-Wide Religious Census

Former State Senator Richard H. Lee of this city has been appointed chairman of the City-Wide Religious Census which will be conducted here Sunday afternoon, Feb. 2, according to an announcement made by Ernst O. Seyfarth, president of the Newton Council of Churches. The announcement was made at a recent Midwinter Dinner Meeting of the twenty-four affiliated churches and the Y.M.C.A., held at Second Church (Congregational in West Newton).

President Seyfarth stated that "the census is part of a four point project known as a teaching mission and religious census. It is without doubt the largest unified project in the history of Newton churches, one of those things which can much better be done together than by any individual church."

The project embraces a program of self study and analysis by each individual church under the leadership of a guest clergyman, the census itself, the fostering of a fellowship cultivation program, and a session devoted to church program enrichment and enlargement.

City Census chairman Lee has announced that he is being assisted in setting up the mechanics for the census, apportioning districts by the city's political subdivision of precincts, etc., by former City Clerk Frank M. Grant of Newtonville and George Harvey of Auburndale.

Under City Census chairman Lee's direction, each participating church and temple will have its own census chairman directing Team Captains and Census Takers to ring every doorbell in the city Sunday afternoon, Feb. 2. Questions will be few and simple, designed to locate folks with no local church affiliation so that church and temple fellowship, in accordance with denominational preferences, may subsequently be offered.

Twenty churches and three Jewish temples will participate in the census. Plans are based upon the utilization of 15 percent of each church's resident membership, or approximately 1,700 census takers to visit every one of the more than 20,000 homes in Newton Sunday, Feb. 2.

Newton Federation Of Women's Clubs

The mid-winter meeting of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs will be held on Wednesday, January 22 at the Newton Highlands Workshop, 72 Columbus street, Newton Highlands. The business meeting at 2 p.m. will be conducted by the president, Mrs. Frederick J. Wood.

Church Break In Newtonville

By forcing a glass in the rear of the Christian Science Church, 390 Walnut street, Newtonville, a burglar gained entrance to the edifice. A check disclosed nothing of value missing and Patrolmen William L. Whelan and Earl A. Cornish, who investigated believe the invader may have been frightened away.

Rowdies Pledge Good Behavior And Ride Again

The "spoiled brats" who made the life of bus drivers of Middlesex Bus Company's Auburndale bus so miserable that they threatened to quit their jobs are now permitted the privilege of riding to school once again.

Officials of the company who were obliged to call a halt to the service when conditions got too tough, decided to restore the service when the teenagers signed pledges that they would cut the rowdiness which ran all the way from obscenities and profanity to destructive damage. "The pledges, at the insistence of Assistant Principal A. Raymond Rogers, were countersigned by the teenagers' parents.

In signing the pledges the re-

Herter Blasts Gov. Furcolo on Budget Message

Governor's Councillor Christian A. Herter, Jr., of Newton yesterday blasted Governor Furcolo's budget message, characterizing it as "Foster's Folly."

Herter described Furcolo's scheme for balancing the State budget as "an outright deception and a fraud upon the people of the Commonwealth."

He declared that on the one hand Governor Furcolo lists $9.5 million which he says he will get from the new Massachusetts Port Authority, while on the other he is preventing the Authority from getting into operation.

"He is using the Port Authority to balance his budget, while at the same time keeping the Authority out of business," said Herter.

Councillor Herter further accused Furcolo of "sleight-of-hand financing in plotting double taxation for the people of Massachusetts in 1959."

"The Furcolo administration has done the impossible,"

POLITICAL OVERTONES

By JAMES G. COLBERT
Former Boston Post Political Editor
Gov. Furcolo Has Achieved Show of Democratic Unity

Governor Furcolo has accomplished at least an outward appearance of Democratic unity and harmony on Beacon Hill.

How deep it really goes and how long it will last may be open to question, but at the moment most of the Democrats at the State House, from Furcolo down, are exercising considerable care to avoid rocking the party boat.

That can be attributed principally to the fact that the shadow of the 1958 State election looms large in the political sky, a situation which obviously is having an effect upon Governor Furcolo as well as Democratic leaders and legislators.

It undoubtedly will be reflected, too, when members of the usually strife-ridden Democratic State Committee meet within the next few weeks and vote to comply with the wishes of Senator John F. Kennedy and Governor Furcolo that their party hold no pre-primary State convention this year.

The Governor himself is principally responsible for the air of Democratic peace which presently prevails on Beacon Hill.

He has adopted a different approach to his relationship with the Legislature than he followed a year ago.

Where last year Governor Furcolo made up his own mind, reached his own decisions and then told legislative leaders of his party what he was going to do, brushing aside any objections they had, he now is sitting down in advance with the Democratic chieftains, talking things out with them, listening to their advice and in some cases at least, following it.

Democratic leaders in the Legislature were told in advance what he was going to say in his budget message, were assured by the Governor that he would make no fight for a sales tax this year and would not advocate the enactment of any new taxes which would cause them political embarrassment.

Night of Hard Work Nets Safe Cracker Measly $2

An ambitious burglar with a flair for work and a determination of spirit enriched himself by $2 the other night. To obtain it followed a procedure which might well have laid the basis for a Rube Goldberg cartoon.

He got the $2 bill, which some horse players consider unlucky, in the office of Clapper Co., West Newton, a garden equipment and supply concern. This is how he went about it:

Accidents to Dogs Gives Impetus To Leash Law Drive

A number of accidents involving dogs in Newton during the past week provided the material for new arguments by those seeking the enactment of an ordinance which would prohibit the canines from running loose in the city. A half-dozen dogs running in the street have been struck and killed by motorists in the last few days.

Criminal Business of Newton Court Jumped 54% Last Year

Newton is a pretty law-abiding city as U.S. cities go these days, but it wasn't lily pure as far as crime was concerned in 1957.

In fact, if you judge it by a

A total of 26 firms submitted bids to the Newton Purchasing Department for the contract to construct an addition to Countryside School, Newton Highlands. Lowest received was that of the Vincent R. Caputo Co., 78 Grove street, Winchester.

The Caputo bid was $124,487. Less than $7000 separated the three lowest bids.

Other low bidders were Boston Building and Construction Co., $127,989, and Stead Barber Co., 17 Prospect street, Medford, $131,351. The highest bid was $175,286.

The Caputo firm is now the contractor in the construction of the Nonantum branch of the Public Library.

The one-story countryside addition calls for six classrooms and two storage rooms. It will be connected with the main building by a heated corridor. It is hoped to have it ready for occupancy by next September.

Hugh Stubbins and Associates of Cambridge are the architects.

Polio March Rally Tonight

A final rally for the Mothers' March in Newton will be held in joint meeting with other Middlesex county communities at the Lions Club, Belmont, tonight (Thursday) at 8:30 o'clock. Chairman Otto Bresky Jr., of 112 Waban Hill road, Newton, announced.

Director for the Mothers' Marches in Middlesex County is Mrs. Arthur Tetreault of Lincoln, whose husband and three children are polio patients. The children have made excellent recoveries and Mr. Tetreault recently demonstrated the effects of the March of Dimes physical therapy by indulging in a few minutes of skating.

"The care of polio patients in Middlesex County is costing $1000 a day," pointed out Mrs. Tetreault. "Most people do not realize that even seven or eight years after an epidemic about one-third of the patients are — RALLY —

Bitten By Dogs

Several persons in Newton have been bitten by dogs in the past few days. Robert Haskell of Waltham was bitten while delivering milk on Waban park. Leslie Sweetman, 10, of 1870 Commonwealth ave. was nipped on the left leg by a dog. Victor Lerish, 8, of 5 Longmeadow rd. was treated at the Children's Hospital after being bitten on the lip by his own dog.

West Newton Is Home Base For Celtic Star's Two Lives

By PHYLLIS NEWTON

Next time the 7:30 alarm rings and you roll reluctantly out of bed, give a thought to fellow Newtonite Jack Nichols, who rises at 5 a.m. and frequently puts in a 24-hour day before falling back into the sack at 5 the next morning.

Your slug-a-bed schedule is practically slothful compared to the rugged pace set by this talented and determined young man.

Nichols has to get up early and go to bed late because he's leading two full and complete lives at once. A standout player for the world-champion Boston Celtics basketball team, he is also a senior at Tufts Dental School and is scheduled to become a practicing dentist by June.

In his spare time he serves as captain in the Marines and enjoys family life with his wife and two children at their West Newton home at 50 Wedgewood road.

Bank Bandit One Of 23 "Bad" Men

Robert Savage, one of the men convicted of the armed robbery of the Newton Savings Bank last summer, was among the 23 so-called trouble-makers transferred from the State prison at Walpole to the Concord Reformatory. The 23 inmates were described as malcontents who were helping to keep tension high at the newly constructed prison.

City Clerk Asks That You Fill Out Slip If Listers Miss You

As they started the annual listing of residents of Ward 4 this week, Newton police officers were discovering that a large percentage of local families aren't home these cold mid-winter days.

Maybe, some are enjoying (?) Florida weather which is running a bit in defiance of the State's Chambers of Commerce; maybe, some are just away for post-holiday visits to friends.

Whatever the reason, the census-takers found in two calls upon 463 families the doorbell was unable to summon anybody. That was in Wards 1, 2 and 3, which have otherwise been completed.

It is expected the same average of absentees will be found in the remainder of the city.

Since it is highly important that everyone be listed—for voting and other reasons—City Clerk Monte G. Basbas has sent out requests from City Hall that the residents who were away when the officers called to make out little yellow slips. In this way they will be sure of having themselves and their families listed for the year 1958.

In all 21,663 persons were listed in the first three wards. Also listed were 2772 pre-school age children who broke down into the following age classifications: under one year, 472; one year, 453 two years, 519;

Spokesmen Say 71 1/2c Hike Per Ride Would Price B & A Out of Existence in Newton

Newton's public leaders, headed by Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., presented a solid front this week as they rallied in opposition to a proposed staggering increase in fares on the Boston & Albany commuter lines which serve this city.

The B.&A. at the same time mustered an imposing array of attorneys, accountants and financial experts in support of its petition for a flat 71 1/2-cent hike in the fares for a ride on any of the road's suburban lines.

Allegations were lodged by several opponents to the requested fare boost that the real purpose of the B.&A. is to drive away its present patrons and price itself out of business.

That was flatly denied by attorneys for the railroad who insisted that the petition for a flat 71 1/2-cent fare rise per ride was based on a detailed analysis of the cost of providing the service.

However, when B.&A. Attorney Richard J. Ferriter was asked by Public Utilities Commissioner Roy C. Papalia whether he was claiming that the road would take in more money by increasing the fare for the ride from South Station to the University Station — FARE —

Private Tots' School Will Ask Zone Law Change at Hearing

A hearing will be held by the Newton Zoning Board of Appeals at 7:45 p.m. next Tuesday night at City Hall on an appeal for a zoning change which would permit the establishment of a private school at 1424 Centre street, in Newton Centre.

The building commissioner has declined to grant a request for the change on the grounds that the proposed school is not a non-profit organization.

The petition is brought in behalf of the Poplar School of 208 South street, Brookline. It is proposed to re-model the private residence at the Centre street address to provide school accommodations for 60 children through the second grade.

The house is currently in the "Residence C" district.

The zoning laws of the city allow the building commissioner to issue license for non-profit schools in residential areas. The commissioner in the Poplar School instance, however, termed the school a profit-making organization.

Two other zoning law petitions will be heard at the same session of the Zoning Board made up of Chairman V. Stoddard Bigelow; Secretary Fred P. Pegnato, Edward B. Murphy, Kenneth W. Newcomb and Maurice A. Reidy, Jr.

One is based on a request of Dr. Edwin L. Prien of 194 Waban avenue, Waban, for permission to enlarge his garage to within seven feet of the lot line on Irwin road. The garage is now within 8 1/2 feet from Irwin road.

The second is a petition brought by Murray Green of 21 Cavanaugh path in the Oak Hill Park area. Green seeks a variance of the setback distance of lot 23 on Selwyn road, N. w. ton Highlands.

He desires to build within 25 feet of the front lot line in a new lot where 30 feet is now the required distance.

Burglar Surprised At Boston College

A burglar who was looting the coin machines in the basement of O'Connell Hall at Boston College was surprised by two students and fled. Newton police on investigation found that two Maytag coin boxes had been broken open and an unknown number of quarters stolen. A soap machine also was smashed and the nickels it contained taken.

N-W Hospital Hikes Rates As Fight Ends on Admission Fee

Following the decision of the Massachusetts Hospital Association not to contest further the directive of State Administration Commissioner Francis X. Lang banning initial service charges, the Newton-Wellesley Hospital has announced an increase in its daily rates.

Effective Jan. 16, the day after the MHA decided to bow to Lang's dictum in order to protect Blue Cross rights of medical coverage, the new daily rates of the N-W will be as follows:

For a patient in a four-bed room, $22; for a two-bed room, $23-$25 and for a private room, $28-$33.

Director William S. Brines of the hospital said the new schedule was adopted with reluctance. He still believes that the $15 initial service charge which Newton-Wellesley had adopted with many other hospitals was the fairest way to charge people for services.

However, he did not feel the hospital could jeopardize the Blue Cross medical coverage held by many people in the area who might become patients.

Listen to Radio for 'No School' Decision; Don't Call Fire Department

Alarmed by a deluge of telephone calls from school pupils and their parents on the morning of Jan. 8—a deluge which swamped the fire department's switchboard—Fire Chief Frederick A. Perkins, Jr., makes an urgent appeal that this manner of determining the cancellation of classes on stormy days be avoided.

The chief joins school authorities in pointing out the proper methods of ascertaining whether or not regular school sessions are cancelled on bad weather mornings. An overload of telephone calls on the morning of Jan. 8, when storm conditions prevailed taxed the fire department's telephone system from 6:30 to 9:30 a.m. It was entirely possible that during these three hours a legitimate telephone call for a fire might have been blocked out by the steady stream of calls concerning school sessions. The switchboard, during the three-hour period received 100 calls an hour.

Fortunately no emergency arose.

"Any person having a real fire or an emergency could not possibly place the call except after a considerable delay," the chief pointed out. "This delay could easily have permitted a fire to have gained considerable headway."

"If the weather is bad, let parents be the judge about school attendance or, better still, listen to the radio at the appointed time and correct station for the 'no school' reports. The stations for Newton students to listen to are WEEI, WBZ, WCRB, WNAC, WHDH and WCOP.

"The time of broadcast is between 7:15 a.m. and 8 a.m. for the morning sessions and 11:30 a.m. to noon for the afternoon session.

"Please do not call the fire department under any circumstances to find out if there is any school. Your implicit cooperation in this matter is imperative in order for the fire department to serve and protect the community as it should be done," Chief Perkins declared.

Finds Haven For Winter

On one of the cold nights recently a vagrant halted a Newton police officer on the street and appealed to him for help in finding a night's lodging. The officer escorted him to the only place he could—the nice, comfortable police station. In Newton district court the next day an obliging judge sentenced the vagrant to 90 days in the House of Correction. The sentence was accepted with the utmost of cheerfulness.

City Clerk Basbas' letter to the families absent on two calls of the listing police officers read:

"This notice has been left today by a police officer who called to secure the names of all persons living at this address on Jan. 1, 1958, who are 20 years of age or over. The law requires that this information be secured after January 1 of each year, and I ask your cooperation in order that a complete and accurate list may be made.

"Will you kindly assist in this important work by filling out this 'January 1st Listing Form,' and mailing the same to City Clerk, City Hall, Newton Centre 59, Mass.

"Your assistance will be appreciated by the police officer who is required to secure this information and by the city clerk who compiles the names of the residents of the city."

Newton College Of Sacred Heart Offers New Class

Newton College of the Sacred Heart, through its education department, will offer a semester course in methods of teaching religion to confraternity classes, on Tuesday evenings, beginning next week.

The course, part of the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine program outlined at Newton by Archbishop Cushing, will qualify students and laymen to assist in parish Sunday Schools and released time classes. Sister Marie Charles of the Mission Helpers of the Sacred Heart of Boston, head of the lay teachers course in the archdiocese, will instruct the class. A former instructor at Georgetown University, she holds a B.S. degree in education from Fordham University and a master's degree in speech education from New York University.

Those who take the class will learn how to teach the Mass and prayers, how to plan lessons and how to prepare the children for their first confession, first communion and confirmation. Students who fulfill the requirements of the course will receive two undergraduate credits at Newton, and a certificate from the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine. As the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine is a national organization, these certificates will be honored in any diocese.

Classes will take place in Stuart House on the Newton campus each week through May 20 from 7:15 to 9:05 p.m. Anyone who wants to take the course may register by contacting Mother M. H. Quinlan, R.S.C.J., Dean of Newton College, before the first class begins. Textbooks may be obtained in the college shop. To help defray expenses the college will charge a fifteen dollar fee for the course.

Herter-

said Herter. "Unbelievable though it may seem, it has succeeded in one short year in office in converting what was a $13 million surplus at the beginning of the fiscal year into an operating deficit which will amount to at least 34 millions and probably closer to 60 millions for state expenditures other than for highways."

Herter referred to the fact that the previous administration (his father's) went out of office leaving a budget which resulted in a surplus of $13 million at the close of the fiscal year which ended last June 30.

"That nest egg is gone," continued Councillor Herter, "and Foster's folly shows by its own figures that his administration is now spending at the rate of 34 millions of dollars more than existing revenues can provide.

"Furcolo proposes to make up a small portion of this difference by increasing the tax on cigarettes and taxing trusts with transferable shares," Herter said.

"The big bite comes when he expects Massachusetts income tax payers to double up on their payments in the spring of 1959," Herter declared. "He plans to extract an additional $17 million from the people while trying to convince them he isn't taking anything from them. This is typical Furcolo deception.

"More than anyone else this will hurt the small taxpayer who will have to pay one quarter of his 1959 state income tax at the same time he is paying all his taxes on his 1958 income. That is trick financing the expense of the people," Herter charged.

"The real payoff in Foster's folly," said Herter, "comes when he plans on obtaining $9.5 million from the new Massachusetts Port Authority when it gets in business. Yet, Furcolo himself is the one man who has kept the Authority out of business by vetoing legislation which would permit it to sell its bonds. This is the kind of nonsensical double talk which marks an incompetent. While giving lip service to a Port Authority, he does everything possible to prevent its operation."

Newton Players To Establish A Scholarship

"Rebecca", a drama in three acts by Daphne DuMaurer, will be the second presentation of The Newton Players, Inc., during the 70th anniversary of its existence. Performance will be held Thursday, Jan. 30, Friday, Jan. 31, and Saturday, Feb. 1, at the Beethoven School, Waban.

Directing the cast for this play is Mrs. Maude C. Higgins of Auburndale. Assisting her as Line Director is Miss Edith May. The cast includes: Mike Michelle, Doris Sheik, William Bruce, Roger Sheik, John Breen, Phyllis Wheeler, Mary Dade, George Briggs, Larry Muther, and Leonard Abbott.

Mrs. J. Cooke White of Newtonville is ticket chairman. Proceeds from the sale of guest tickets will help to establish the Wesley A. Dynes Memorial Scholarship. Mr. Dynes, widely known in amateur and professional circles, was a member of the Players for over thirty years prior to his untimely death earlier this winter.

The committee formulating the qualifications for receipt of the scholarship, which will be available to a high school senior from one of the city's public, parochial, or private schools, are members of the Board of the Players and include Mrs. Bruno Mickleit, Edward G. Richardson, and Mrs. Roger R. Borden.

(E) He looked over the rest of the office. He tried the drawers. One of the drawers yielded the $2 bill.

He pocketed the bill and disappeared into what was left of the night.

Donald E. Ross, Jr., of 23 Fern street, Wellesley, first employee to report for work in the morning, discovered the evidence of his night of frustration.

Part of the increase in the number of automobile violation cases is believed due to the increase of the traffic load carried by Newton streets as a result of the East-West toll road.

Here's a comparison of complaints issued by the court in various major categories in 1956 and 1957:

still receiving clinical care. For example, the Children's Hospital treated 700 patients during the 1949 epidemic; it is still giving medical and therapeutic treatment to 250 of these patients.

"The hospital treated approximately 1200 polio cases in 1955 and is giving periodic treatment to almost 600 of these patients."

Middlesex County spent almost $630,000 for patient care in the year following the 1950 epidemic. This year it will spend almost $400,000.

Persons interested in participating in the Mothers' March in this community are urged to contact the local chairman. The March last year netted over $130,000 and represented more than 40 percent of the $313,000 collected by the March of Dimes in the county.

Laskey Will Head Israel Bond Drive

Lawrence G. Laskey of Newton, chairman of the New England Region for State of Israel Bonds, has been named head of the International Inaugural Conference for Israel Bonds to be held in Miami Feb. 6-8. The conference will launch the 1958 campaign for the sale of Israel Bonds.

Stressing the importance of the drive to be undertaken, Laskey underscored the fact that bond funds are today the most vital source of investment capital for Israel's development.

As part of the Conference, the world-premiere of Israel's tenth anniversary Fashion Festival, staged by Jordan Marsh, Miami, will take place in the Grand Ballroom of the Fontainebleau Hotel on Friday, Feb. 7, sponsored by the Israel Bond Women's Division.

Star's-

star rises way before the sun, takes an early train for Medford Hills and puts in a full day at the dental school, where he ranks in the top quarter of his class.

Dashes and Flashes

After eight hours with the books, Nichols often dashes to Logan, Airport and boards a plane for Detroit, St. Paul, Cincinnati or wherever the Celts are playing.

At 8 p.m. when the rest of us are settling down with the paper for a well-earned rest, Nichols flashes into action with the speedy Celts for a couple of hours of one of the most physically demanding games in the world.

Back on a plane by midnight, he travels through the wee hours to get back to West Newton and bed by 4 or 5 a.m. . . only to get up again after forty winks and start all over again! Glorious Wind-Up

If his remarkable stamina holds out until March 13, the Nichols' ten-year plan will come to a successful conclusion and they are happy that the end of the road is in sight.

On that date, Nichols expects to play his last game as a pro performer and turn all his energies to becoming a top-flight performer in another professional field—dentistry.

Jack's spectacular basketball career, which finances his dental studies and supports his family, should wind up in a blaze of glory as the Celts are having their best year ever. So far the wins far outweigh the losses, and it would surprise no one if the Celts became world champs for the second successive year.

What Next?

Whether to stay in Newton and start a practice (Jack would like to specialize in youngsters' dental problems), or whether to return to the West Coast is still a question with the Nichols.

"We love it here," says Nichols animated, silver blonde wife, Gloria, "and we came to Newton because of its nice neighborhoods and good schools. But it is kind of hard to be 3200 miles from our families, and we miss them terribly. The place is faster here than at home. Newton is a larger city. Where we lived near Seattle was not so crowded and much milder . . . and I think maybe we will want to go home."

"We have moved 35 times since our marriage," continued Gloria Nichols, "and we are looking forward to settling down. My dream is to have a sprawling California ranch house, not fancy, more like a hunting lodge, near all our relatives and old friends."

No Family Life

"What we have missed the most with Jack on his gruelling program" she revealed, "is family activities. We are so grateful he has had this wonderful opportunity to finish school, but we sure are looking forward to doing things together and to no more good-bye's."

An outstanding athlete from the age of ten, Jack played basketball at the University of Southern California and at the University of Washington, where he was graduated after pre-med training.

He made the All-Pacific Coast

Conference Team for five successive years—a feat unparalleled in the history of the organization.

A Third Career

On days when the Celts have no game scheduled, Nichols either practices with them, studies until 1 or 2 a.m. or spends the evening doing necessary lab work at school.

Somewhere he has managed to tuck in still a third career—as a Marine officer. Summers and during the Korean conflict he served in the Marines, who accepted him after three other branches turned him down because of his height. His rank is now captain, and he has completed five hitchhikes.

Takes After Dad

The very few hours a week he is not tied up, Jack devotes to his son and daughter. Steven is far and away the tallest third grader at the Davis School (Dad is 6'8") and one of the brightest nine-year-olds we've met.

Robin Suzanne, 1, adopted by the Nichols last year, is a perfect dumpling of a baby, blonde, chubby and cheerful, and obviously the pride and joy of mother, daddy, and big brother. Mrs. Nichols, who majored in child development at Mills College, has found her training invaluable in bringing up two youngsters, particularly as she is with them so constantly.

"With the new baby and all the responsibilities, I haven't taken part in community affairs as I'd like," she confessed, "but I did find time to be an assistant Den Mother as Steven is so enthused about Cub's."

Fears Hand Injury

"I go to all the home games and love seeing Jack play, although I worry about his getting some injury to his hands that would affect his career as a dentist. But so far so good, we've had marvelous luck."

It would seem that more than luck—perhaps a few qualities such as talent and perseverance—have enabled Jack Nichols to lead a double life with such success.

Dr. Kautz Gives Marriage Views

"True love can stand the test of time," believes Dr. L. Kautz of Newton, who retired recently as a professor of Sociology at Boston University.

Dr. Kautz said, he believes in happy endings, "if the right ingredients go into a marriage." Married people today need maturity, more than so-called happiness so they can accept and deal with their frustrations, he said.

"Some people who obtain a divorce think that the separation will bring happiness, and they are subsequently disenchanting," he remarked. "But the real cause of their unhappiness is often rooted in their own personality."

Medical Mirror

Q. Do feeble-minded children ever improve?

A. Some do. Certain conditions lead to mental dullness. Correct the disorder and the mind improves. In some cases a change in environment helps. A group of 59 mentally defective children were given I.Q. (mental) tests by English doctors. The youngsters were examined two years later and almost half the group had increased their I.Q. by 8 to as much as 25 points. Best improvement occurred in those who had been raised in the poorest environment and who were later given more advantages. There are, of course, certain unfortunate people who are born with parts of the brain missing or have conditions which prevent the mind from developing beyond a certain point. Doctors have no way of helping them because there is so little with which to work.

Material in MEDICAL MIRROR is based on various scientific publications and does not necessarily reflect the opinion of all doctors. The diagnosis and treatment of disease requires the skill and knowledge which only a physician can apply by personally attending the patient.

Retirement Reception For Veteran Bigelow Teacher

After 33 years in the Newton school system, Guy S. Baker is settling down to a well-earned rest at his home in Halifax this week enveloped by a warm feeling that his many friends in Newton much appreciate his contribution to the community.

A friendly and devoted man whose small country mannerisms made him a beloved figure at Bigelow Junior High and at the Burr Playground, Baker was guest of honor recently at a festive testimonial reception at the Hunnewell Club attended by over 300 people.

He was an institution at Bigelow, having taught there before the regime of Haydn Pearson, and had taught French and physical education before taking on math and science duties in recent years.

Active in town affairs, Baker belonged to the Newton Improvement Association and served as an election official many years. Before moving to Halifax, he made his home here on Tremont street, Brackett street, and finally on Park street.

The reception was arranged by Aldermen William Powers and Paul Rich, former students of Baker, in cooperation with Mr. and Mrs. John Swanton, presidents of the Bigelow PTA, and the Newtonville Improvement Association.

In his three decades on the faculty, Baker taught many children of his earlier students. Attending the party was Mason Stone, a former member of his first class, as well as many Newton dignitaries including Mayor Howard Whitmore, School Superintendent Harold B. Gores, City Clerk Monte Basbas, Bigelow principal Robert V. Frost, and State Senator Donald Gibbs.

Also present were Baker's entire family, including his mother, now in her eighties; his wife, Avis, a former teacher; his daughter Jeanette; his son, Gerald; a brother who teaches physics and his sister, principal of an elementary school. In addition to many personal gifts, Baker received a check from the group attending, a gift from the Bigelow faculty, a citation from the Recreation Department for his years as a playground supervisor at Burr; and a certificate from Norman MacConnell, coach at Weeks, reviewing the many years of friendly rivalry they had enjoyed.

A graduate of Bates College and a veteran of World War I, Baker taught for seven years in Bridgewater prior to joining the Newton school system.

Storms And Highways

The present winter is young. What its quota may be in terms of storms we do not know. Neither do the meteorologists. Perhaps it will be comparatively mild. Possibly it will have more than a normal complement of paralyzing storms.

Whatever it holds in store time will tell, but already the National Safety Council notes there has been an increase in the number of accidents traceable to tough winter driving conditions.

A large percentage are so-called rear-end collisions. For some reason or other cars were stopped on the road. Vehicles crashed into the halted machines. One nearby tragedy cost the lives of three brothers.

Others were not so costly in terms of human lives, but any one of them could have exacted a toll.

That is why we consider the advice of the Institute for Safer Living of the American Mutual Liability Insurance Company most timely. The Institute also finds an increase in rear-end collisions in the winter.

Here's why: (1) Many extra stalls and stops due to dirty windshields, broken tire chains, weak batteries and frozen radiators. (2) Many drivers fail to pull far enough to the side of the road because of banked snow, ice or mucky shoulders.

Regardless of the reason for stopping, every effort should be made to get your car out of moving traffic lanes as quickly as possible.

As extra protection motorists should follow the safety example of many truck drivers and equip their cars with approved flares.

These rules should be followed for the use of flares:

(1) Pull as far as possible to the right.
(2) Get passengers out of the car using right hand doors.

(3) Stay well off the road while walking to set the flare.

(4) Set flares at least 50 feet behind your car. On hills or curves always set the flare far enough away that it warns blindly-approaching traffic in plenty of time. Set a second flare alongside the car.

(5) Carry your flares in a handy place so that they can be put into quick emergency use.

Why Not Let 'em Walk?

No doubt, some of the parents who were obliged to sign cards in which their sons pledged themselves to forego the wild rowdiness which has too long marked the school bus service to Auburndale were surprised.

No doubt, they were assured by their offspring that the bus conduct which brought about temporary cancellation of the service was entirely the fault of the neighbors' children.

We are in an era when we hear lots about juvenile delinquency. We are also in an era in which we hear repeated too often "We must do something for the young people." That's the gimmick which sees hard-earned taxpayers' dollars go down the drain for new athletic fields and equipment; for public-backed enterprises to entertain our boys and girls during their vast amount of recreation time.

Maybe, those pledges will be honored. Maybe, the disgraceful conduct will be ended forever. We hope so.

We can't get away from the idea, however, that if those same boys were obliged to walk to school every morning; obliged to get to school on time; obliged also to learn there's nothing smart about filthy language or the wanton destruction of property—well, things would be a lot better for the growing generation.

Political Overtones

Where Democratic legislators complained bitterly at times last year about their inability to see the Governor and talk with him personally, the welcome mat is now out for them, and periods are set aside almost every afternoon when they may meet with Furcolo.

That has resulted in a much friendlier feeling on the part of the Democratic law-makers toward their party head.

It would be inaccurate to report that all the Democrats in the House and Senate are enthusiastic about Furcolo or that those who have suffered rebuffs at his hands or at his direction have forgotten their grievances.

But it is a fact that Governor Furcolo has improved his relationship with the Legislature tremendously during the past three weeks.

Governor's Councillor Christian A. Herter, Jr., may have been indirectly responsible in some measure for the sudden endeavors to tighten the Democratic hatches in preparation for the political storm ahead.

While they aren't saying so publicly, the Democratic politicians privately have a very healthy respect for the younger Herter as a political adversary and for the kind of fight he could wage as head of the Republican State ticket. It may be somewhat significant that the efforts to attain Democratic peace coincided closely with the news that Herter intended to seek the GOP endorsement for Governor.

Democratic State Senate Leader John E. Powers, who battled Furcolo so forcefully last year on the sales tax issue, has been working fairly closely with the Governor in recent weeks and has sat in on the conferences at which Democratic strategy has been mapped for the present legislative session.

No close bond of friendship exists between Furcolo and Powers, as it does between the Governor and Speaker John F. Thompson, and none is likely to be created.

Furcolo and Powers, however, have put aside their differences at least as far as the public is concerned, and Powers loses no opportunity to predict Governor Furcolo's reelection.

Survival IS NOT ENOUGH

MARCH OF DIMES CARD TODAY!

Senator Powers believes, incidentally, that Furcolo's prospects of achieving a second term in the Governorship are far brighter than would be the case if Furcolo had won his fight for the sales tax and the tax were now in effect. It would be interesting to know whether Governor Furcolo concurs in that opinion.

A real political pro in every sense of the word, Powers reserves for himself the right to differ with Furcolo on individual issues and possibly even the right to reduce the Governor's budget if he deems such a step necessary. But the outspoken Senator, who is now serving his 20th year on Beacon Hill, makes it plain that he will be out campaigning for Governor Furcolo next autumn.

Senator Powers feels that the major questions before the Legislature this year will be how to balance the State budget without enacting any new taxes, save possibly for an additional cent per package on cigarettes, and to find a solution to the troublesome railroad commuter problem.

Powers parried the question when it was put to him, but it is known that he and other conscientious Democratic legislators are troubled about the tieups between certain of the railroads and influential figures in the Democratic party.

Comment On Story

The Editor

Newton Graphic

Dear Sir:

Thank you for your headline story on the PTA Council's efforts to find a solution to the dog problem.

It is unfortunate you were not able to mention more typical Council business, the report of the public relations survey which was read by the committee chairman, Jerome Grossman. Discussion of this report took well over an hour and was tabled until the February meeting. Committee members are Damon Carter, Mrs. Ernest Dietz, Henry Marcus, Mrs. Sylvester McGinn, Paul Melrose, Lorenz Mutter, and John R. Swanton, Jr., several of whom were present.

In addition Edward C. Uehlein, president of the Council, announced that the Boston University School of Human Relations has offered scholarship help to conduct a survey of needs and offer a blueprint of action to local PTAs. This offer has been accepted, and a group of interested people will soon be at work with the representative from the Human Relations Center.

In your news story you speak of "delegates" to the Newton PTA Council" at this January 9 meeting. To the contrary, this was a regularly scheduled monthly meeting of the executive board of the PTA Council which consists of the presidents of each of the twenty-nine PTA groups in Newton.

Delegates serve in quite another way; two are appointed from each PTA, and their numbers make up the personnel of the Council's many committees, among them the legislative committee and the health and safety committee which are working on the dog difficulty. There was only one Council delegate present at the January 9 meeting, and he serves as a committee chairman.

We shall continue to send you full reports of the executive board meetings and other Council activities. Do call either Mr. Uehlein or me if you need further details.

Mrs. Robert B. Hull.

Leashing a Must

The Editor

Newton Graphic:

At the last meeting of the Newton Council of P.T.A. it was voted by an overwhelming majority of 13 to 1 to recommend a full time leash law. This problem is a serious one because of the great concern, not only by the parents of the school children, but by Newton School Principals. There can be no doubt that dogs need some restraint around school grounds. Their interference both with school curriculum and with school children has at all times caused concern and even panic. The fact that people have been urged to keep dogs away from school areas has not been successful. It is both for the benefit of the dogs and the children that this legislation is necessary. The sooner that the Board of Aldermen realize that it is their civic duty to give this matter their immediate and serious consideration, the better it will be for our community.

Some may contend that a leash law is not necessary, but if they will examine the reports of our school principals, they will be enlightened why this is a must in our community.

Maurice Perlman, Chairman, Health and Safety Comm., Oak Hill P.T.A.

List Bad Dogs

The Editor

Newton Graphic:

Dear Sir,

After reading the news story concerning the efforts of the Newton P.T.A. legislative committee to have all dogs in Newton restrained at all times, it seems to me to be high time that someone spoke up for the great majority of dog owners who love their pets, wish them to lead normal "dogs' lives"—but who can also be considerate of their neighbors.

Before all Newton dogs are deprived of their freedom, before all dog owners are punished for the thoughtlessness of a few, why not try this. Publish each week — on the front page of The Newton Graphic—a list of the owners of the dogs that are being nuisances in and around the school yards. The list might be a lengthy one the first week, but few families would risk such public censure for long! It is a practical, simple solution, worth trying rather than rushing into an extreme measure of legislation that simply couldn't be adequately enforced, and that would bring more resentment than results.

Sincerely yours,
BARBARA LEAROWD
(Mrs.) Robert W.

Opposes Leash Law

The Editor

Newton Graphic:

I am thirteen years old, and I read your article in this week's issue of your paper about leashing all dogs in Newton and I was very upset.

I own a very much loved pet who behaves himself and I love him very much. Why should all dogs be treated as criminals and have to suffer because a few do not act right. Would all the citizens of Newton be put in jail because a few committed crimes?

Dogs have their rights as much as people, therefore I protest strongly against the leashing of dogs and I know all other children who own pets agree with me at Weeks Jr. High.

Yours very truly

Put Curb On

The Editor

Newton Graphic:

I love dogs, but more important, I love children.

It's time that reasonable restraints were put on our canine friends. They have been a constant nuisance as well as danger at our schools.

Congratulations on your coverage of our serious problem. Let's hope some curb can be put into effect promptly.

Oppose Liquor Sale

The Editor

Newton Graphic:

A group of friends who live in Greater Newton and who live in hope, at some future date, of seeing our lovely Newton area free from package stores and also others licensed for the sales of wines and malt beverages, wish to thank you for your article published earlier in December in regard to the decision of the Newton License Commission not to issue any more licenses in 1958.

The high rate of car accidents, the continued crime menace and juvenile delinquency, so much of it due to liquor, make one eager to see the day come when our beautiful towns are free from it. We hope that this policy of curtailing licenses will continue each year.

It is going to be an early spring in my house . . . Clapper's, that Newton's favorite Garden Shop, have a Royal Dutch Amaryllis bulb just about ready to bloom, and I decided that it would be a lot of fun to try one at home . . . They last year after year and seem amazingly simple to grow . . . with blossoms up to ten inches wide . . . I also brought home a Hybrid Gloxinia, which they tell me rates as the second favorite house plant. Of course they have a pretty velvet looking leaf as well as the promise of a gorgeous flower . . . Why don't you visit Clapper's too, and buy yourself a little plant pot full of spring . . .

Files Bill to Make Parents Pay for Damages

Representative George E. Rawson (R-Newton) has filed with the Clerk of the House of Representatives, House Bill No. 1307, to require parents or guardians of a delinquent minor to pay for damages to persons or property committed by such delinquents. In case the payment is not made forthwith, it shall be paid to the probation officer, who shall give a receipt therefor, keep a record of the payment, pay the money to the injured person and keep on file his receipt therefor. "In recent months," stated Rep. Rawson, "there have been altogether too many instances of vicious attacks on persons, vandalism and damages to public and private property by youthful hoodlums. I feel that in making the parents pay for these depredations, will help in curbing the juvenile delinquents. Certainly parental irresponsibility lies at the root of the problem."

Horace Mann PTA Hears Plan for Classroom TV

The goal of classroom television is the fusion of the best in teaching and the best in television. This was the point emphasized by William L. Winston in his recent talk before the Horace Mann P.T.A., Newtonville.

Mr. Winston serves the Newton Public Schools in two capacities, as Co-ordinator of Audio-visual Education and as Television Co-ordinator.

Using a kinescope to aid in presenting his subject, Mr. Winston demonstrated the set-up for the open-circuit television for schools within range of WGBH-TV. From April to May in 1958 the first programs will be shown for one-half hour once a week at 10:30 a.m. These will be "live" and on science for the upper elementary level. Starting in the fall they will be scheduled every day and on different levels and different areas of science. They will be used as supplementary, enriching teaching and will not replace the classroom teacher. Parents at home may watch these programs on Channel 2.

"The battle for classroom television is over," Mr. Winston said. "We are now on the threshold of a real adventure." He described how the anticipation of the use of television in schools had revolutionized the thinking of school architects, since acoustics and other factors of construction would be involved.

Although planners may have a large vision for the future, the Eastern Massachusetts Council for School Television prefers to start slowly with the single-level program this spring. Teachers need training in the use of this new classroom tool. Courses are already being given to accomplish this. In addition, teachers will receive a brochure or planning guide one month before the series begins. This will give plans for procedure and subject matter and suggestions for preparation and follow-up, will list all kinds of supplementary materials and books. The classroom teacher will carry on testing of the pupils. This will be done continuously to determine how much the pupils understand and learn.

Mr. Winston, as co-ordinator, will maintain communication between the classroom teacher and the teacher in the studio. This will provide one way to evaluate the worthwhileness of the program.

In preparation for the March 12 panel discussion on the subject of the Horace Mann school building, Dr. C. Wesley Watson presented the recommendation of the Health and Safety Committee.

Mrs. Christian F. Hagelstein spoke briefly on the American Field Service Scholarship which will enable a deserving Newton High School student to spend ten weeks in the summer with a European family.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Dominic Strazzulla, Mrs. Richard White, and Mrs. Cecil Henry, assisted by room mothers Mrs. Robert Bolster, Jr., Mrs. Robert C. Waehler, and Mrs. John Canha.

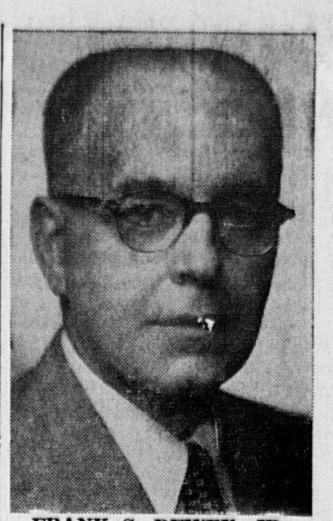

Miss Judith Ray Vogel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Vogel of 31 Forest st., Newton Highlands, has been pledged to Delta Chi Delta social club at Hiram College in Hiram Ohio. She is a graduate of Newton High School, class of 1955.

Vote 14 to 1 to Ask Aldermen To Enact Stronger Leash Law

By a vote of 14 to 1, members of the executive board of the Newton Council of P.T.A.'s agreed to petition the Board of Aldermen for the enactment of a full time leash law to provide restraint of dogs throughout the entire city.

Action was taken at the regular meeting at which all Newton P.T.A.'s were represented by the presidents of their organizations. The motion was made by Joshua Guberman, president of the Spaulding P.T.A.

During the discussion, Mrs. Charles Robinson, chairman of the legislative committee of the Council, stated that the Council's previous request for a partial leash law had been rejected by the Aldermen who felt that present statutes were enough. She indicated, however, that these rules apply only to vicious dogs and not to those whose nuisance value, because of playfulness, disrupt outdoor physical education and terrify youngsters.

Presidents present were asked to discuss restraint of dogs with their own executive boards. The preponderance indicated preference for a full time law.

In addition to voting on this petition, the group listened to a report from the public relations study committee, Jerome Grossman, chairman. The study was authorized in February, 1957 to explore "means of publicizing to the population of the city their tangible interest in the quality of our public school system." There will be further discussion on this report at the February meeting of the Council's executive board.

Other members of this committee are Damon Carter, Mrs. Ernest Dietz, Henry Marcus, Mrs. Sylvester McGinn, Paul Melrose, Lorenz Muther and John R. Swanton, Jr.

Edward C. Uehlein, president of the Council, announced that the School of Human Relations of Boston University has offered a scholarship to a student to work with a committee from the PTA Council to survey and offer a blueprint for action to local parent-teacher groups.

Among the guests at the meeting were Mrs. Genevieve O'neale and Edwin Hawkrig of the school committee, and Dr. Charles Richter, assistant superintendent of schools.

Fare-

in the Back Bay from 26 to 38 cents, Ferriter said he was not making such a claim.

In addition to Mayor Whitmore, those opposing the proposed heavy fare increases on the lines to Newton included Governor's Councillor Christian A. Herter, Jr., Congressman Laurence Curtis, Representatives George E. Rawson, Irene K. Thresher and Arthur G. Heaney and Senator Donald L. Gibbs.

At their meeting this week the members of the Newton Board of Aldermen also adopted a resolution opposing the fare hike. A copy of the resolution was presented to the Utilities Commission by Mayor Whitmore.

The Mayor sharply rapped present B&A officials, declaring that "the whole history of this railroad in the past few years would indicate they want to price themselves out of business."

He declared that the B&A heads have engaged in stock manipulation and have tried to make a profit in the stock market rather than in the operation of the railroad.

Whitmore declared that the B&A officials want to retain the profitable side of the business and to get rid of the unprofitable.

"If you look at the report of the B&A, you find they are still making money," he told the commission.

Mayor Whitmore reminded utilities commissioners that they have an obligation to protect the public interest. He said he would not oppose "a reasonable and fair increase, but this is not reasonable."

Whitmore cited a decision rendered earlier this month by the U. S. Supreme Court that the Interstate Commerce Commission cannot raise fares purely because lines were not paying their own way.

The Mayor said that the railroads assumed obligations as well as privileges when they obtained their franchises. He asserted that the B&A already has discouraged patronage by closing stations and reducing service and declared that after the recent snow storm the road failed to plow its property properly.

Mayor Whitmore recorded the opposition of the Oak Hill Association.

Executive Councillor Herter in offering "strenuous objection and opposition" to the fare increase the B&A is seeking to put into effect charged that the proposed fare schedule officials of the road submitted "is so unrealistic as to raise a grave doubt as to the motives behind their action."

"The increase sought in fares is actually so ridiculous that it would appear that the Boston & Albany officials are deliberately attempting to discourage the public patronage of their lines by pricing them beyond the financial means of the average commuter," Herter declared.

"If what the Boston & Albany is endeavoring to do is to price its commuter lines out of existence, it should come out in to the open and disclose its real purpose," he charged.

"I recognize that your commission must view the proposed B&A fare schedule on its face value and either accept, reject or modify it," he told the commission.

"With that in mind, I respectfully submit that the fare increases proposed are unreasonable and unrealistic and should be rejected in the public interest," Herter stated.

"It certainly is neither realistic nor reasonable to suggest that the fare for a ride from Newton Corner to Boston should be increased from 35 cents to $1.07, that the fare between West Newton and Boston should be raised from 42 cents to $1.14 or that the cost of a train ride from Auburndale to Boston should be $1.22."

"I earnestly hope that your commission will reject this petition for the reasons I have cited," Councillor Herter stated.

"It certainly is neither realistic nor reasonable to suggest Congressman Curtis recorded his opposition to "any exorbitant fare increases" on the railroad commuter lines serving Newton and described those being sought as "unfair and unreasonable."

A warning that a vast number of people who now commute between Newton and Boston by train, would be forced to use their own automobiles if the drastic fare hike were sanctioned, was sounded by Representative Rawson.

Such a development would greatly worsen both the parking and traffic problems, Rawson pointed out, adding that there are not enough highways and parking facilities to handle the increased traffic.

"The granting of this petition would put the railroads out of business as far as the City of Newton is concerned," Rawson informed the commission.

Both Rawson and Representative Thresher maintained that financial help for the railroads should be provided in the form of tax relief.

Mrs. Thresher observed that airports are being subsidized with tax money but that "we are antiquated in our thinking about railroads."

"Whenever I can I use the railroads," Mrs. Thresher said. "I feel they are the backbone of the nation. But I don't think the B & A has given our station in Waban the kind of service to which we are entitled." She warned that the increase in congestion in Boston would be tremendous "if this petition is allowed."

She recorded the objection of the Waban Improvement Society.

Attorney Ferriter, arguing for the B & A, contended that the proposed 71 1/2-cent per ride fare hike, which objectors claimed would make the railroad too expensive for the average commuter, was neither a "publicity gimmick" nor a "ruse" to price the line out of business. He said the fare boost being sought is based on the results of a lengthy and detailed cost analysis of the passenger service in the area between Boston and Worcester.

He said the B & A is losing more than $50,000 a week on its suburban operations in that area.

It is estimated that 4000 Newtonites now use the B & A to get to and from their places of employment.

If the increase were allowed, it would add $7.15 a week to their transportation costs for the usual five round trips. The 71 1/2-cent increase applies to both the individual tickets and the 12-ride tickets.

B & A officials, sitting in the hearing room, listened to complaints that their trains are hot in summer, cold in winter, dirty, noisy, poorly ventilated and not always on time.

Railroad officials, on the other hand, maintained that a ride between South Station and Newton Corner on one of their trains is worth $1.07.

To report that there was a disagreement on that point is one of the under-statements of 1958.

Mayor Whitmore previously filed a brief with the Interstate Commerce Commission outlining Newton's three principal objections to the proposed abandonment of the railroad lines.

The Mayor told the ICC that there is no absolute guarantee that any alternative service to the railroad service will be provided; he cited the need for rail freight facilities of Newton industrial plants; he posed the question of what Newton would do for fast commuter transportation between the time the railroad stops running and the MTA begins its promised service.

The ICC is the only remaining barrier which proponents must hurdle before construction actually starts on the MTA extension over the Highland branch.

Local Assessors Apologize For Tardy State on Auto Excise Tax

Winter Sports Cause Traffic Rule Changes

Two new traffic regulations will be put into effect by Newton police on Saturday.

The west side of Albermarle road, Newtonville, will be made one-way, southbound from Crafts street to Watertown street, from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Saturdays and Sundays because of the crowds attracted to the Fessenden School for skating at Ware's Cove.

No parking will be permitted on either side of West Pine street, Auburndale, between Melrose street and the Auburndale playground, because of skating at Ware's Cove.

More Praise For Newton Fire Dept.

Compliments for the smooth efficiency of the Newton Fire Department continue to be received by Fire Chief Frederick A. Perkins, Jr. The latest praise was contained in a letter from Secretary Ernest W. Bivans of the board of trustees of the Centenary Methodist Church, recently damaged by fire.

Mr. Bivans' letter was as follows:

"Thank you for your very prompt and efficient action at the fire in the building of Centenary Methodist Church. You successfully controlled what could have been a very serious fire.

"I also wish to thank you for the care that your firemen used to prevent damage to our windows and to minimize the water damage in other parts of the building. Your assistance in clearing up after the fire is appreciated very much."

The granting of this petition would put the railroads out of business as far as the City of Newton is concerned," Rawson informed the commission.

Both Rawson and Representative Thresher maintained that financial help for the railroads should be provided in the form of tax relief.

Appended to several thousand motor vehicle excise tax bills being sent out from the assessors' office at Newton City Hall is an explanation of why the recipients of the "Bad News" are getting 1957 tax bills in 1958.

The fault, of course, does not lie with the local office. The State is merely behind in figuring things out and advising the local board. In all, Newton will get some 45,000 bills for '57 in this tax classification.

The assessors' explanation to each taxpayer reads as follows:

"Undoubtedly you are curious and perhaps concerned as to why your 1957 Motor Vehicle Excise Bill is being sent to you in 1958.

The procedure for assessing and billing this Excise Tax requires, under General Laws, that basic necessary information be furnished by two Departments of the Commonwealth. Unfortunately this information did not reach the city during 1957 for about 10,000 vehicles. The city is up-to-date on processing all tax bills it has received for 1957.

"We trust this will explain the unavoidable delay in transmitting your bill and we hope for your understanding in the matter."

"You are allowed 30 days from date of issue for payment of this bill, or for application for abatement."

Chi Rho to Offer The Best in Jazz

The Sacred Heart Chi Rho, Newton Center, will present a jazz spectacular, "Now You Has Jazz," Sunday, at 8 p.m. at the Sacred Heart School Auditorium.

President George F. Malloy promises:

"It will be a dazzling musical explanation or exposition of all of the various types and branches of jazz — ragtime, Dixieland, subtle jazz, swing, boogie woogie contemporary and progressive jazz, blues, topped off with a jam session, and featuring an introductory commentary. What's All This Jazz About Jazz? Music will be by the All Star Jazz Sextet."

Dr. Reeves Betts will do a blue-baby operation. Living at the remote Indian clinic with him is his wife, the former Martha Jones of Newton Centre, whose mother, Mrs. H. E. Jones Sr. now makes her home at 251 Grant Ave.

The Vellore Hospital is partially supported by funds contributed on the World Day of Prayer, to be held in Newton at the Elliot Church on February 21.

NFD Lists More Calls; Less Serious Fires During 1957

Newton's Fire Department had a busy year in 1957. There were more fires — at least more calls for the services of the department — but the total per capita dropped from 6.1 percent to 2.5 percent.

These were some of the highlights contained in the annual report filed by Fire Chief Frederick A. Perkins, Jr.:

The report contains no total dollar-and-cents estimate of fire losses but it shows that fire insurance covered $4,884,015 of fire-damaged property while fire insurance losses totalled $221,565.26.

One fatality was recorded — that by asphyxiation.

Only four fires showed a loss of $10,000 or more during the year. These were: Aug. 29, home of David Spector, 124 Woodchester drive; Oct. 22, home of Alvin Jakes, 161 Summer street; Dec. 10, Filene's, 27 Boylston street, and Dec. 12, National Research, 56 Christina street.

Rubbish, dump and brush fires brought out the apparatus most often during the year. Calls for these fires totalled 654. In addition, there were 327 first aid and emergency calls.

Electrical defects were blamed for 224 fires; careless smoking for 21; children playing with matches, 18; defective oil burners, 81; chimney and heating appliances, 134.

No three-alarm fires were listed for the entire year. There were six in the two-alarm category.

Two of the calls were for a distant neighbor. That was the town of Plymouth and sort of a Civilian Defense operation when forest fires got out of control during the dry summer.

Other mutual aid calls listed were: Boston, 31; Watertown, 12; Waltham, 17; Weston, 2; Wellesley, 29; Needham, 23; Brookline, 15; Chelsea, 1.

that the Newton Chamber cannot do what it hopes to do with the funds now at its disposal. He suggested steps which are necessary if the Chamber is to play a more important and effective role in the city.

One is the readjustment of the existing dues schedule. The second is a drive to be launched in March for the enrollment of new members.

Several speakers - President George White of the Newton-Waltham Bank and Trust Company, President Orville Clapper of the Clapper Company, President Grenfell A. Swim of the Gamewell Company and Dr. Charles Haney, co-chairman of the 1958 membership campaign, all voiced their support of the statements made by Colburn and Horan.

The program which the Chamber hopes to undertake this year includes these plans:

Form a city-wide Christmas

Hamilton School Dance Students Show Parents

Members of the social dance class of the Hamilton School had parents and Principal Rose Pilibosian and faculty members as guests at its mid-season dance party.

The children not only displayed their mastery of the social dancing techniques but also their dancing abilities and etiquette of the dance gathering.

Purpose of the class is to teach poise, proper manners at social gatherings and a good basic dance foundation.

The second session of the social dance class will start the last week of January. Mrs. Laura Karobolis is dance teacher. Accompanist at the piano was Mrs. William Desmond. These classes are part of the Learn-to-Dance program sponsored by the Recreation Department, under director E. Evan Johnson.

Assist in the city planning program.

Steps are now underway to enlist the cooperation of all present Chamber members in the program, and in March the drive for new members will be launched.

Newton Nails Down Playoff Spot by Topping Belmont 2-1

Newton's ice men assured themselves of a play-off berth when they made second period goal by defenseman Dave Blomberg stand up to edge Belmont 2-1.

The Belmont win enabled them to remain in a second place tie with Cambridge Latin.

Newton was attempting to break a 1-1 deadlock just before the two-minute mark in the second period of the Belmont game and had the heat on in the Belmont end of the ice. Captain Jim Leonard poked the puck out of the scramble and Blomberg took it to the blue line and drove a blazing shot through the assembled players for the winning score.

Belmont goalie Paul DiNapoli wasn't to blame. He hasn't seen the shot yet, so perfectly was it screened.

Belmont had taken the lead at 1:30 in the first and Dave Craig had tied it at 6:51 in the same period. Bob McBride's goal for Belmont was very similar to that of Blomberg's. It was screened. Jack Kelley didn't have a chance on it.

Craig's shot ended a brilliant dash from his own blue line through the Belmont defense. The shot came from 10 feet out and beat DiNapoli cleanly.

Helped Plan Big B. U. Sports Night

Alden Cooley of Newton, president of the Boston University Club of Newton, is chairman of the annual Sports Night of the BU Varsity Club to be held tonight (Thursday) at The 1200 Beacon Street Hotel.

Tribute will be paid to Gary Famiglietti, B.U., '38, who starred with the Chicago Bears after leaving B.U., and to Tom Gastall, B.U., '55, the young Baltimore Oriole catcher who lost his life in an airplane crash. Their names will be formally introduced into B.U.'s athletic Hall of Fame.

Tigers Cop Only 1 1st Place; Balance Brings Big BAA Win

Rindge had the spectacular performer but Newton had the balance in the titular B.A.A. track meet and the Tigers retained their indoor crown, even though they came up with only one first place winner.

There was no pressure at the finish. Long before the final events, the relays, were put on the floor Newton had things sewed up. The Tigers added enough points to Larry Smith's sole first place medal to roll up a total of 21 1/2 points which was 3 1/2 better than Rindge could amass even with the amazing 16-year-old John Thomas soaring to a new record in the high jump.

The Tigers got their quota of points in every event save the mile and the 300-yard run.

Coach Ed Boyle's boys were obliged to read numbers on the backs of other performers through most of the meet but they did well enough in gathering points to retain the championship.

Larry Smith had been bedded with a cold Thursday and Friday. Yet he came up with the only first place performance of the squad.

Indeed, his feat of taking the measure of Malden's Bob Parris in the 50-yard dash was something of an upset. At 15, Smith was making his debut in indoor competition. He negotiated the distance in 5.7 seconds. Parris, the defending champ, was second.

Football End Jim Yancey picked up 5th place in the dash to give the Orange a start of six points.

Phil Johnson came up with the fastest 600 yards he ever has run during his high school career. It wasn't good enough to win, however. Dick Camuso of Lynn Classical, who was running with a convalescing ankle injury, came down the stretch to nip Johnson by three yards.

Plan Life Saving Instructor Course

UCYN to Observe Nat'l Youth Week

The United Christian Youth of Newton will observe next week as National Youth Week in conjunction with a nationwide observance sponsored by the United Christian Youth Movement.

The UCYN was organized in Newton in 1956. Designed on a pattern used by many youth movements, the U.C.Y.N. serves as an organization whose purpose is to give the individual youth fellowships in Newton a feeling of unity.

The UCYN will sponsor a service the beginning of Youth Week to be held at the Eliot Church, Newton Corner on Jan. 26 at 7:30 p.m. and Wednesday morning services will be held throughout Lent.

These services, held in churches near the high school, are especially for high school students and will feature guest speakers. In addition to those, the UCYN puts on an Easter sunrise service and has a summer fellowship for high school students who are in Newton during July and August.

LWVM School, Jan. 29

Mrs. Stanley Ebb of Newton is handling arrangements for tickets and transportation for the 36th annual School of International Relations of the League of Women Voters of Massachusetts, for those Newton women who wish to attend.

The school will be held next Wednesday. This year's subject will be "Arms Control; the Riddle of the Future."

Headlights and Highlights From Newton High School

By JUDY ARNOLD

HIGHLIGHTS... The minds of many Newton High students, parents and teachers are focused on college at this time of year. Almost every S-Block in Room 324, the social room, an admissions officer from some college speaks with students who are interested in that particular college.

In the same vein, Junior Night was held a week ago, when Mr. Howe, principal, and Mr. Mitchell, head of the guidance department, discussed the choice of colleges with the parents of junior students. Recently, an assembly was presented to the juniors themselves. Mr. Howe, a representative from Lasell Junior College, and others spoke on various subjects concerned with entering college.

Twelve Newton High students were given the very unusual opportunity of personally meeting and talking to Dr. Conant, the ex-president of Harvard. Gene Schwaab, Peter Gruber, Donna Richmond, Sue Schwartz, Martha Tepper, Penny Dowdell, Dick Cohen, Judy Arnold, Steve Secunda, Barry Wish, Mike Huberman, and Bob Snyder, representing several groups and classes in the high school, discussed such things as Newton Plan, student government in connection with the home-room, and homework with the very learned Dr. Conant.

Recently it was decided to give part of the Elm road student parking district to the faculty. Elm road, from the tennis courts to the intersection of Lowell avenue, was divided in half. There is now a very decisive border between the part allotted to the teachers and the section for the students. It was previously stated that two students are selected to go to the Rotary Club meetings each week. This is incorrect. Two pupils, worthy of representing Newton High, are chosen to visit the meetings once a month.

Senior standouts in last week's Newtonite were "Doc" Zolli and Judy Goldstein.

Working in the Building One office and assisting the school secretaries in such matters as sending notes to pupils, bringing notes to homerooms, and helping check attendance records are Guntia Lapins, Elaine Sheehan, Linda Louie, Ellie Norton, Phyllis Marder, Anne Havey, Nancy Blacher, Bunny Pludo, Joy Buell, Eveline Sabatini, Maryann Motherway, Harriett Stetson, Anne Mauro, Mary Elliott, Marilyn Teyson, Gail Spuler, Linda Sherman, Myrna Natoli, Sandy Van Steenberg, Barbara Campagnone, Judy Marchant, Phyllis Lamkin, Carol Demerjian, Joan Andler, Cathi McAdams, Joni Lourie, Wendy Martin, Martha Hume, Sandy Sulkowitch, Marilyn Cox, Marilyn Flynn, Patty Howard, Amy Jo Sostillo, Marilyn Clapper, Arleen Freeman, Sally Kelaway, Lillian Fraser, and Joan Sunstein.

THE OUT-DOOR TYPE... 42 girls in the Outing Club went to Peterboro, New Hampshire last week-end and had a wonderful time skiing, dog-sledding, ice-skating and getting ski instruction. The youth was ideal for the trip. The girls left with their advisor on Friday night, January 17 and returned on Sunday, January 19.

THE GREAT BIG WONDERFUL WHIRL... At the very successful Junior Prom. Tom Terrio and his Corvettes and a female singing group (Diane Fay, Cheryl Kuebler, and Marcia Kerr) provided the entertainment. "Centurama" punch, Sputnik and Muttnik cookies and orange drinks were served. The two main decorations in the gym were abstract world globes four feet in diameter. The globes, worth $600 apiece were borrowed from a department store. They were made of wire, with the countries outlined in gold.

Finds Home Afire On Return From Hospital

As he reached his home at 37 Frederick street, Newtonville, following a surgical operation and stay at Newton-Wellesley Hospital, Richard Crosby found fire apparatus on the street in front of his residence. The apparatus had been summoned after a neighbor, Charles A. Breed of 47 Gay street, spotted smoke and flames in a bedroom of the Crosby home.

The fire caused $2500 damage and is believed to have been due to faulty wiring in a lamp.

Mr. Crosby was being accompanied home by his convalescence by Mrs. Crosby.

students. Refreshments made by the students and their parents were served. Last week the club presented an authentic Spanish bullfight.

The Science Fair committee this year plans to work with the Science Club in the organization of the Science Fair. Although the fair itself is not held until the spring, students are developing their projects now as preparation to enter the fair often takes many months of hard work.

The Junior Class Committee has been selling class rings this week. Yesterday, a representative from the ring company visited the school to measure the hands of all pupils who plan to purchase rings. The new style rings which were chosen have an oval shape with the Newton High crest and the numbers 1859-1869 on it. The present sophomore and freshman classes will receive the same ring, except for a difference in the year of graduation.

Angier Pupils Are Planning Science Fair

Grade 6 pupils of the Albert Edgar Angier School in Waban are presently planning their "Science Fair '58" which is to be held Feb. 3.

Each pupil will submit one entry which will illustrate a principle either of the physical or natural sciences.

The purpose of the fair is to develop a greater interest in science and to build a background of generalizations with which to understand natural phenomena. Emphasis will also be placed on developing habits of safety in working with science materials.

The teacher committee for the fair consists of Miss Louise Blanchard, Miss Helen Jaques, and Richard Smith. Advisor to the committee is Robert Jackson, Principal of the Albert Edgar Angier School.

Highland Glee Club Preparing For Its Concert

The Highland Glee Club of Newton has begun its second series of rehearsals in preparation for its March 11 concert at Newton High School. D. Ralph Maclean, conductor, and his music committee, have prepared a most interesting program.

The climax of the season will come in May when the club plays host to the Annual Contest and Concert of the New England Federation of Men's Glee Clubs to celebrate the Highland Glee Club's 50th anniversary.

Memorial Exhibit Of Art Work Now On Display Here

A Memorial Exhibit of Mrs. Emma Bailey Fraser's pastel paintings of flowers and chickens is now on display at the Newton Free Library, 414 Centre st., Newton Corner. The exhibit will remain until Saturday, Feb. 1.

There will also be shown some of her sculpture and earlier commercial art work as well as some figurines. About 85 pictures will be on display.

Mrs. Fraser, who passed away Dec. 18, 1957, had held shows at the Copley Society and Vose Galleries in Boston and also an annual show at her home in Newton. Her chickens have been sold in the gift shops of R. H. Stearns Co. and Shreve Crump & Low in Boston.

Patrolman Kiley Heads Police BA

Patrolman T. Manley Kiley, 20-year veteran of the Newton police department, was elected president of the Newton Police Benefit Association.

Re-elected were Patrolman J. Frank Lovey, secretary; Patrolman Martin W. Daley, treasurer, and Patrolman John W. Murphy, assistant treasurer. Elected directors were Patrolmen Raymond J. Sullivan, Michael J. Kennedy, Robert M. Mahoney and Thomas F. Ganley.

Tellers for the balloting were Patrolman John J. Connelly and John P. Donahue.

Study Shows Who's Moving To Newton and Where From

By PHYLLIS NEWTON

Statistics are never so fascinating as when they tell story about your own neighbors.

A just-completed survey of 300 families who moved into Newton during the last months of 1957 paints an accurate picture of your new neighbors, and turns up some surprising facts.

Accepts $31,500 Settlement For Hot-Rod Injuries

Mrs. Martha B. Willey, 42, of 2 Manchester road, Newton Highlands, accepted a settlement of $31,500 in Federal Court at Boston in her $150,000 damage suit against a Providence youth and his father. The suit was based on an allegation that a "hot-rod" operated by the youth crashed into her automobile on Cape Cod in 1955 and caused her serious injuries. Defendants were Harry King Cross, Jr., and his father, Mr. Willey testified that on Aug. 17, 1955, while she was travelling along route 6A in Dennis, the hot rod crashed into her machine causing her to be hospitalized for concussion, several broken teeth, spinal injuries and lacerations of the face. The case was on trial before Judge George C. Weeney's session of the court when the settlement was reached.

Figures tabulated from the records of the Newton Welcome Wagon reveal the typical newcomer to Newton:

1. Owns his home.
  2. Has one child.
  3. Hails from Brookline or Boston.
  4. Drives a low-priced car.
- The Garden City is attracting a great many families. The real estate business here is active, with from 20 to 25 newcomers moving in every week.

A majority purchase homes, but there are a great many more rentals than in similar neighboring suburbs where 80% of the population are homeowners.

The study showed that 172 out of almost 300 families bought homes (roughly 60%) and the remainder are renting.

Influx From Brookline
Moving firms have found that families relocate every five years on the average, and that they tend to move within 20 miles of their former home. Figures in our survey bear this out.

Newton is attracting its largest single group of newcomers from neighboring Brookline — 45 out of 300 families. Even larger —

Herter Defends Father Against Furcolo Attack

Governor's Councillor Christian A. Herter, Jr., of Newton in an address last night before the Westwood Republican Town Committee in which he strongly defended his father's administration against the attacks made on it by Governor Furcolo, accused Furcolo of dissipating substantial surpluses in one year which had been left by the previous Herter administration.

Recalling that Furcolo in his inaugural message a year ago repeatedly complained that he was inheriting a "financial mess," Councillor Herter remarked: "I wonder how Governor Furcolo would describe the financial condition of the Commonwealth after one year of his administration."

Herter charged that records at the State House now prove Furcolo made glaring misstatements about the financial condition of the Commonwealth at the close of the administration of the Councillor's father, former Governor Christian A. Herter.

"Let's compare Governor Furcolo's statements with the real facts as they are now revealed in the records at the State House," said Councillor Herter. "In his inaugural address, Mr. Furcolo told the people of Massachusetts he was beginning —

Mayor Approves 50-50 Insurance Plan for Workers

Mayor Howard Whitmore, Jr., has recommended to the Board of Aldermen a health and accident insurance plan for Newton city employees by which the city and employees would contribute equal shares to premiums for such insurance.

The Mayor requested that the Aldermen act favorably on a permissive act of the Legislature which would allow Newton to adopt the insurance for its workers.

The city would purchase contributory group life, accidental death, hospital, surgical and medical insurance for employees from the Blue Cross and Blue Shield or some private insurance company offering the benefits sought.

The Mayor, who has been working on the program in conjunction with administrative —

Bonnie M'Leod Given Medal For Saving Life of Pet Dog

Bonnie MacLeod, 15, a Newton High School sophomore and holder of a junior lifesaving certificate from the Red Cross, was a bit embarrassed the other day. She was called "front-and-centre" to receive a medal for heroism, voted her by the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals.

Bonnie lives at 61 Chaske avenue, Auburndale. She has a pet German shepherd dog, 4 years old and born in Hong Kong. His name is Taska. He is a very smart dog but he isn't accustomed to New England winters. Because of Bonnie he's alive today.

Last month Taska wandered out on the ice of Ware's Cove, not far from his mistress' home. The ice broke under his weight. Bonnie plunged in after him.

When Bonnie reached the scene he was struggling in the icy water. Bonnie had to break through the ice but she didn't allow that to prevent her from reaching her pet's side.

She had a particularly difficult time in getting Taska back to safety but she did. The temperature was close to the zero mark. Taska and Bonnie were very cold after the experience. However, Bonnie didn't mind as long as Taska was safe.

Taska was the gift of her uncle, Captain Gordon H. Brown, who picked him up in Hong Kong expressly for Bonnie.

Captain Brown and the airliner he was piloting across the Pacific disappeared early in November. Nothing has been heard of him or the plane and its occupants since.

MDC Starts Plans For Flood Control Projects On Charles

River's Swollen Waters Force Closing of Kendrick Bridge

Plans for a flood-control project on the Charles River in Newton Upper Falls were being carried forward this week by Metropolitan District Commission engineers even as the swollen waters of the river menaced parts of the city and forced the closing of one bridge.

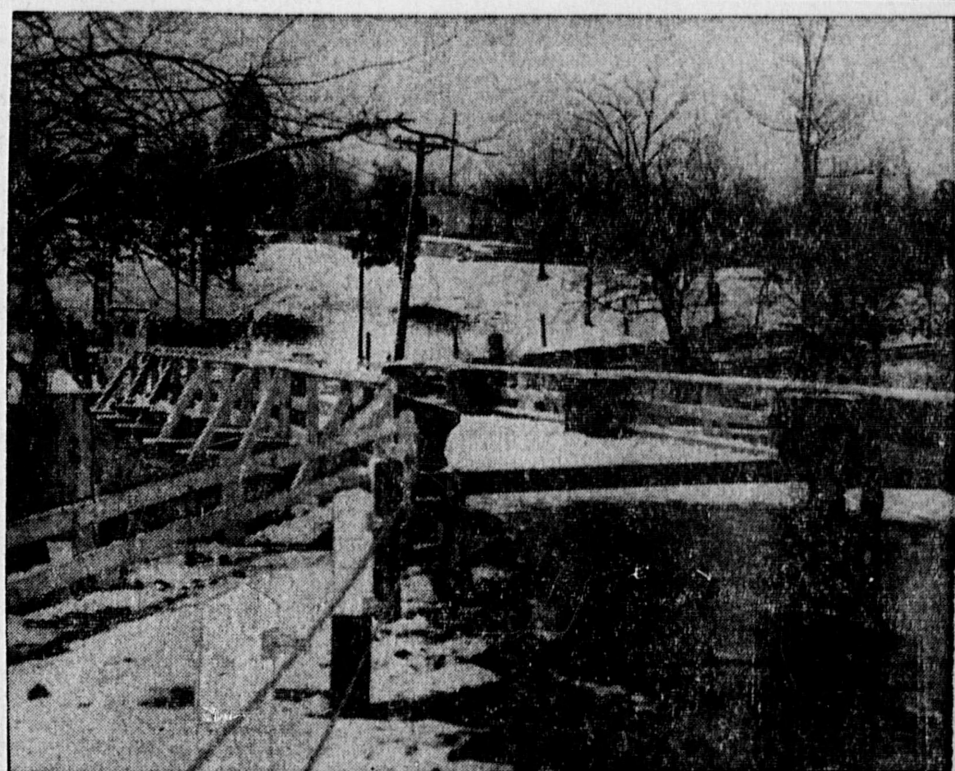

Cellars in hundreds of homes were flooded as a result of the prolonged and heavy rains, and civil defense, Red Cross and military units were alerted to meet the unusual midwinter emergency.

A fall in temperatures and the change from heavy rain to light snow appeared to have eased the situation when it was most threatening, but it was still regarded last night as extremely dangerous.

Newton and Needham officials ordered Kendrick Bridge on Nahanton street in Newton Highlands closed to traffic after the suddenly rampant waters of the Charles rose four inches in a single hour.

Eight 1000-pound cement blocks, which are used as ballast by snow plows, were placed along the railings of the bridge by street department crews to anchor the span against the force of the river's flood waters.

FLOOD WATERS: Rising Charles River threatened to washout Kendrick's Bridge between Newton Highlands and Needham. Bridge was closed to all traffic on Monday as river's water lapped span. Bridge was anchored by eight 1000 pound cement blocks set in place by the street department personnel. Blocks are normally used as ballast for snow plows.

Tigers Meet Cantabs' Mr. Dooley Again in Ice Playoffs

Newton High was obliged to settle for third place in the pre-playoff round standings in the Greater Boston Ice League because Tom Dooley of Cambridge Latin got very hot and the Tigers couldn't find the scoring range on the Cantab's net.

Now the Tigers find themselves getting ready for another meeting with the sharpshooting Mr. Dooley. They face Cambridge Latin in the pairings of playoff teams tomorrow night at the Boston Arena. On the same night, first-place Melrose will be seeking to extend its unbeaten string against fourth-place Arlington.

The ubiquitous Mr. Dooley had quite a night in the game which dropped Newton to third place in the standings. He scored one goal and made the other possible. The score gave him a one point edge over last year's ace goal-maker, George Rossi of Medford. Besides that, it gave the Cantabs their best regular season finish in more than a decade.

Dooley was deadly against the Tigers. The first score came at 9:43 of the first period in a game which was pretty much a tough defensive battle all the way.

Tom was the architect. He —

Firefighters Uncover 2000 Hazards in Newton Dwellings

Announcing result of the inspection program of the fire department, Fire Chief Frederick A. Perkins, Jr., this week urged Newton residents to lose no time in correcting and eliminating hazards pointed up by the inspection.

Firefighters visited 11,200 homes in the inspection. They uncovered nearly 2000 defects or hazards. The hazards included 1046 electrical defects; 619 housekeeping hazards; 143 defective heating units and 24 leaking oil containers.

The chief said that 4082 residents were found to lack necessary oil storage permits and 285 homes lacked fire doors between connecting garages.

Commenting on the inspection, the chief said,

"Newton, being a residential community, experiences its greatest fire losses in the individual homes. While these losses may not be of a sizeable amount, they are in areas and under conditions which could be corrected by the proper educational In-Service-Inspection program. Such a program was started on June 24th and it is helping to build up a better understanding by the public as to some of the benefits that the Fire Department can offer to them. This will result in a much safer community —

Council of Churches Census Sunday by 1700 Volunteers

A force of 1700 volunteers from 22 churches and 4 temples will visit every home in Newton next Sunday afternoon in a census to discover church and temple affiliations and denominational preferences of each resident of the city.

It is one of four projects of an eight-day mission being sponsored by the Newton Council of Churches.

Three other allied projects within the mission are: a self-evaluation by each participating unit, the development and expansion of fellowship cultivation to reach those discovered in the census to have no local religious affiliation, and an enlargement program to enable the temples and churches to expand their ministry.

Said Council President Ernest O. Seyfarth: "Our churches and temples seek to be of ever —

Double Taxation Now Provided Under Withholding Tax Measure

A number of legislators have indicated privately that they will not vote for a State withholding income tax unless some forgiveness plan is worked out to avoid double taxation for Massachusetts wage-earners during the first quarter of 1959.

As the State withholding tax is now proposed and contemplated, Massachusetts residents would have State income taxes deducted from the wages for three and a half months in 1959 before they paid their taxes on their 1958 earnings.

The State would begin taking its bite out of the first pay envelope in January, 1959, while the State income tax on 1958 income would not be done until April 15, 1959.

That aspect of the proposition is troubling some of the more thoughtful lawmakers, entirely aside from the question of whether or not the State withholding income tax would smoke out enough tax-evaders and bring in sufficient additional revenue to warrant its imposition.

A fairly deep-rooted suspicion exists in some quarters on Beacon Hill that the State withholding tax is being advocated by Governor Furcolo principally because it represents a gimmick by which he can balance the State budget for one year without enacting any new taxes which would have a painful impact.

The so-called $13,000,000 "windfall" which the Commonwealth would receive in 1959 is being discussed as if it were a gift which was going to fall from the sky into the State treasury or was going to be picked out of the air by tax collectors.

Unfortunately, that doesn't happen to be the fact. Unhappily, too, it really isn't a windfall unless you maintain that the State can find a windfall by forcing —

Crime Commission Backs Rawson Plea For State-Trained Police

The Massachusetts State Crime Commission favors the training of local police officers by the State, Representative George E. Rawson said this week.

Rawson has filed a bill before the current legislative session providing that the cost of training city and town police officers at the State Police Academy in Framingham be borne by the Commonwealth.

The representative's statement on the matter was as follows:

"Local police officers selected by their chiefs are now trained at the academy at the expense of their city or town. Some cities or towns are unwilling or unable to pay this cost. However, the maintenance of law and order; the prevention and detection of crime are in the interest of the entire commonwealth — just as important in the smallest town as in the cities. Therefore, it seems to be proper for the commonwealth as a whole to bear the cost.

"I have filed this bill in previous years with the support of the Massachusetts Police Chiefs' Association. It has always been approved by the Committee on Public Safety, but the Committee on Ways and Means has declined to recommend the necessary small appropriation. However, the Crime Commission has strongly recommended that local police officers be trained at the Massachusetts Police Academy at state expense in order to equip them better to combat organized crime. Their recommendation should give this bill the support which it needs to insure its passage this year."

Local Contractor Is Suing Waltham On Housing Fill

John J. Glynn, West Newton contractor, has brought suit in Middlesex Superior Court, seeking to compel the city of Waltham, to carry out an alleged agreement by which Glynn was to have supplied fill for Waltham's latest housing project for elderly, low-income persons.

Glynn alleged that former Mayor Paul V. Shaughnessy agreed two weeks before he left office to employ Glynn's firm for the fill. Glynn estimates that 17,000 cubic yards will be necessary and that the alleged contract would be worth between $15,000 and $20,000.

He says no fill has been purchased from him. His petition for a temporary injunction to halt Joseph Lazaro, "Inc., of Waltham, from supplying the fill, was denied by the court.

Hearing on his other petition is expected to come up next month.

WHAT DOCTORS SAY ABOUT:

• Permanents for Children

Q. Is it safe to use cold wave solutions in giving a child a permanent?

A. Yes, if used according to the manufacturer's directions. Cold wave solutions make the hair stretchy and flexible. While it is in this relaxed state it is put under tension or pull by wrapping it around curlers. Children's hair is finer and less "springy" than grownups and at best, difficult to curl. Products intended for children should be used because they have been developed with these special problems in mind.

Material in MEDICAL MIRROR is based on various scientific publications and does not necessarily reflect the opinion of all doctors. The diagnosis and treatment of disease requires the skill and knowledge which only a physician can apply by personally attending the patient.

dropped a pass to a new front-line teammate, Tom Parnell, in front of the Tigers' net and the erstwhile defenseman banged it home from the crease.

For the entire second period and well into the third Newton was on the offensive. But the Tigers couldn't come up with the right combination against cool-headed Bob St. George in the Cantabs' goal.

With one minute and 25 seconds left in the game, Mr. Doolley came up with the insurance for the Cambridge boys. He blocked a clearing pass and with a lot of nice wrist action sent the rubber home.

Actually the Tigers outshot the Cantabs 12-10.

They really missed Ron O'Loughlin, out for the season with a head injury.

However, they have a chance to square things up in the all important playoff round Friday night.

Who's Moving-

er when counted altogether are our new taxpayers from Boston itself, with a grand total of 77, broken down as follows:

Allston, 5; Brighton, 24; West Rixbury, 12; Jamaica Plain, 2; Roslindale, 1; Hyde Park, 1; Roxbury, 6; Boston, 12; Mattapan, 6; and Dorchester, 8.

A sizable segment settles in Newton from out-of-state. Seventy-six recent residents arrived from 24 different states, with New York and Pennsylvania sending the biggest contingents.

Such distant states as California, Texas, Minnesota, Utah and Florida were "home" for many of our new neighbors, and nine lived in foreign countries (South America, England, Puerto Rico) before settling here. Newton drew 50 families away from other "bedroom" suburbs such as Weylesley, Watertown, Belmont, Needham, Melrose, Lexington, etc.

The fewest families (27 in all) came from other Massachusetts cities and towns not in the Greater Boston area such as Worcester, Sudbury, Pittsfield, Framingham, Quincy, Whitman, Attleboro, etc.

Mostly White Collar

Career-wise salesmen and engineers tied with 35 apiece for the title of "most prevalent vocation".

As in the past, Newton is attracting a great many doctors, with 23 out of the 300 serving medicine as internists, psychiatrists, gynecologists, administrators, researchers, and G.P.'s.

Although many of the job descriptions given seem to defy classification, it appears that the next largest category own their own business. Some manufacture products ranging from shoes, and sportswear to paper and furniture.

Others are self-employed in a service business such as a laundry, oil concern, tailor, or barbership, while another sizable group operate retail establishments such as drugstores, markets, liquor stores, and restaurants.

No Mozarts Here

Professional men, including the aforementioned doctors, make up a healthy percentage of the incoming residents. We counted three dentists, seven chemists, ten lawyers, three ministers, sixteen teachers or professors, plus a few adult graduate students.

No newcomer appears to earn his daily bread in the field of fine arts, but business and finance claim a great many. Six are accountants or comptrollers, seven are managers, eight are in insurance, two in real estate, three in publishing, two are wool brokers, two are investment brokers, and two are bankers.

What—No Indian Chief?

No other single vocation or trade seems to occupy a great number, but the diversity of employment from here on is bewildering. There are two contractors, two plumbers, two hairdressers, two Air Force officers, two Navy officers, two policemen, three retired men and six widows.

We can also count among our new neighbors one baker, one public relations man, two advertising men, one social worker, one electrician, two machinists, two truck drivers, a painter, a housekeeper, and a professional fund-raiser.

All of this proves only that there are scores of ways to pay for split level homes and ranch wagons — calling for brains, for brawn, or for a shrewd combination of both, and Newtonites seem to be overlooking none of them.

Three Cars Rare

Newcomers are arriving in town complete with cars and kids — about the same number of both, but distributed somewhat differently. While there are only a few families without a car, there are 44 without a child.

On the other hand, there is one newcomer with eight children, but no newcomer with anywhere near eight cars. Only one family in the 300 had three automobiles.

Neither is Newton a two-car community quite yet, no matter what wives tell their husbands. The actual facts are that a mere 11% (35 families) have two vehicles — usually one old and one new model.

In the kiddie-count, the most popular number of children is one. Ninety-two couples have a single child, 86 families have two, 44 families have no small fry, and 36 have three, and eleven have four little ones.

Large families are really rare. Only two families have five youngsters, one couple are parents of a half dozen girls, and one single family is raising their own double quartette.

The survey also turned up two pairs of twins, twelve pairs of newlyweds, and nine couples with adult or married children.

Emerging from this welter of facts and figures is a basic pattern that reveals the typical newcomer to be a youngish sales-engineer, possessor of one child and one car, seeking the good schools, municipal services, suburbia-at-its-best atmosphere (with a favorable tax rate) — all reputed to be found in Newton.

The survey also turned up two pairs of twins, twelve pairs of newlyweds, and nine couples with adult or married children.

Emerging from this welter of facts and figures is a basic pattern that reveals the typical newcomer to be a youngish sales-engineer, possessor of one child and one car, seeking the good schools, municipal services, suburbia-at-its-best atmosphere (with a favorable tax rate) — all reputed to be found in Newton.

munity in which to live, work and play.

"The purpose of fire inspection is to secure the correction of common fire hazards such as rubbish, dirty chimneys, unsafe heating appliances, open flames and other violations of fire ordinances which daily create dangerous conditions.

"To provide the members of the fire department with a working knowledge of the condition bearing on the fighting of fires in this territory.

"To impress upon the owners and occupants of buildings that, inasmuch as the fire department is being maintained by them at considerable expense, for prevention and control of fires, it is to their advantage that the advice of the fire department be sought by them in connection with problems of fire prevention or fire protection and that the fire department be called immediately by them in case of fire. By such educational activities, these inspections can greatly assist the fire department in its effort to prevent and control fires.

"Bearing in mind that 75 per cent of all fires are preventable, we find that we can save lives and property with fire prevention activities spear-headed in the direction of the dwellings."

Herter Defends-

ning his stewardship with a 'staggering deficit' left him by the outgoing administration." "Consider these facts, and then decide for yourselves whether Mr. Furcolo's allegation was true or false.

"At the close of the last fiscal year—the year which started in the administration of Mr. Furcolo's predecessor and ended last June 30 — there was a $13,000,000 surplus in the general fund and an $8,000,000 surplus in the highway fund.

"That is far from the staggering deficit which Governor Furcolo claimed he inherited," Herter told his Westwood listeners.

"An examination of the budget which Governor Furcolo submitted to the legislature last week reveals that by next June 30 he will have entirely wiped out the $13,000,000 surplus in the general fund and will have used $4,300,000 of the $8,000,000 surplus in the highway fund.

"I ask you to decide who created the 'financial mess' on Beacon Hill," Councillor Herter urged his Westwood audience.

Councillor Herter charged that Governor Furcolo not only gave a completely misleading report on the financial condition of the Commonwealth when he assumed office but also was guilty of outright deception in his budget message to the Legislature last week.

"At the close of the legislature session last year," Herter said, "Governor Furcolo vetoed a bill which would have permitted the Massachusetts Port Authority to get into operation. I do not believe anyone will dispute the statement that Mr. Furcolo and Mr. Furcolo alone is responsible for the fact that the Port Authority is not in operation today.

"Yet, in his budget message he credits the State with $9,500,000 in income which he says it will get this year from the Port Authority. And he had the effrontery to do that after he prevented the Port Authority from getting into business and performing the functions for which it was created.

"This is typical of the deception and the double-talk which have marked Governor Furcolo's administration from the first day he assumed office," Councillor Herter charged.

80 Million Too Many

The Newton Council of Churches informs us that 65 million Americans do not belong to any religious group; that 80 million do not attend religious service regularly.

Those statistics are worthy of sober contemplation. No small part of the progress this country has made as a nation in the comparatively brief period of time since George Washington declared, "Of all the dispositions and habits which lead to political prosperity, religion and morality are indispensable supports."

After the Russian empire, as we know it today, finally crashes, historians of some future date will write that its Godlessness, its denial of God, its persecution of those who worshipped God, was the prime cause of its downfall.

That collapse may not come in our time or our children's time. But it will come as surely as night follows day.

We pride ourselves in being a religious God-fearing nation. Aren't we taking too much for granted in view of the figures cited by the Council of Churches?

The religious census to be taken here Sunday by the Council and the churches which make up its membership is a step in the right direction.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover knew whereof he spoke when he warned, "The parents of America can strike a most effective blow against the forces which contribute to juvenile delinquency if our mothers and fathers take their children to Sunday School and church regularly."

Indeed, at a time when normal fibre and honest-thinking are needed if we are to continue as a great nation, such a census as that undertaken by the Council is well worthwhile.

Political Overtones

the people of Massachusetts to pay 15 months of taxes in a 12-months period.

Until Paul A. Dever came into office the people of Massachusetts used to pay their State income taxes in two installments, one on March 15 and the second on Oct. 15.

Then ex-Governor Dever conceived the idea of solving a budget problem confronting him by collecting 18 months of taxes within one fiscal year. So he obtained the passage of a law providing that the entire tax had to be paid on March 15. Later the date was moved back to April 15 so the people wouldn't have to pay their State and Federal taxes at the same time.

Now Governor Furolo is using an adaptation of Dever's idea. By having the payment of the 1958 and 1959 State income taxes overlap he would bring in an extra three months of taxes during the fiscal year which runs from July 1, 1958, to June 30, 1959, and in so doing help to ease the budget headache confronting him.

It's a nice, easy, pleasant plan—for everyone except the people who will be called upon to pay their 1959 tax while they are trying to get the money together to pay their 1958 taxes.

No one can predict with any certainty how much additional revenue a withholding tax would bring into the State treasury, apart from the "windfall" resulting from double taxation.

The best educated guesses place the figure somewhere between $2,000,000 and $3,000,000.

Whatever the amount proves to be, it will come from tax-dodgers and evaders—from people who are neither filing any return nor paying any State income taxes.

It would not seem that Massachusetts has too many residents still in that category.

There undoubtedly are some—persons who have moved recently to this State from other sections of the country and are not paying any taxes and persons whose income has recently increased, placing them in the brackets where they should pay an income tax to the Commonwealth.

If there is any substantial number of people who have lived in Massachusetts for an appreciable period of time and have successfully dodged and avoided the payment of State income taxes, it not only would be surprising but also a reflection upon the efficiency of our State tax system.

The ranks of the tax-dodgers in Massachusetts have dwindled during the past five years. Many thousands of them have been welcomed into the fold of law-abiding, tax-paying citizens.

During one year of ex-Governor Herter's administration some 126,000 tax-evaders were smoked out and frightened into making returns and paying taxes.

A determined effort was made last year by State Tax Commissioner Joseph P. Healy to dig out the tax-dodgers, and those still abstaining from the payment of their rightful State income taxes are presumably no longer very numerous.

So even the $2,000,000 or $3,000,000 estimate may prove in time to be too high. And it also will be necessary to deduct from any additional revenue, which is realized, the extra expense which will be imposed upon the Commonwealth in processing a withholding tax and making refunds with interest to those persons who have too much money deducted from their pay envelopes.

It certainly is highly desirable to round up any tax-dodgers still holding out in Massachusetts. Whether the enactment of a withholding tax is the way to do it is something the Legislature will decide.

But some legislators are reluctant to penalize the honest people who are paying their taxes in order to weed out the tax-evaders who aren't paying. The overlapping of the 1958 and 1959 taxes would impose a hardship on many honest taxpayers.

Our Readers Say

Against Leash Law

Editor, Newton Graphic
One small dissenting voice, if you please, on the dog-leashing issue.

There was never a time in my own childhood that my friends and I did not have dogs around our houses, yards, and fields in the midst of our games. The tremendous sense of happiness of a child running free with his dog can't be imagined by an adult if he did not himself experience it as a child. Occasionally in those days some well-meaning adult would demand a leash law "for all those vicious dogs roaming about." We could never imagine such an appalling miscarriage of justice actually being perpetrated — we knew better than any adult possibly could how excessive an imposition it would have been. Any suggestion of leashing my dog would depress me as though I myself were about to lose my freedom.

So far as being attacked is concerned, we were never bitten without provocation, except by a vicious dog. (A truly vicious dog is not often met with, and when it is it should not be leashed but should be destroyed.) Children are notoriously indifferent to the sufferings of others, and willingly inflict pain on animals unless taught respect for them by their parents. Many a spoiled little monster has been taught very painfully a new code of conduct as a consequence of cruelty to a dog. Certain breeds of dog have developed a well-nigh aristocratic sense of the integrity of their own and others' privacy. They will not intrude on others and will resent intrusions upon themselves. Other types have a seemingly inexhaustible well of patience and maintain their stoical calm in the midst of the most exasperating juvenile horseplay.

It has been years since I have heard mentioned in public or private the cardinal virtue of my own childhood — discipline. It may be a debatable question whether in many cases the leash should be on the child and not the dog. The sight of children running free through the

Editor, Newton Graphic:
As president of the Newton Council of Churches, I wish to express to you on behalf of the officers, pastors and congregations of the member churches very sincere appreciation for the helpful and effective cooperation you have given us in the spacious and accurate publicity in your paper covering the all-Newton Religious Census and teaching Mission which will be conducted this coming year.

The taking of a religious census in all the Newtons required a tremendous amount of preparation and detail work which would not have been possible except for the wonderful spirit of unity of purpose by all the participating twenty-two Protestant churches, the four Synagogues, together with the very fine expression of cooperation by the Roman Catholic churches. It is perhaps the first time that the three major faiths in Newton have thus cooperated together in the most far-reaching and harmonious community of interest in the spiritual welfare and growth of our good city.

In face of all the disheartening news items that take so much newspaper day in and day out, I, for one, would think that this event of the census should be front-page news pleasing to every thinking reader and particularly to every citizen of Newton.

It is good news; it is God's news; and we are grateful that you have given it such significant coverage.

Very truly yours,
Ernst O. Seyfarth

fields with their dogs scampering about them is one I would hate to see disappear.

The leash or the gas-chamber for the vicious or antisocial dog — yes. But let's not penalize the entire canine (and juvenile) community because Rover may have trampled Mrs. Frothingham's petunia beds.

Andover Newton Dinner Meeting Hears Widow of Senate Chaplain

Mrs. Peter Marshall of Washington, author and widow of a U. S. Senate chaplain, was a speaker before trustees and friends of Andover Newton Theological School this week.

The occasion was a dinner meeting, marking the school's 150th anniversary development program at the Harvard Club of Boston.

Serving as general co-chairmen were trustees Roy F. Williams, executive vice president of the Associated Industries of Massachusetts, and Gilbert H. Hood, Jr., treasurer of H. P. Hood and Sons.

The program was sponsored by trustees and friends of the school including Paul T. Babson of United Business Services; Erskine N. White, President of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company; Dr. Claude M. Fuess, former headmaster of Phillips Andover Academy; Attorney Howard W. Cole of Beverly, chairman of the Newton Board of Trustees; Rev. Dr. Frederick M. Meek, of the Old South Church, Boston, Chairman of the Andover Board of Trustees; and Mr. Albert O. Wilson, Jr., of the A. O. Wilson Structural Company, Chairman of the School's New Building Committee.

In connection with the School's 150th Anniversary a campaign for $1,500,000 has been launched with an immediate goal of $600,000 during 1958, of which the committee already has received pledges of $132,000. Additional progress was reported at this meeting.

Other speakers included the Rev. Dr. Roy Pearson, School Dean; Victor A. Lutnicki of Lincoln; Vice President of the John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company; and the Rev. Dr. Herbert Gezzork. A highlight was the presentation of the new color sound motion picture about Andover Newton entitled "Summoned to Serve," featuring the Rev. Robert Lawrence, now serving as chaplain at a Federal prison in San Francisco. He was an FBI agent when he decided in Peter Marshall's New York Avenue Presbyterian Church, Washington, to enter the ministry. He enrolled at the Andover Newton Theological School and was graduated last June.

The dinner was attended by prominent businessmen and lay leaders from all parts of New England.

The new pastor is a native of Watertown. In addition to serving at Our Lady's, he also was attached to St. Charles Church, Waltham, the Immaculate Conception Church, Newburyport, Our Lady of Lourdes, Brockton, St. Ann's, Readville, and St. Ann's, Wollaston.

Flood Control-

The MDC already has advertised for bids for the flood gates it will purchase for installation at the dam of the New England Spun Silk Company in Newton Upper Falls and at Mother Brook in Dedham.

The present dam in Newton Upper Falls is to be enlarged and new gates installed, and a dam is to be constructed at Mother Brook.

Work on those two projects, which should control the Charles River and prevent it from overrunning its banks in the future, should be underway by the late spring or early summer, according to the estimates of MDC authorities.

While the Charles rose several feet above flood level, it did not reach the swollen proportions this week that it attained in the 1956 hurricane. Then, as now, however, it was necessary to anchor Kendrick Bridge against the waters of the usually placid river.

Rain and melting snow rather than the Charles were responsible for the flooding of cellars. For the most part the flooding occurred in low-lying areas where the running water could not be absorbed into the ground because of the frost and instead poured into basements.

Many garages, which are below the ground level, were flooded during the five-day rainfall.

Hourly checks on the Charles River were maintained by police on orders of Chief Philip Purcell, and city officials worked closely together to meet the conditions created by the strange winter weather.

The street department not only used all its own equipment to remove the water from flooded cellars but also utilized pumps placed at its disposal by the fire department.

Public Works Director Willard S. Pratt reported that the city's drainage system functioned efficiently during the heavy rains and that there was no trouble from this source.

Plans Formulated For Evangelistic Campaign

Laymen and Ministers of several churches in this area met at Raiders Restaurant in Waltham Friday night, January 24, when plans were discussed for an area-wide Protestant preaching mission scheduled to be held at Dedham, May 4 through May 18. Charles Campbell of the New England Fellowship of Evangelists was present and assisted in the organization of committees which immediately began preparations for this cooperative evangelistic effort.

Doctor Torrey Johnson, a long time personal friend and associate of Billy Graham will serve as the evangelist. Dr. Johnson was a founder of Youth for Christ International. He is a graduate of Wheaton College, Wheaton, Ill., and of Northern Baptist Seminary in Chicago. He is presently engaged in a similar campaign in Great Britain. Dr. Johnson recently appeared on Ralph Edwards' "This is your life" television program when the life of America's foremost evangelist,

Headlights and Highlights From Newton High School

HIGHLIGHTS... In addition to the mid-year tests given to all pupils at Newton High, many other activities are characterizing the mid-winter season. The American Field Service Committee, consisting of a group of teachers and Dick Cohen, Pat Gordon, Alan Paulson, and Felix Schlaepfer, is in the process of selecting a student to journey to Europe this summer. Many students are being interviewed each S-Block in an effort to narrow the number of applicants down to the last three or four. The student who is finally selected will live with a family in Europe for two months this summer.

Seta Der Hohanessian and Bog Kanter were the senior standouts in yesterday's edition of the Newtonite.

At the end of last year and the beginning of this year many girls applied to work in various offices during their blocks. The students chosen ones with a good school record who could give up a study period without hurting their grades. Helping out as Guidance Receptionists in Building Three are Judy Schenk, Chickie Driscoll, Sandy Sulkowitch, Sheila Etcoff, Ellen Nitsens, Paula Gorenstein, Pamela Hoyt, Catherine Spear, Patty Gordon, Catherine Harper, Maureen Driscoll, Leona Vanni, Eileen Gulden, Dorothy Feldman, Kay Dunning, Margaret Zottu, Beverly Henrich, Phyllis Averbuck, Carolyn Gagin, Sue Calahan, Helga Muelder, Janice Munroe, Marian Young, Elaine Remley, Lois Raverby, Peg Podgorn, Joan Lewis, Claire Tevelkian, and Judy Dean.

As the date of the Washington Exchange approaches, the two exchange groups are very busy. A military whist was held last night at the Meadowbrook Junior High School. In these modern surroundings, the parents had an opportunity to get acquainted, just as their sons and daughters do at the weekly exchange meetings. An instructor was present who demonstrated the correct way of playing the game. Prizes were donated by the parents. Tickets for the evening cost one dollar apiece.

Definite plans are being made for the Washington trip. The thirty students and the teachers will leave for Washington by plane on Thursday, Feb. 20, and return on Wednesday, February 26, by plane also. The trip will take two hours and the students are looking forward to it with great anticipation. Although many have been to Washington before, the prospect of seeing how students in another community live and go to school is going to be an unforgettable experience for everyone, according to the students themselves and the faculty advisors. Aside from attending classes at Wilson High, the sightseeing will keep the group busy. The places of interest the boys and girls will see range from the Institute of Pathology and the Botanical Museum to the White House and Capitol.

The transportation was decided on by Jeremy Alperin, Alan Berger, and Bettina Frederick. Planning the entertainment for the out-of-school program when the Washingtonites visit Newton from April 10-April 16 are Beverly Henrich, Carol McFarland, Lee Milner, Helen Van Keuren and Ernie Glickman. The in-school program is being prepared by Dan Morrison, Bob Kanter, Marjorie Munroe, Marlene Richter, and Mike Greenwald. Elaine DeMeo, Dick Gordon, Jim Campbell, Sylvia Keller, Beverly Baer, and Betty Stanfield are in charge of personnel and hospitality. Kenny Novack and Cynthia Shrier are responsible for publicizing the events of the exchange. Working on the booklets to which all the students are contributing are Marty Glandstone, Jane Gilbern, Mary Ann Lawson, Cole Letteney, Charles Rosenbaum, and Mark Zimmerman. The recording secretary, photographer, and scrap book manager are Lis Brown, Harold Metcalf, and Elna Anderson, respectively.

JOTS AND DASHES... The final Newtonian Drive, under the leadership of Dave Trilling, circulation editor, has ended. There will be no other opportunity for students to purchase a copy of the 1958 yearbook. The pictures of the various school organizations are rapidly being taken. Many a photographer's hair has turned grey after a week of taking pictures of groups of up to 100 jabbering high school students.

THE OUT-DOOR TYPE... The Ski Club applied to the Legislature for a charter last week and was refused because the group does not have a faculty advisor at present. However, the large group of pupils who are active in this club are attempting to find either a teacher to sponsor them or some other person.

branch line from the Boston & Albany railroad to the MTA.

It is understood that the present plan is to discontinue service entirely on the line for about 15 months while necessary repairs are made to the tracks.

Whitmore will oppose that idea and will ask that service be maintained on at least one track while the other track is being repaired. He expressed the belief today that such an arrangement would be feasible and practical.

The Mayor also voiced the opinion that the MTA will risk the possible loss of a large number of patrons if the people become accustomed over a period of more than a year to using other means of transportation, including car pools.

Mayor Whitmore told The Graphic that he will attend the ICC hearing himself if it is held in Boston but said he probably would be represented by City Solicitor Matt B. Jones, Jr., if the hearing is in Washington. The hearing will be held Feb. 17.

Brookline officials have asked that the proceedings be conducted in Boston.

Residents in the entire south side of the city, including Waban, Newton Highlands, Newton Centre and Chestnut Hill, would be affected by any interruption of service.
